MUST DROP MANY PLANS.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Too much prosperity is what the country is suffering from at the present time. This is not a joke, but a serious fact, which railroad men of the country have begun to appreciate only too well.

Reports received by the interstate commerce commission and the treasury department, combined with the daily downward trend of the stock market, show only too clearly that the railroad lines of the country have run against a stone wall, through which they seem to be unable to force their way. The farmers and factories have piled up their products at the sources of supply, and the railroads are unable to carry freight to consumers.

This condition is not peculiar to any particular section, but it is general throughout the country. Every railroad is suffering not merely from a shortage of cars but from a shortage of everything necessary to move freight.

Billions Wanted; Can't Get Them.

For this reason it happens not only that the railroads of this country must spend billions in increasing their equipment, but they are all trying to borrow money at the same time. There isn't money enough in sight to supply these demands, the interest rate has run up, the price of stocks has fallen in view of proposed increased capitalization, and the car shortage, which is a short term for railroad shortage, continues.

At first railroad men were astonished to find that in a period of extraordinary prosperity they were unable to find money with which to increase their facilities for moving crops and products of factories. Several big deals not only by Harriman but by a dozen other railroad financiers were set on foot at practically the same time. Money centers abroad as well as in this country seemed curiously indifferent about investing.

The result was that railroad managers jumped to the conclusion that the anti-trust agitation in the United States was responsible for the unwillingness of the kings of finance to hand out their hundreds of millions for investments in railroad improvements in the United States. It is now becoming evident, on the contrary, that the difficulty in securing the capital arises from the fact that all the railroads of the United States want to borrow money at the same time and they want to borrow it in such large quantities that they have precipitated an increase in the interest rate and a large amount of proposed new building will have to be abandoned at least for the time being.

Big Loans Declared Justified.

It is freely said at the offices of the interstate commerce commission—and the belief is reiterated about the White house and the bureau of corporations at the department of commerce and labor—that the railroads are fully justified in attempting to borrow more money to increase their physical equipment on a large scale. Many of the railroads, like other corporations, have been heavily overcapitalized, but that was done in bygone days, and the overcapitalization has been absorbed by the country.

The condition now is a practical railroad problem, which evidently can be solved only by the expenditure of enormous sums of money, and that money first of all must get into the railroad treasury as cash received for stocks or bonds.

There is not a large line in the country today which is prepared to carry the business which is being thrust upon it. The physical limit of trackage has been reached, practically speaking, at least over territory east of the Missouri, and to the west of that river to nearly as great an extent.

With every engine in use, with a sensational demand for freight cars, and with trains which clog tracks, block switches, and are congested about freight yards, it is evident that the railroads themselves are at the present time the worst victims of the overprosperity of the country.

Stock Market Slump Natural.

According to reports received at the treasury department the slump in the stock market during the last three or four weeks is a natural one. If all the railroads of the country are contemplating an increase in their capital stock, with new issues of bonds in the form of mortgages on physical property, it is evident that the old stock issues depreciate naturally.

Taking the whole course of the market for railroad stocks on an average, there has been a decline of about 10 per cent. At the same time the rush of the railroads for money in large amounts to be expended in permanent betterments undoubtedly has been the principal reason for the increase in money rates.

Several roads have been forced to issue short time certificates of indebtedness to secure money for their most pressing improvements. These certificates must be taken up with permanent securities in the near future, and some of the railroad companies are likely to be caught between the two millstones of a tight money market and a rasping public demand for more facilities to relieve the congestion of freight in the interior.

Railroads to Curtail Improvements.

With stocks dropping to a point where they have become a good investment purchase in many cases, and with money in large quantities here and abroad significantly hard to get at, many of the railroad managers have prepared themselves to abandon proposed building operations, at least for the present.

They do this reluctantly, it is said, because they are only too well aware that if they could increase their facilities by building new tracks and adding to their terminals and freight yards they could secure an enormous slice of new business which will now be withheld from them. With the enormous crops and industrial productions of the United States there is not a railroad in the country which would not find it a profitable investment to put millions upon millions into permanent improvement.

Transportation Pressure Growing.

The pressure for transportation is increasing every day and yet the railroad companies unfortunately have been obliged to scramble against each other for money. The result has

PANIC AT A FIRE STARTED BY BABY

TENANTS FLEE IN ALARM.

Burning of the Union Traction North Clark Street Barns Will Hurry New Cars to Chicago.

Fire which threatened the destruction of the Lanphere apartment building, Sixty-sixth street and Monroe avenue, and drove 400 panic stricken tenants into the snow covered streets, was caused yesterday accidentally by the little daughter of Mrs. Peter Cayhil, who lives in the building.

The fire, occurring in midafternoon, caught no one wholly unprepared, as it would have done at night. Several women fainted or were overcome by smoke and three persons were injured.

The Rescued and Injured.

BASSETT, MRS. ELIZABETH, 60 years old; carried down ladder by fireman.
CAYHIL, MRS. PETER, in whose flat the fire started; overcome by smoke and burned on the arm.
CAYHIL, BERNICE, 4 years old; burned on face and head; will recover.
FAGAN, G. W., cut on arm by flying glass from broken skylight.
GALLAGHER, MRS. MARY; unconscious; rescued by police.

Mrs. Cayhil was preparing dinner for her husband, a mechanic employed at Whiting. Leaving a pot of soup boiling on the stove she stepped down to the street to make some purchases of a grocer.

The little girl, left alone in the flat, started on a tour of investigation, and overturned the soup pot. The grease spilled on the floor caught fire and when the mother returned the kitchen was ablaze.

Mother Swoons in Alarm.

With a cry of terror Mrs. Cayhil rushed in to find her child, but the little one had fled to an inside room and the frantic mother could not find it. She dropped exhausted just as Janitor James Chapham entered the flat. He carried her out.

At the first floor, where the mother was revived, she told of her baby alone in the burning flat, and Ed Weis, the janitor's assistant, climbed the firescape and found the little girl in a front room trying to hide under some bedcovers from the flames. He carried her down to the mother and hurried back to call out other tenants.

By this time the entire southwest wing was in flames and the smoke had penetrated to other portions. Capt. McCann and Lieut. James Mooney, who headed the contingent

OHIO PLACE FOR A NEGRO.

PUTS FORAKER IN A HOLE.

Republicans Claim President's Act Will Give State to Democrats.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt has thrown a bombshell into Ohio politics by threatening to appoint a negro as collector of customs at Cincinnati.

Friends of Senator Foraker claim he is actuated by a desire to revenge himself upon the Ohio statesman for his criticism of the administration in connection with the Brownsville incident. The president, however, has authorized the statement that the attitude of Senator Foraker has had no connection whatever with his decision; that he believes the negroes of the great middle west should be represented in the federal government; that no vacancy exists either in Illinois or Indiana to which a representative of this race might be appointed, and that one is due in the collectorship of customs at Cincinnati.

Foraker Not Consulted.

The president has not consulted Senator Foraker as to the personality of the man who should be named for the collectorship. Indeed, the Ohioan rarely has been consulted recently in matters of appointment in his native state. The president has discussed the matter with Booker T. Washington, who, Ohioans say, has no connection whatever with their state and knows nothing about conditions there.

But Booker T. Washington is well acquainted with many negroes, and upon the president's invitation he suggested a number of names. One of them is that of Ralph Tyler, private secretary to Robert F. Wolfe, owner of the Columbus Dispatch and the Ohio State Journal.

Columbus is outside of the customs district of which Cincinnati is the port, and this in itself has caused a tremendous ruction in the latter city. Unquestionably the president has no desire to offend Cincinnatians, and if they object, Tyler will not be named. Another negro, a native of that city, will, in this case, get the place. It is understood the president is having an investigation made of the qualifications of a number of Ohio negroes, some of whom live in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati All Torn Up.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The report from Washington that President Roosevelt is considering the qualifications of various colored men for the appointment to the federal office of collector of customs at this port caused consternation today among the politicians of the republican party and stirred the colored political leaders into intense activity.

Politicians will not permit themselves to be quoted, but privately they do not hesitate to say that such an appointment by the president would disrupt the local party organization, and, they believe, turn the state over to the democrats. They claim the colored vote is not strong enough and that the race is not of importance financially and socially to receive so much consideration.

The petitions for a referendum on the traction ordinances, which Mayor Dunne intends to use in an attempt to defeat the measures so that he will have a campaign issue, were filed at 10:33 o'clock last night in the office of the election commissioners on the fourth floor of the city hall.

Mayor Dunne said the extent to which the petitions were "signed" indicated that the ordinances "would be beaten by the people in April." That will be his war cry from now until he is nominated.

On its face the authorized "city council" petition bore a total of 184,886 signatures. Of this number 112,000, according to the statement given out by Raymond Robins, to whom was assigned the important task of "verifying" the petitions, had been proved genuine signatures. These had been brought in by policemen, firemen, schoolteachers, and other city employés. There were 10,832 signatures from the same source which Mr. Robins was unable to "verify" as genuine.

There were 62,054 other "signers" to the "single question" proposition that had come in too late for verification. These had been collected by the Independence league.

PLAY TRUST MEN INDICTED.

Six Accused of Conspiracy to Control Theatrical Business.

BIG TIM GOES ON BONDS.

New York, Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Six members of the theatrical trust—Marc Klaw, Abraham L. Erlanger, Charles Frohman, Al Hayman, Samuel Nixon, and J. F. Zimmerman—were today indicted by the grand jury for conspiracy. It is charged they conspired to get control of the theatrical business of the country through the ownership of theaters and the production of theatrical attractions.

Frohman and Hayman are in Europe. Nixon and Zimmerman make their headquarters in Philadelphia. Erlanger and Klaw were released in $1,000 bail each. Bench warrants were issued for the others, but it is not believed any strenuous effort will be made to serve them, as the defendants undoubtedly will appear as soon as they hear of the grand jury's action. The grand jury, which has been investigating the business methods of the syndicate for several days, filed indictments with Judge Foster in General Sessions this afternoon.

Big Tim Sullivan on Bond.

Klaw and Erlanger had been notified by their counsel that they had been indicted, and they went to the Criminal Court building with "Big" Tim Sullivan, who described himself as a real estate dealer, but who also was actively engaged in the theatrical business. The bail bond was made out, "Big Tim" being surety in each case. He gave the Dewey theater, in Fourteenth street, and said it was worth $300,000. Judge Foster signed the bail bond. Attorney Lauterbach asked that pleading be put over until Feb. 11, which was done. Then "Big Tim" went away.

Two contracts made in 1896 and 1900 are the basis of the indictments. Under the indictment six members of the trust are charged with criminal conspiracy in that they pooled all their theaters and agreed they would not allow any theatrical production in their theaters unless the person who owned the attraction would consent to play only in theaters controlled by the syndicate.

It further is understood, according to the indictment, that members of the syndicate would not allow any theatrical production in their control to be played in any theater not in the syndicate. They would not consent to any outside attraction being played in theaters of any member of the syndicate unless, it is charged, the owner of the attraction would enter into an agreement to play the attraction exclusively in syndicate houses. In addition, it is charged, the syndicate would not send its attractions to other theaters unless the theater consented to the trust having the exclusive booking privilege of the house.

Players Coerced by Trust.

It is set forth in the indictment that actors, playwrights, owners of plays, and theaters were coerced by the syndicate. Several instances are pointed out in the indictment. In 1905 the syndicate refused to allow Sarah Bernhardt to play, being barred from syndicate houses because she was under contract with the Shuberts. The Shuberts also were shut out, none of their attractions being booked for houses where the trust had control. Belasco also is mentioned as a sufferer under this arrangement. May Irwin is named as another person who had trouble. It seems Miss Irwin wanted to play at Providence, R. I., in "Mrs. Black is Back," but she didn't want to appear in certain other cities. Before she got through, however, the indictment says, she had to sign a contract to play only at trust houses.

Because of the number of theaters the syndicate controlled, the indictment says, it was able to crush any owner of a play or theater.

Some of the witnesses before the grand jury were David Belasco, Lee Shubert, H. R. Jacobs, William F. Connor, and A. C. Campbell, who is a brother of May Irwin.

Trust Not Surprised.

"We are not surprised at this indictment, as it has been street and table talk for over a year. The malice and motives which inspired it are tales for another telling and will be the subject of wonderment to the uninitiated.

"If any one doubts the demoralization of the present district attorney's office he need only notice the freedom with which grand jury proceedings are published daily. Certainly the witnesses and grand jurors themselves would not talk about what happened in the grand jury room.

"Every business institution which develops to large proportions is in danger of being denominated a 'trust,' and an indictment for being a member of a trust seems to be the badge of success pinned on successful business men by their unsuccessful competitors.

"It will not be long in this fair land before every successful business man will be indicted for being a member of a trust. The stigma which used to go with an indictment has been entirely eliminated by proceedings such as these."

COAL REPORT OF HUGHES AND SIMPSON MADE TO BONAPARTE.

Result of Investigation Into Traffic of Railroads and Advice Concerning Suits Comprises 500 Pages.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—In two books, comprising about 500 pages, Alexander Simpson Jr. of Philadelphia and Charles E. Hughes, governor of New York, have compiled new facts concerning the transportation and sale of coal by the great railroad systems and have attached thereto a report on the advisability of instituting civil suits or criminal prosecutions against these railroads and their officers.

All of this evidence was collected by Simpson and Hughes or others under their direction and carefully compiled, annotated, and indexed for the use of Attorney General Bonaparte. The report is in the hands of the attorney general. But for his indisposition it would have been made public early this week.

Both anthracite and bituminous producers were included in the investigation. Simpson and Hughes also went over all the evidence presented before the interstate commerce commission and have expressed their opinions on the advisability of suits or prosecutions on that evidence. They have refused to give any intimation of their recommendations.

Because of his election Gov. Hughes will take no further part in the matter. If Attorney General Bonaparte decides to institute prosecutions it is probable some New York lawyer will be named instead of the governor.

FORCES UNITE TO STAMP OUT FEVER

WHALEN IS EXONERATED.

COMPARATIVE TABLE OF EPIDEMIC FIGURES

Scarlet fever	458	2,958	231
Diphtheria	475	985	35
Measles and others	290	1,354	97
Totals	1,223	5,297	363

The health committee of the city council took the scarlet fever and diphtheria epidemic in hand yesterday afternoon, and the first definite move it made was to authorize the employment of 250 additional medical inspectors for ninety days, or during the present wave of sickness. They, with the inspectors already employed, will be able to guard all the public schools constantly.

The second step was to appoint a committee to draft a report asking the council to make an appropriation at once for a contagious disease hospital. Fifty thousand dollars is wanted at once for this purpose.

The committee also exonerated the city health department from charges of inefficiency and neglect of duty. In its inquiry and decisions it was assisted by a commission of three physicians—Dr. A. C. Cotton, Dr. W. T. Belfield, and Dr. C. L. Mix.

Dr. J. A. Egan, secretary of the state board of health, arrived in the city during the day and conferred with Health Commissioner Whalen. He is investigating conditions over northern Illinois. He considers the conditions grave, and will continue his inquiry today.

The Oak Park board of health, at a meeting in the evening, decided to close the village schools until the epidemic is stamped out.

See Ultimate Good for City.

The aldermen, the health officials, and the doctors on the commission alike expressed a feeling that as a result of the agitation and the awakening of the public to the necessity of a vast reserve equipment to meet the demands of periods of abnormal sickness the municipal health department will be strengthened, a regular medical inspection of the schools will be instituted, and Chicago will have an isolation hospital amply large to check contagion almost at the outset.

Before the aldermen, the officials of the health department were on the defensive, because of the tone of the resolutions introduced by Ald. Moynihan last Monday evening, and a large part of the time during the afternoon was taken up by an explanation of the measures taken to battle against the germ armies during the last month. While they were endeavoring to prove that no neglect of duty could be shown against them, they could not avoid displaying the inadequacy of the city's care for its people.

Gives Department Clean Bill.

At the close of the session the special medical commission was asked whether it thought the methods employed by the health department in handling the epidemic were open to criticism. Dr. Cotton, spokesman of the commission, said:

"I do not think there is a medical man in Chicago who would even hint that the health department has been lax in its duty. We physicians are proud of our health department and keep close watch on it. The reports we have heard show that the work done by this department has far exceeded the work done in other years. Its system is the right system, and the only criticism that can be made is that it has been handicapped by lack of funds.

"Let the council provide the funds and I am sure the department will be able to handle the epidemic."

The real purpose of the Moynihan resolutions—to secure a decision upon the efficiency or inefficiency of the department—was discussed briefly by the aldermen in a manner that left no doubt that the feeling of the committee was with Commissioner Whalen. The expression of this opinion was left to a subcommittee of three aldermen, Bradley, Conlon, and Nolan, and the three physicians who had been called upon as expert advisers. These six will report in writing to the entire committee Monday afternoon.

Puts Blame on Council.

Dr. Whalen was the first witness examined. He threw a large part of the responsibility for the epidemic back upon the council.

"I wish to state first of all," he said, "that this epidemic was predicted by the department some time before it appeared and that we declared the necessity of stringent measures for its prevention. In our bulletin, which is sent to all aldermen and to every physician in the city, we emphasized it time and again, but no attention was paid to our demands for precautionary action.

"In the bulletin of Oct. 20 Dr. Spalding was quoted as blaming 'the mingling of school children for the steady increase in these diseases (scarlet fever and diphtheria). The mild cases unattended by physicians are frequently permitted to return to school reeking with infection. Until we have medical school inspection this condition will continue and will be responsible for the multiplication of these diseases and of avoidable deaths from the same causes.

"'The proper way to meet the condition is to have medical inspectors visit the schools regularly and examine all pupils returning to school after a few days' absence. This is the practice in other large cities and Chicago must have this service.'

Tells of Repeated Warnings.

"Again on Dec. 1 the bulletin said:

"'To the lack of school medical inspection is attributable the lion's share of the 138 per cent increase of contagious diseases of childhood. Nothing but a school medical co[illegible] can keep children recovering from mild f[illegible] of these deadly diseases from enterin[illegible] schools with infection upon their pers[illegible]

Where Disease Rages.

He called upon Dr. Charles W. Behm, recorder of contagious disease statistics, to give a summary of the stage now reached by the epidemic.

"It is most frequent," said Dr. Behm, "in Rogers Park, Ravenswood, the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh wards, in Humboldt park and Logan square, and even as far down as Division street. Now it is taking hold along Jackson boulevard and extends from there to the southwest division as far as the drainage canal."

"In quarantining these cases," asked Ald. Bradley, "do you do anything more than placard the houses?"

"The families receive a circular," answered Dr. Heman Spalding, who has charge of that work, "telling them in detail how to prevent contagion and how to disinfect. The school is notified and a double card is sent the physician in attendance, one part of which he returns to us when the case is ready for disinfection."

Council Denied Help.

Ald. Conlon interposed a question.

"Is the spread of the epidemic due to a lack of help in your department?"

"We asked for help long before we got it," said Dr. Spalding. "If we had been given the 100 inspectors when we first asked for them we could have shut this thing off before now. We could have kept it out of the schools, and that is the most important issue.

"The greatest fault, however, is that we have no isolation hospital. There is not one case in a hundred that can be isolated properly at home. Only the rich can afford it."

"Right here," interrupted Commissioner Whalen, "I want to say to the representatives of the council that for five years all that was needed for the erection of such a hospital has been your consent. The McCormick Memorial institute has been ready at any moment to go ahead with the building, they had both the site and the endowment, and you blocked every effort they made."

Discuss Site for Hospital.

Several comments were made by the committeemen upon this assertion, and the possibility of an emergency hospital was discussed. The question of a site was a hard one, as the consent of property owners in the neighborhood must be secured for such a project. Possibilities of a site on a vacant lot between Congress, Harrison, Loomis, and Laflin streets, upon the grounds of the county hospital, or the isolation hospital for smallpox, were considered. Dr. Whalen said a "portable" hospital, with a capacity of 200 beds, would cost about $50,000, and in mentioning the expense spoke of the small appropriation made for guarding the city health.

"Our per capita allowance for the health department is the smallest of all the large cities in the country," he asserted. "The per capita appropriation is only 8 cents, while in Pittsburg it is as high as $1.08, in New York it is 35 cents, in St. Louis 42, in Boston 26, and in San Francisco 24."

Alderman Cites a Case.

Ald. Roberts said the committee should recommend the renting of some store or house, which should be converted into a temporary hospital.

"The need of such a hospital was impressed on my mind by a case that came under my notice a short time ago. A domestic, Annie Johnson, who worked for a family in Hyde Park, was taken sick and was forced to leave the house. She went to a doctor's office nearby, and after the doctor had examined her she was locked up in a back room. He pronounced hers a case o fdiphtheria.

"He notified the health department, and was told there was no place where she could be taken care of. The doctor sent for her two sisters, but both were married and had families and could not take her in. Finally one sister took care of the children of both families while the other sister attended the sick girl. I am in favor of recommending that an appropriation be made for an isolation hospital."

Tells of Increased Work.

When the subject of the work of the department was resumed Dr. Drake, its historian, quoted from his statistics to show the increase of its performances over those of past years. First he spoke of the character of the epidemic, saying:

"While the records of the last month show six times as many cases of scarlet fever as were reported last January, I doubt if there are more than 3,500 in the city at present. There are 440,984 children between 2 and 10 years old and more than 400,000 of them are susceptible to scarlet fever. The ratio of those with the fever, then, is 7.5 to every 1,000. There were but 91 deaths reported, and that does not show an excessive mortality rate over that of the last ten years."

His figures upon the inspection of food and its condemnation by the city showed an increase of 75 per cent over that of last year, while the inspection of milk depots and dairies showed fully as large an excess.

Dr. J. F. Biehn, director of the city laboratories, told the committee of the work done under his direction, of his methods, and the results achieved.

Difficulties of Physicians.

The doctor received many reports of suspicious cases from physicians.

"I think that is an important matter," interrupted Dr. Cotton. "Only today I was talking to a physician who was called to attend a child suffering from a slight rash. The physician said the case might be scarlet fever and was almost thrown out of the house. The mother said the rash was caused from indigestion.

"Now, the doctor could not hold his job and call that a case of scarlet fever. It takes a lot of moral courage, especially in a young doctor, to report such a case to the health department under the circumstances. I think that in suspicious cases an expert from the health department should be sent."

Dr. Spalding replied that the health department could not enter into competition with attending physicians and that an outside expert should be obtained if one is needed.

Committee Takes Action.

Dr. Cotton then said the ideal method of handling the disease would be to have an inspector stationed at each school in the city.

The matter was also taken up by Ald. Bradley, who said:

"The health department has appealed to us for funds in the past and we did not heed its request. I think it is up to this committee to help out and I move that 200 additional inspectors be allowed."

The number was increased to 250 on the motion of Ald. Hunt and a subcommittee was appointed to draft a report, which will be submitted to the council on Monday evening.

Whalen, Defiant, Forces Action.

Dr. Whalen caused a return to the original question before the body, that of the alleged neglect of duty in his department.

"Let us get back to the wording of the resolutions," he insisted. "Let us settle this matter now."

"The idea," said Ald. Bradley, "is to get expert testimony upon what you have been doing and then publish a report."

"Well," said the commissioner, defiantly, "I see you have three experts here. Why don't you ask their opinions?"

Chairman Hoffman turned to Dr. Cotton.

"Do you think that there has been any neglect of duty here?" he asked.

"No," answered Dr. Cotton, and then he proceeded to make the statement quoted in the foregoing.

Then some one broached the subject of the examination of dairies made by Building Commissioner Bartzen, but the subject was dismissed by an explanation from the chairman that he had told Mr. Bartzen that his presence was not needed at the meeting.

the hour was late an adjournment until ay afternoon was taken. After it sev- the aldermen conferred with Dr. and his assistants about the erec- n isolation hospital, and that subject ushed at the next session. The plan cCormick Memorial institute will be up so that the matter once more laced before the council.

our Deaths Reported.

waning in the number of new day brought no promise of relief ing. He said that it was one of the usual fluctuation and that no importance could be attached to it.

Four deaths were the result of scarlet fever, as follows:

Considers Situation Grave.

Dr. Egan of the state board of health arrived from Springfield early in the day. In the morning he had a conference with State Pure Food Commissioner A. S. Jones, discussing the probability of the spreading of the disease through the various food supplies. At noon he met Commissioner Whalen, who advised him in detail regarding conditions in Chicago.

Although Dr. Egan declined to discuss the question, it is evident that he does not believe the contagion is being spread to any great extent through the city's milk supply.

Dr. Egan said: "I consider the situation in Chicago and northern Illinois exceedingly grave. The fact that the death rate is small makes the situation all the more difficult to handle because when the number of deaths from an infectious disease is small the people will not obey quarantine rules as readily as they will when the death rate is high and they become alarmed.

"There is much that the medical profession has not learned in regard to scarlet fever. We do not even know positively whether it is a germ disease, but we think it is. It is taken in through the nostrils and throat and persons subject to nasal and throat affections are more likely to catch it than others. Children between 2 and 10 years old are more likely to contract the disease than at any other age. The danger to adults is comparatively small.

Tells of Preventive Measures.

"An excellent precaution is to use an antiseptic gargle several times a day. This may not prevent a person catching the disease, but it will reduce the chances and I recommend that everybody use this gargle until the danger is over. I have two children at home in Springfield and I make both of them use a gargle daily. I am not in favor of closing the Chicago public schools in the present crisis. I think the health officials have better supervision over the children when they are going to school than when they are at home or in the streets.

"Of course, there should be a better medical supervision of school children by the city. There should be sufficient medical inspectors for one to visit every public and private school in the city daily. The city should also have an isolation hospital for scarlet fever and diphtheria cases.

Many Cases Not Reported.

"Dr. Whalen tells me that in January there were 4,000 cases of scarlet fever and 925 cases of diphtheria in the city. This is from an estimated population of 275,000 children between 2 and 10 years of age. We discussed particularly the percentage of cases reported, the number of houses placarded, and the homes disinfected. He said that practically all of the cases being treated by physicians are reported to the health department. But there are a large number of cases which are not treated by physicians and are consequently never reported. I should say that 20 per cent of the cases are of this class. He said that all the homes where cases are reported are placarded and disinfected. I will have no definite recommendations to make until I have completed my investigation."

Police in Wild Goose Chase.

The police were called upon late in the afternoon to locate a quantity of infected bed clothing that had been placed in the yard in the rear of 764 North Mozart avenue for disinfection and was stolen. Detectives were sent out by Lieut. Darrow to trace the blankets and quilts, and when they almost had run them down they were told they had not been exposed to contagion, but had been hung out for an airing.

The Chicago Milk Dealers' association has announced a meeting to be held in Willard hall tomorrow evening. It is said that it will take the form of an attack upon Chief Milk Inspector T. F. Gray and his assistants, who, the small dealers allege, favor the larger concerns.

Because of the epidemic the central station of the police department, for several years at room 8 of the city hall, is now at 181 Washington street, in the old Times building, whence it was moved to the city hall about five years ago. The health department, because of its increased force, had to have more room, and, after a controversy lasting several days, the health officers were given possession.

Oak Park Schools Closed.

At a meeting of the Oak Park board of health and representatives of the high school and public schools, held in the evening at the village hall, it was decided to close all the schools indefinitely or until the epidemic is controlled. The action of the authorities was influenced by the report that six new cases of contagious diseases had been reported during the day.

A massmeeting of the Chicago Milk Dealers' association will be held tomorrow at 8 p. m. in Willard hall. The topic will be the milk supply of Chicago.

Laundryman Gives a Clew.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am one of those unfortunate enough to have scarlet fever in my family. I live at 5531 Monroe avenue and the place is properly placarded with scarlet fever signs. In order to avoid carrying the contagion, I have been living away from home, but my wife has just informed me over the telephone that the laundry man called as usual for our laundry, that when she asked him if he did not see the scarlet fever signs, he replied, certainly, but that made no difference to him, that the laundries took laundry from scarlet fever houses the same as from any other place. It occurs to me that something ought to be done toward stopping this practice, if there actually is any truth in the theory that scarlet fever is a disease which can be carried. I wish to say that he did not get any laundry from my place. I do not know whether your paper cares to be informed of such things or not, but I thought possibly it was my duty to give publicity, as far as possible, to this sort of thing.

GEORGE C. GALE.

FREE LECTURES ON HEALTH.

Chicago Physicians to Tell the Public How to Combat Epidemics of Contagious Diseases.

The first of a series of free public lectures, under the auspices of the north side branch of the Chicago Medical society, will be given in the Academy of Sciences building, North Clark and Center streets, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Robert B. Preble, former president of the Chicago Medical society, will speak on "Pneumonia and the Contagious Diseases." A special feature will be made of the scarlet fever epidemic and the best means of combatting it.

A second lecture of the same series will be delivered on March 2 by Dr. Henry B. Favill, president of the Chicago Tuberculosis institute, on the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis.

On May 4 Dr. Samuel J. Walker, physician to the Children's Memorial hospital, will lecture on the care of infants and children. The public is invited to all of these lectures.

SANITY OF GIRL IN DOUBT.

Emily Emmett, Stenographer, Turned Over to Police by Matron of Home for Self-Supporting Women.

Emily Emmett, 25 years old, a stenographer employed by an attorney in the Ashland block, who has been living at the Home for Self-Supporting Young Women, 275 Indiana street, was placed in the care of the Chicago avenue police last night because the matron of the home believed her slightly demented. She will be examined this morning by the city physician.

The young woman's father, George A. Emmett, who is said to live at 3016 Grand avenue, St. Louis, Mo., was notified.

"Burns Meeting" Tonight.

The eighth annual Burns meeting, under the auspices of the men's club, will be held at the Fourth Presbyterian church this evening. The exercises will consist of Scottish songs, bagpipe selections, and a Burns address by Dr. William Robson Notman.

LACK ONE JUROR IN THAW'S TRIAL

Three Talesmen Excused, 3 Added, Leaving the Number Still Eleven.

MORE MAY BE TAKEN OUT.

Whole Day a Contest of Wits Between Jerome and the Defense.

New York, Jan. 31.—[Special.]—They added three jurors today to the list of talesmen accepted to try Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White, but they subtracted exactly the same number, so that the day closed, as it did on Wednesday, with only eleven jurors in the box.

It was a disappointment all around, for both the district attorney and counsel for the defense were anxious to complete today and get under way with the real trial.

The consequence of the delay is that there is a strong probability that the taking of evidence will not be begun until next Monday. The court does not, as a rule, sit on Saturday, and there is among lawyers and judges a general disinclination to interrupt the course of an important trial by a two day intermission except when it is necessary to do so.

Another change was also made in the program today. It is now planned that Assistant District Attorney Garvan shall make the opening address to the jury. Mr. Garvan has all along been assisting Mr. Jerome in the examination of the talesmen. His talk will not be long, and when it is finished the prosecution will at once begin the presentation of its evidence.

Jerome the Better General.

When the day's doings were over this afternoon no less than 296 talesmen had been examined and a fourth panel had been summoned to appear in court tomorrow morning. This will make a total of 500 talesmen summoned to appear for examination as possible jurors in the Thaw case.

The general opinion was that Mr. Jerome had rather outgeneraled the Thaw forces thus far in the trial. He had at all events gone thus far in the selection of the jurymen without exhausting more than twenty of his original allowance of thirty peremptory challenges, while the defense had used up twenty-nine. This would have put the Thaw lawyers in a pretty tight hole tomorrow had it not been for the fact that Mr. Jerome, in view of the fact that still another panel had been summoned, agreed that it would be fair to allow each side ten more peremptory challenges. Justice Fitzgerald consented to this arrangement and it was so ordered.

Despite the tediousness of the process of filling the jury box old attendants at court are of the opinion that, in view of the importance of the case, excellent progress has been made in getting jurors. In the first Molineaux case it was recalled around the Criminal Courts building the process of completing the jury occupied about six weeks. The Thaw trial has been in progress since a week ago last Wednesday, and the jury is now all but complete.

May Dismiss More Jurors.

There is, of course, the possibility that still more of the jurors already selected may be dismissed. This possibility, indeed, amounts to a strong probability if the reports regarding one of the later jurors chosen are to be believed. It was stated last night by one of the prisoner's counsel that at least one more of the present jurors was likely to be excused from serving in the case.

Up to the present time seventeen men have been selected to act as jurors. Of these six have been excused for various reasons. So far as is known this number constitutes a record in the New York courts for jurors who have been sworn in and then excused from service.

The court was half an hour late in convening this morning and all sorts of rumors were at once afloat regarding the cause. Then it was learned that the district attorney and counsel for the defense were in conference with Justice Fitzgerald, and it was soon well understood that the conference had to do with the excuse of another juror or so. There was little surprise, therefore, when at 11 o'clock Justice Fitzgerald took his seat and Mr. Jerome addressed him as soon as the roll of jurors had been called by Clerk Penney.

Let Out Two at Once.

"Your honor," said the district attorney, "counsel for the people and for the defense have been in consultation, and for good and sufficient reasons, counsel for the defense concurring, we ask that jurors No. 4 and No. 9 be excused from further attendance."

Mr. Hartridge gave a confirmatory nod when Justice Fitzgerald looked at him, and the judge then said:

The two jurors at once arose and left the jury box. It was plain that they were both taken by surprise, and they had no explanation to offer. Mr. Walker said:

"I was surprised to be excused, for I had received no intimation of it, and I have no idea what the cause was. But, while I am surprised at getting out of it, I am no more surprised than I was at getting into it in the first place after I had testified that I knew the late Stanford White and several members of the Thaw family. However, I am mighty glad to get out of it for all that."

Jerome's Foot Slips.

It was the consensus of opinion that Mr. Jerome's foot had slipped a trifle when he admitted Mr. Walker to the jury in the first place and that excusing this juror was merely a rectification of his earlier error.

As to the case of Mr. Haas, there was no adequate explanation obtainable. One story had it that he was well acquainted with Daniel O'Reilly of Thaw's counsel. He wouldn't say anything about it. He had described himself as a candy manufacturer of 127 West Ninety-sixth street. Both he and Mr. Walker were among the youngest jurors that had been selected.

The third man let go today was Henry I. Kleinberger. Mr. Kleinberger was chosen Wednesday afternoon. He is a silk merchant of 476 Broadway and was the only foreign born man in the jury box.

Mr. Kleinberger's family physician called up Mr. Jerome's office and told Assistant District Attorney Kresel that Mr. Kleinberger's health was such that it might be seriously impaired by prolonged confinement with the jury and the great responsibility incident to the consideration of such a case.

Third Juror Is Excused.

When the district attorney got word from Mr. Kresel about Mr. Kleinberger there was a long conference between counsel for both sides and Justice Fitzgerald, at the end of which Mr. Jerome made a formal request that the juror be excused by common consent. Justice Fitzgerald acted on the request at once.

Still it looked possible that the box would be filled before the close of the afternoon session, for two jurors had been promptly chosen in the morning to fill the vacancies left by Mr. Haas and Mr. Walker. The first of the brace of talesmen accepted was Oscar A. Pink, 45 years old, salesman for a hay and grain house. He lives at 477 West One Hundred and Forty-fifth street, is married, and was born in this city. He has served before in criminal cases, but never in a capital case. He passed all the test questions with a rush and was speedily accepted, taking the chair left empty by Mr. Walker's withdrawal.

They can pick jurors rapidly when everything goes exactly right, and the next man up after Mr. Pink followed him into the jury box. He is William F. Steele, a manufacturer of gas fixtures at 529 West One Hundred and Fifty-first street. Mr. Steele, who is married and about 50 years old, seemed a person of a thoughtful disposition. Not much time was consumed in accepting him. He seemed to be particularly acceptable to Thaw. He took the seat Mr. Haas had left.

Another Juror Accepted.

It was not until a few minutes before adjournment for the day that the eleventh (present) juror was obtained. He is a middle aged clerk named Joseph B. Bolton, who lives at 1187 Boston road and works with a dyeing and bleaching company at One Hundred and Seventy-seventh street and Boston road. He is mild of manner and speech, is bald on the front, and is married. He has served on juries before, but never in a criminal case.

There was nothing extraordinary about the examination of Mr. Bolton, except when Mr. Jerome stopped in the middle of it to inquire: "Is Mr. Wilson in court?"

If Mr. Wilson was he did not answer, and it did not appear why Mr. Jerome wanted Wilson. But he at once went on to ask if anybody had approached Mr. Bolton about the Thaw case since he had been summoned as a talesman. Mr. Bolton said nobody had.

Then Mr. Gleason wanted to know if Mr. Bolton had formed any opinion from reading the newspapers about the killing of Standford White.

"I have not," said Mr. Bolton. "I never form an opinion from reading newspaper articles."

He looked as if he didn't.

After a long conference between the Thaw lawyers, in which the defendant took part, Mr. Gleason said:

"We'll take him."

"The people are content," said Mr. Jerome, and Clerk Penney swore the juror in.

Thaw Women More Chatty.

All the female members of the Thaw party were in court all day, Mrs. Thaw sitting between her daughter, Mrs. Carnegie, and the latter's sister-in-law, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. Harry Thaw's wife was, as usual, accompanied by her right hand, the chorus girl, May McKenzie. The women of the party seemed to be more at their ease than on any previous day and chatted together occasionally, even the countess, who seldom has a word to say inside the courtroom, turning around occasionally to say a word to her brother's wife. Thaw himself is beginning to act as much at his ease in the courtroom as the fattest of the court attendants.

Aside from the examination of the two talesmen who were accepted in the morning there was little of interest doing at that session. The only exception worth noting in detail was that of Harry C. Adams, who is employed by a carpet firm that does business on upper Broadway.

Sold Goods to White.

He looked booked for the jury box until Mr. Hartridge discovered that he had once sold some things to Stanford White with which to decorate the artist's studio in the Tower at Madison Square garden. Mr. Hartridge at once asked that Adams be excused. Mr. Jerome interposed.

"If we are going to excuse every man who has ever sold goods to Stanford White," he said, "we shall lose a good many valuable talesmen."

Justice Fitzgerald took the district attorney's view of it and overruled the challenge of the defense. Mr. Hartridge then entered a peremptory challenge.

When the examination reached Henry W. Hubbard, treasurer of the American Missionary society, the defense was running low on its peremptory challenges. This talesman suited Mr. Jerome despite the fact that he thought he might be sick, and he forced Thaw's lawyers to take him or use another peremptory challenge. They chose the latter alternative.

Champion All Around Juror.

The champion all around juror of the trial appeared in the person of George Deutermann, a dealer in leather belting, of 209 Center street. Whether or not his proximity to the Criminal Court building has anything to do with it Mr. Deutermann has served more times as juror than anybody else examined in this case. He told Mr. Jerome and Thaw's lawyers that he had served ten or twelve times as a juror and twice his services had been in capital cases. He had rather not serve at all, but if he did he would take the law as laid down for his guidance by the court.

Mr. Deutermann was one of the few who had not made up his mind about the guilt or innocence of the defendant and for that reason the lawyers took a deal of trouble in his examination, neither side being anxious to challenge him. Finally the district attorney put it up to the defense and they used up another peremptory challenge, there being nothing against the talesman as a juror that the court would take cognizance of.

Mr. Jerome again forced the defense into the corner in the case of Abel Kingman, a retired merchant of 219 West Seventy-first street. He said he had served only once as a juror in twenty years' residence here. He had known Mr. White slightly. Mr. Jerome was willing to take him, but the defense said no and out he went.

Almost but Not Quite.

Nathaniel Kelly, who has been a bookkeeper for the Consolidated Gas company for nineteen long years, was the subject of much sparring between counsel, Mr. Jerome trying to force the defense to challenge peremptorily and the defense trying to put it up to the court. Between them they tangled him up a bit, and the judge said that he was not entirely satisfied that Mr. Kelly could serve impartially, and he therefore sustained the defense's challenge.

Mr. Delmas again appeared in court today for the first time in two days. He has been nursing a cold and now states that his voice is in no way impaired by his illness. Mr. McPike was again in his usual seat at the defendant's right.

Both sides are rapidly rounding up their witnesses in preparation for the beginning of the real battle. Roger O'Mara is here from Pittsburg with a group of Thaw witnesses, and the district attorney's office has a man in Pittsburg looking up some things in Thaw's record there, while a man has been sent up the state to get a witness who was on the Madison Square garden roof the night the shot was fired that was heard round the world.

Students of Art Institute Appear in Vaudeville.

MISS VIOLA RADENHAUSEN

MISS ELIZABETH MOORE
SONG DANCE ARTIST.

MISS BELLE KINNEY
AS AILEEN DUCELL

A burlesque vaudeville entitled "The Spice of Life" was given in Fullerton hall, the Art institute, yesterday afternoon by students of the institute. The program, which was a complete takeoff on the conventional vaudeville program, included a mind reading act entitled "Slamemcholy," a one act playlet, and various singing and dancing "stunts." Miss Margaret Anneke, as the mind reader, made prophecies, and told those in the audience how to conduct their affairs and find lost articles. Miss Viola Radenhausen performed a series of Hungarian dances in costume, Miss Belle Kenney appeared as Aileen Ducelle in a comedy sketch, Miss Elizabeth Moore in "song and dance specialties," and half a dozen others gave evidence of possessing histrionic as well as artistic ability.

"INFLUENCE" SAID TO HAVE MADE COLLINS CHANGE MIND.

Three Police Lieutenants Transferred Last Wednesday Are Again Shifted —Changes One for Health's Sake.

Influence alleged to have been exerted by friends of several of the lieutenants who were affected by the general order issued Wednesday by Chief of Police Collins is believed to have been the cause of another general order by the chief yesterday afternoon by which three of the lieutenants were again moved. Comparatively few persons connected with the police department knew of this new order until the lieutenants had moved to their new station. Those affected by the order are:

Lieut. Robert Schlau, who was transferred from West Chicago avenue station to North Halsted street, is now assigned to the Town Hall station.

Lieut. John C. Dammann, who was transferred from North Halsted street station to Sheffield avenue, is sent back to his old post at North Halsted street.

Lieut. John D. McCarthy, formerly at North Halsted street station and transferred some weeks ago to Town Hall, was sent yesterday to Sheffield avenue.

In speaking of the transfers Chief Collins last night said that he made this shift for the good of the department and the general public.

"In the transfer of Lieut. Thomas Duffy Wednesday from the Central detail station to the Summerdale station," said the chief, "I did it for his benefit. He had been ill, and the pure air which he can get in the Summerdale district, I thought, would be beneficial to his health."

TAXPAYERS FIGHT A SALOON.

West Side Property Owners Ask Mandamus Ordering Mayor to Revoke Albert Kaskey's License.

J. F. Moore, W. R. Nealigh, and other residents near Franklin and Sacramento boulevards, filed a petition for a writ of mandamus in the Circuit court yesterday to close a saloon operated by Albert Kaskey, 165 Sacramento boulevard, on property which they assert was given over, by ordinance, to the West Chicago park commission Oct. 26, 1905, they claim. Kaskey was given a saloon license despite objections of property owners.

SAYS WIFE LIKED CLUBS TOO MUCH; CHILDREN TOO LITTLE.

Eugene S. Campbell Granted Divorce When He Tells of Having to Prepare His Own Meals.

Fondness for attending meetings of woman's clubs and societies and the aversion to children and flats caused dissension in the family of Eugene S. Campbell, employment agent for the Illinois Steel company, and in 1903 Mrs. Campbell left Chicago. Yesterday Judge Brentano granted him a decree of divorce. She took with her their only child, Ross, 11 years old, asserting that the society in New Hampshire would prove better for her son.

"I guess she wanted to go back to old New Hampshire," said Campbell. "She complained of large cities continually. She was always attending some meeting or other and was never home. I often was compelled to prepare my own meals."

EXPLOSION DEATH LIST NOW 12.

Morris O'Connell and Michael Donohue Last to Die from Bursting of Ammonia Pipe.

Morris O'Connell, 37 years old, 646 Fortieth place, and Michael Donohue, 37 years old, 3441 Auburn avenue, who received injuries in the explosion of an ammonia pipe at the stockyards plant of Armour & Co., died yesterday. Twelve have now died as a result of the fatality.

O'Connell died at the Provident hospital and Donohue, who was a bricklayer, employed at the plant, died at his residence. Both received fatal injuries as the result of inhaling ammonia fumes.

Donohue had been treated at the hospital and was permitted to go to his residence, it being thought that he was almost recovered.

SHERMAN HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Youth Accused of Swindling Montgomery Ward & Co. Sentenced After Hearing in Municipal Court.

William I. Sherman, the young man accused of fraudulent dealings when a clerk for Montgomery Ward & Co., was held to the grand jury yesterday in addition to being fined $25 and sentenced to three months in the bridewell. His defense was that he was impelled by a strange power to steal. He was tried before Municipal Judge Eberhardt.

ROGERS TO SHARE GAS DEAL PROFITS

Standard Oil Magnate Agrees to Pay $1,500,000 and End Bay State Suit.

CLIMAX IN LONG FIGHT.

Judge Putnam Awaits Approval of New York and Delaware Courts.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 31.—A compromise settlement of the suit of George Wharton Pepper, the receiver of the Bay State Gas company of Delaware, against Henry H. Rogers of New York to recover profits of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 on account of the sale of the several Boston gas companies, was announced in the United States Circuit court this afternoon.

An agreement reached by both parties was submitted to Justice Putnam, who, although he had stated that so far as he was concerned "there would be no trouble," declined to give his formal assent to the settlement until an amended and satisfactory petition was presented at a hearing set for tomorrow morning.

Under the terms of a compromise agreement which was submitted to the court, Receiver Pepper accepts an offer of $1,500,000 from Randall Morgan, treasurer of the United Gas company of Philadelphia in consideration of an abandonment of the claims of the Bay State company against Mr. Rogers and in consideration also of stock in the Buffalo Gas company now held by the Bay State Gas company. This stock amounts to about 30,000 shares. Mr. Morgan acts for Mr. Rogers in the settlement.

Suit Pending Several Years.

For several years the suit of Receiver Pepper against Mr. Rogers has been pending in the United States courts here. The aim of Receiver Pepper was to secure profits alleged to have accrued to Rogers through the sale of stock in the various Boston gas companies to interests representing the New England Gas and Coke company, while Mr. Rogers was serving as trustee of the Bay State company. It was claimed that by virtue of this trusteeship he was enabled to make vast profits, which Receiver Pepper contended rightfully belongs to the Bay State company.

Some time ago Judge Putnam, who heard the case, ruled that the defendant, Rogers, was bound to make an equitable division with the Bay State Gas company of his profits in the transaction. Prof. John C. Gray of Harvard university was named as master in the case.

Other Courts Must Approve.

Meantime negotiations for a settlement were in progress and the result was made public today. When the matter came before Judge Putnam he pointed out that the negotiations would need the approval of the Circuit court of Delaware and also of the Circuit court of the southern district of New York. He added:

"There is no trouble about this so far as I am concerned. There is only one thing to be considered. I have held Mr. Rogers to a rigid rule and, therefore, I need something on file to show that Mr. Rogers does not object."

Judge Putnam added that the order to be considered tomorrow should provide for the approval of the courts in Delaware and New York.

SAYS SUICIDE OF THE RACE IS DUE TO IMMIGRATION.

Prof. L. C. Marshall of Ohio Wesleyan university, in an address on "Race Effects of Immigration" at the University of Chicago yesterday, declared race suicide in America is due to the influx of immigration into the country. He said American stock had been lowered many notches and declared the present situation is alarming.

America today would have a population of 100,000,000 instead of 80,000,000 if it had retained its original colonial stock, according to his figures. These are based on the country's growth for the first fifty years, at the end of which immigration began to be a severe influence on the rate of increase of population.

"It is still an open question as to whether the early immigrants did not produce a check in colonial stock," Prof. Marshall said. "But it is figured on what appears to be a reliable basis that the population of the country would have been 100,000,000 if it had gone on at the rate of increase of the first fifty years of the country's history.

"The laws of population show that there is probably a casual connection between the immigration and the checking of population. The native stock, of course, has a great race pride. As soon as immigrants came over with their lower standard of living it became necessary to reduce the size of families to keep up their standard of living.

"The early immigrant caused a decline of the birth rate and a displacement of the colonial stock, although it did not produce a serious racial change. Unless conditions change and restrictions take place ten or fifteen years hence there will be a considerable racial change. Already there is a noticeable difference."

BUSSE BOOM ON; POLITICS DENIED.

BUSINESS MAN IS NEEDED.

Action of Citizens Due to Disgust Over Inefficiency of the Present Administration.

The boom for Postmaster Fred A. Busse for the republican nomination as mayor of Chicago was launched formally yesterday, with 800 well known business and professional men behind it.

When Mr. Busse returns from Citronelle, Ala., on Sunday or Monday these men will call upon and urge him to become a candidate in the interest of plain business men who are weary of the present inefficient administration.

The 800 men have signed their names to a resolution indorsing Mr. Busse in the strongest terms, as a man—a business man like themselves—who can bring order out of the almost unparalleled chaos that is the remarkable feature of the present municipal administration.

Text of the Resolution.

The resolution follows:

Whereas, We, the undersigned business men, realize that there should be elected as the first four year mayor of Chicago a man who commands the confidence of all branches of her citizenship, an able and forceful executive, who will redeem the city's administration from the disorganization into which it has fallen in past years; and

Whereas, We believe that Fred A. Busse, now serving as postmaster by the appointment of President Roosevelt, combines these qualifications to an eminent degree.

We do now call upon him to become a candidate for his party's nomination.

The men, it is represented, are not actuated by political motives. They indicate simply that they are tired of an unsettled traction question—tired of a mayor who prefers to keep that traction question unsettled for his personal political ends, with every city department disorganized and demoralized, with the police department employed as a political machine.

Some of Busse's Indorsers.

Some of the "original 300" Busse men are as follows:

George E. Adams,	Nelson Lampert,
E. S. Adams,	Albert H. Loeb,
C. C. Addi,	Frank J. Loesch,

L. Kiper,	Fred W. Upham,
Barry A. Knott,	William Vocke,
Lewis B. Kuppenheimer,	W. A. Vincent,
Julius Karpen,	Emil C. Wetten.

Indorsement Is Unanimous.

The resolutions were passed at a meeting at the Midday club on Wednesday. Not all of the 300 were there, but a good many were and the others added their names later. It was decided unanimously to indorse Mr. Busse and still further to urge him strongly to enter the campaign for the nomination.

Mr. Busse, as every one knows, has not been an aspirant for the mayoralty honor. His friends regard him as the strongest candidate the republicans can name. They hope he can see his way to accept. It is believed he will. It will not be known definitely, however, until he has given his answer to the committee of business men.

Emphasis is laid on the fact that of the 300 persons named there are but a few who could be called politicians. Three of these are E. J. Brundage, president of the county board; R. R. McCormick, president of the sanitary district trustees; and F. W. Upham of the board of review.

Says Busse Is Needed.

"We wish to be regarded as business men and not as politicians in this movement," said Mr. Brundage. "There is nothing political about it. Mr. Busse, if elected mayor of Chicago, would give the city what it sorely needs—a business administration. He would administer the municipal affairs as he does those of the postoffice, or as he conducts his own business. He has made a success in everything he has undertaken. He would make a success as mayor. Chicago is a great commercial city. It needs a business man at the head of it. This is a commercial age. Mr. Busse in a recent interview, speaking on the mayoralty question, but without committing himself as a candidate, said: 'When you want a thing well done do it yourself.' Chicago needs a common sense, personally conducted administration, and that is a good enough platform for the business men."

Mr. Brundage said also that Mr. Busse was in favor of an immediate settlement of the traction question.

Headquarters for the Busse campaign have been established for the present at 1048 First National bank building, with Clyde C. Morrison in charge. Mr. Morrison is editor of the Hamiltonian, which leads to the idea that the Hamilton club in a way is back of Mr. Busse's tentative candidacy.

To Name Scouts for Dunne.

William L. O'Connell has appointed the committee of nine which will have general direction in the three divisions of the city of Mayor Dunne's campaign preliminary to the city convention. Sub-committeemen will be appointed in each ward and each primary district, and an energetic effort will be made to secure delegates in Mr. Dunne's interest. The committee is composed of the following:

North side—Edward Diederich, Twenty-first ward; James J. Lyons, Twenty-second; William F. Quinlan, Twenty-fifth.

South side—Alexander Wlenlewski, Eighth; J. H. Madigan, Thirty-second; Edward F. Brennan, Seventh.

West side—John Powers, Nineteenth; Frank Bierwerdort, Twelfth; Thomas F. Little, Fourteenth.

Speaking of Mr. Busse's boom, Mr. O'Connell said:

"Mr. Busse is a nice, popular fellow and would make a good run. Mayor Dunne, however, will be nominated and reelected."

The executive committee of the Cook County Democratic Marching club will meet this afternoon at headquarters, 124 La Salle street, to take final action on its proposed southern trip. At the same time the rival organization, Robert Emmet Burke's Cook County Democracy, will hold a meeting, also to arrange for a southern trip.

Peter A. Foote denies that he attended a meeting at Vogelsang's café at which John P. McGoorty was indorsed as democratic candidate for mayor.

FILE HUGE LISTS FOR REFERENDUM

signed to the three-horned petition. This petition, in addition to providing for a vote on the pending traction ordinances, provides for submission to the voters at the April election two other propositions. One is that the traction properties may be acquired by condemnation proceedings. The other provides for a repeal of the Sunday closing and other "blue laws."

The referendumites feel jubilant, claiming that all three of the propositions are carried. They maintain that the signatures to the proposition relative to the traction ordinances on their special petition should be counted with those on the official petition.

The difficulty, aside from the question of illegality of counting the signatures to the traction ordinance proposition on the three-horned petition lies in the fact that many persons have signed both the hydra-headed petition and the official, single proposition petition.

Mayor Dunne said he believed the signatures to the hydra-headed petition on the traction ordinances should be counted with the rest except when there were duplicates.

Contest of Petitions Certain.

With all the evidences of fraud that have been collected during the sixteen days that the petition has been circulated, including forged or fictitious names, which resulted in one instance in the arrest of one of its circulators by the referendum committee and the warning of a dozen others, it is certain that there are many thousands of names that are illegal.

That there will be a contest of the petition seems certain. The finance committee will take up for consideration this afternoon the resolution introduced by Ald. Harris at the last meeting of the council providing for an appropriation to pay the expense of verification of the signatures. It is probable the mayor's friends on this committee will oppose the appropriation.

The plan now is for the finance committee to report to the council next Monday night the estimated expense of the investigation—from $10,000 to $15,000.

Talk of an Injunction.

Should the council appropriate the money to investigate the genuineness of the petition, Mayor Dunne's friends on the kitchen cabinet have planned to apply for an injunction. They intend to head off at any cost any investigation except one of their own conducting, such as that of Mr. Robins in Mayor Dunne's private office.

Mayor Dunne was feeling gay over the success of his campaign issue when he appeared at the city hall in the evening and learned that the council petition alone had 184,000 signatures, counting those that were not above suspicion.

"It simply illustrates," said the mayor, "the folly of attempts by influential institutions, swell clubs, and other organizations of this city to head off a referendum on any question that vitally affects the interests of the community. The referendum is here to stay, and must be counted upon and considered by the press and the great organizations of this city as an element that must enter into the final disposal of all great questions.

"I think it means that the ordinances in their present form never will pass. There is absolutely no doubt of a valid petition. I feel that I have kept my pledge to the public, and my conscience is clear.

"I asked the city council to repass the foreman resolution providing for a referendum on Jan. 7. It was defeated by a vote of 54 to 12. I issued an appeal to the people. On Jan. 15 the council and myself drafted a form of petition, and this is the result."

Lists Fill a Large Basket.

The petition was brought into the rooms of the election commission in a huge basket carried by Dr. Maurice F. Doty, city superintendent of transportation, and Addison Blakely, both members of Mayor Dunne's kitchen cabinet.

They were followed by Deputy Assistant Mayor Margaret Haley, Raymond Robins, social settlement worker and a member of Mayor Dunne's reform school board; Henry M. Ashton, and nearly 100 other referendumites.

There was no ceremony about it. The basketful of copies of the petition was dumped on the table and the whole crowd took positions so that it could be photographed. Miss Haley took a position on the right. Dr. Cornelia De Bey went up to her and said:

"Put your hat on straight, Margaret."

Dunne Turns In 64 Names.

Mayor Dunne wouldn't get into the picture. He started for home after having filed with the election commission sixty-four names he had gathered in during the evening as signers to the petition. On the back of these sheets he indorsed:

Filed with the election commission at 10:30 p. m., Jan. 31, for good measure. E. F. DUNNE.

Mr. Robins, who, with James Mullenbach, superintendent of municipal lodging houses, and George E. Hooker, secretary of the City club, were the committee on "verification" of signatures, secured a receipt from the election commission. All the commissioners, John C. Cannon, Abel A. Bach, Thomas F. Judge, were present. So was Chief Clerk Isaac N. Powell and one or two subordinates, who put the packages of the petitions, carefully sealed, into the vault.

Activity in Mayor's Office.

Mayor Dunne's office in the city hall during the evening hours before the petition was filed was a busy place. Every few minutes packages of petitions were brought in from the headquarters of the Referendum league at 69 Dearborn street or the Independence league at 176 Fifth avenue. A few minutes after 10 o'clock Addison Blakely came over from the Referendum headquarters with his load of signatures to the three horned petition. The Independence league brought in its quota.

All day Mr. Robins and his two assistants had been "verifying" the petitions in the mayor's inner office.

The Referendum committee was much exercised over the prospect that there would be an investigation of the petition.

"Whenever the council of Chicago," said Addison Blakely, "shall decide to use the taxpayers' money to defeat the will of the people the aldermen become out and out servants of the corporations instead of being servants of the people who elected them. It is a remarkable fact that the aldermen who would not lift a finger to permit the people to express their will on the traction settlement should be so anxious to use the people's money to fight the battle of the traction companies."

Final Scramble for Signers.

During the daylight hours the scramble for referendum petition signers were exciting. At the headquarters of the referendum league a dozen faithful clerks worked hard to sort the petitions that came in at the rate of several hundred an hour.

This was the headquarters of the original referendum crowd, the place where the hydra-headed petition had its birth. At 8 o'clock in the evening it was alleged that 98,000 of the signatures had been tabulated and the clerks still were counting. The floor was strewn with papers, and through a haze of cigar smoke the clerks toiled on in an 8x14 room.

The Federation of Labor brought in more than 10,000 names. Nearly 5,000 more were contributed by the street car employés. The Good Government club presented 2,000 signatures with the seal of the organization on every petition sheet. Thirty packages of referendum petitions came in by special delivery. In the afternoon dozens of representatives of various trade unions brought in thousands of petitions.

Mayor's Women Aids Busy.

Miss Haley and Dr. De Bey were the interesting figures at the headquarters of the Independence league.

They worked unceasingly, counting the signatures, checking up on each sheet by numbering them and then pasting in scrapbooks the margin from each sheet, so they would be able to trace back to the person who brought in the sheet in the event of any dispute over the name. Miss Haley and Dr. De Bey did not take time for lunch. They contented themselves with toast and tea and pickles, which they ate at the rough tables where they worked. After it was all over Miss Haley said:

"I never was so tired in all my life."

The real heavy work of the day—the verification of signatures brought in by the police department and other city employés—took place in the mayor's office, where Raymond Robins was in charge.

Mr. Robins "verified" the names of 133,000 persons by looking at some of them. By a mere glance at a page of names he was able to tell whether they were genuine signatures. He was able to tell whether they were registered voters. He was able to determine whether the names had been signed by the persons who bore them or by policemen who merely thought they ought to be signed. Possessing the gift of second sight, he could tell by looking at a stack of petitions on a chair whether they were bona fide. With the exercise of his rare intellectual powers he could discriminate between actual living residents of Chicago and ghosts or mythical personages.

The real work of verification will take place at an investigation before the election commission. The last investigation of a referendum petition took place three years ago. It took eighty men—none of them clairvoyants—four weeks, and 77,000 names were discovered to be illegal.

Tells of Former Contest.

It was said there was a possibility that Attorney William T. Underwood, who has an office at 97 Clark street, might represent certain contestants to the petition. Mr. Underwood conducted a contest of a referendum petition three years ago.

"On that occasion," said he, "we threw out as illegal 77,000 names out of 131,000. The petitions came in in sheets, on postal cards, and newspaper clippings. I put a force of men to work copying them, arranging them in precincts and wards, and verifying them. The only way to determine accurately the legality of the petition is to investigate every name."

Mr. Underwood declined to state whether he had been engaged in the interest of any contestants of the present petition.

MURDER JURY IS DISAGREED.

Stands Eleven to One for Acquittal of Rudolph Jonas and Is Discharged Without Verdict.

Standing eleven to one for acquittal, after many ballots, a jury in Judge Pinckney's court reported that it could not agree in the case of Rudolph Jonas, a teamster, charged with murder, and was discharged. Jonas was accused of having pushed Albert Whorkle into the river, thereby causing his death, July 20, 1906.

The jury was out from 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon until 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At that time it sent a note to Judge Pinckney, stating that the members desired to communicate with him.

One of the jurors told the court that no agreement could be reached. Another said that if a little further time were given it was probable that the members would be able to reach a verdict. The first speaker insisted it was impossible and on motion the jury was discharged.

In one of the quickest murder trials in Cook county Criminal court history, Joseph Stanska, 19 West Twenty-fifth street, was found guilty of wife murder last evening and was sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary. The trial began at the opening of Judge Pinckney's court yesterday morning. At 11 o'clock a jury had been chosen and the examining of witnesses begun. At 4 o'clock the case was given to a jury and in less than two hours it returned its verdict. The murder of Mrs. Stanska was committed May 17, 1906. Stanska offered in defense that she had been accepting the attentions of other men.

BOY CAUSES DOCTOR'S ARREST.

Proprietor of Museum of Anatomy Accused of Obtaining Money from Young Man by False Pretenses.

Dr. J. W. H. Camp, 298 State street, was arrested last night on charges of obtaining money by false pretenses made by Joseph W. Bonadio, 16 years old, who came to Chicago recently from Watertown, N. Y., to purchase a moving picture machine.

Bonadio said he went into Dr. Camp's museum of anatomy at 298 State street, and the physician told him he was suffering from an incurable disease, and would die in three days unless he had treatment.

In his alarm, the boy said, he gave the physician $125, but soon learned that he had been deceived. He reported the facts to Municipal Judge Newcomer, who issued a warrant for the physician's arrest. Dr. Camp gave bonds for his appearance in court today.

GAMBLING SHIP STEAMS FAR.

City of Traverse Gets Out of Illinois Waters for First Time in Five Weeks.

The "uninterrupted prosperity" of the gambling steamship, the City of Traverse, and its "do as you please" tactics met reverses yesterday.

Instead of lying within half a mile of shore in Illinois waters, as it has done almost daily for the last five weeks, the Traverse steamed out five miles from shore safely across the Indiana line.

Whether its boldness in operating within the jurisdiction of the South Chicago police station has been under "protection" or not is a question of speculation. It was admitted yesterday by an officer of the South Chicago police station that he had circulated referendum petitions on board the boat, supposedly when it was in Illinois waters.

ON CITY ROLL AND WORK OUT.

Eight Electricians Called Before Civil Service Board to Answer—Decision Is Due Today.

Acting on information that employés of the electrical department were performing outside labor when they should have been engaged on city work, eight city electricians were called before the civil service commission yesterday. All admitted that, in connection with their city duties, they worked at different theaters, but declared that the extra work was performed after hours.

"Our investigation did not show that the men had neglected their duties," said Commissioner Powell, "but we do not approve of city employés engaging in outside work."

The decision of the commission will be made today.

HAT SENDS BRIDE TO JAIL

TRIALS OF NIECE OF DELAWARE'S LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Action of State Officials Necessary to Secure Release of Mrs. Beddell of Philadelphia, Although She Explained That She Overlooked Item, That Relatives Are Wealthy, Etc.—Chief of Police Will Be Prosecuted for His Course.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Taken from her husband, to whom she had been married only a few months, arrested as a fugitive from justice, imprisoned for two days, and released only after the attorney general of Delaware had intervened, was the experience of Mrs. Nora Beddell, niece of I. T. Parker, lieutenant governor of Delaware. Mrs. Beddell, who belongs to one of the oldest families of Delaware, was released from the county prison here today.

All Because of a Hat.

The police department of Philadelphia now is convinced that it was deceived by representations made by Chief of Police Black of Wilmington, who was responsible for the bride being arrested. A hat valued at $21, purchased by Mrs. Beddell at a Wilmington store, as part of her wedding trousseau, was the cause of all the trouble. The department store claimed the hat was not paid for.

Mrs. Beddell did not deny this. She says she simply overlooked the item.

William Beddell, her husband, is employed in this city, and a few weeks ago they came here to live. They were scarcely out of their honeymoon when on Tuesday Chief Black of the Wilmington police came to the city and secured a warrant charging Mrs. Beddell with false pretenses. Beddell was at his office when the detective reached the house. His wife pleaded with the detective not to arrest her. She explained that the charge was absurd; that her people were wealthy, and her uncle lieutenant governor of Delaware. In spite of this she was arrested.

State Officials Act.

When young Beddell was informed of his wife's arrest he was frantic. He retained an attorney to procure her release, but was amazed to learn that Mrs. Beddell had been arrested as a fugitive, and could not, therefore, be admitted to bail. Black refused to withdraw the charge.

Word of what had happened was sent to Lieut. Gov. Parker, who communicated with the attorney general of Delaware. As soon as he was informed of the circumstances, Attorney General Hastings of that state communicated with the local authorities. The discharge of Mrs. Beddell was at once ordered. Chief Black will be prosecuted.

FINED $500 AS THIEVES' AID.

Alfred Blake, West Side Grocer, Convicted of Receiving Stolen Goods—Five Clerks Also Found Guilty.

Alfred Blake, 40 years old, 1201 West Forty-seventh place, a grocer arrested on a charge of having received stolen property, after having his case continued four times, was fined $500 by Municipal Judge Edwin Walker in the Third District Civil court, 404 West Sixty-third street, yesterday.

Lawrence Frank, William Martin, Charles Keam, Paul Zulesky, and Edward Lehnert, employed by Frank Weber, wholesale grocer, 723 West Sixty-third street, charged with stealing goods from the store and disposing of them to Blake, were found guilty and each fined $75.

COEDS DIVIDE OVER PRAYER.

Northwestern University Girls Use Time of Annual Service to "Cram" for Examinations.

Northwestern university coeds were divided in opinion yesterday when dismissed from their classes at 11 o'clock to attend the annual prayer for colleges at the First Methodist Episcopal church. Many believed it proper to attend the service, while others desired to study for coming examinations. The latter, however, were not missed from the service. The prayer service consisted of a sermon by the Rev. W. F. Anderson, secretary of the Methodist board of education, and a prayer for schools.

"HITCHES" WITH SLED; KILLED.

John Cartwright, 6 Years Old, 5623 Shields Avenue, Is Run Over—Driver of Wagon Arrested.

While "hitching" on the rear of a wagon with his sled, John Cartwright, 6 years old, 5623 Shields avenue, was run over and killed by a wagon belonging to the McMahon Biscuit company, at Fifty-seventh street and Princeton avenue, yesterday. The driver, Guy M. Beare, 3051 Wallace street, is held at the Englewood police station.

GOVERNMENT ACTS IN WIEBOLDT CASE

Judge Landis Orders Witnesses to Appear in Bankruptcy Court Today.

SAYS REFUGE IS KNOWN.

Attorney for Receiver Believes He Can Locate Merchant and Daughter.

The truth concerning the disappearance of W. R. Wieboldt and his daughter promises to become known today through steps taken last night by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis of the United States District court.

Judge Landis issued subpoenas for all the witnesses in the case to appear before Referee in Bankruptcy Eastman at 3 o'clock this afternoon. At the request of Attorney Langworthy notice was given Attorneys Goldsier, Rodgers & Froehlich, as Wieboldt's representatives.

While the primary purpose of the hearing is to reveal the financial condition of the Belmont avenue merchant, the investigation will take a wide scope and will necessitate the appearance in court of such witnesses as have claimed knowledge of the whereabouts of the missing ones. This became necessary in finding out whether Wieboldt took any assets with him when he left the city.

Attorney E. P. Langworthy, who has been the spokesman for the Wieboldts since their disappearance, is the only man in Chicago, according to his own story, who has any knowledge of Martha Wieboldt's hiding place. He will be called to the stand to tell what he knows of the case and to substantiate his statement that Wieboldt is a suicide.

Fire Attorney to Help.

The move of the federal authorities was taken after a two hour conference which Fire Attorney Hogan had late in the afternoon with Attorneys James Rosenthal and Francis J. Hoolihan, acting for the receiver for the Wieboldt company, the American Trust and Savings bank. The plan has been on foot for several days, and furnishes the reason why no warrant was issued for Wieboldt's arrest on suspicion of starting the fire in his store at 1302 Belmont avenue last Sunday. Before the referee the witnesses are required to answer questions or be judged guilty of contempt.

No attention will be paid by the federal court to the alleged arson evidence, but Mr. Hogan will assist the referee in the examination. One of the main things to find out is whether Wieboldt secured any money from his bank, the Western Trust and Savings bank, before he disappeared. The witnesses will include store employés, relatives, and such friends as have an intimate knowledge of the case. If it is found that Wieboldt tampered with his property the federal court has the power to bring him back to Chicago.

Langworthy Sticks to Story.

Attorney Langworthy said last night he did not care what the police or the fire attorney thought of him; that he was acting solely in the interests of his client, Martha Wieboldt, in refusing to disclose her hiding place. He admitted she was not in the city, and had not been since Monday morning.

"I can produce her whenever she is wanted in court," said Mr. Langworthy. "I can reach her by telephone. She is not more than 150 miles from Chicago. I have had two letters from her—the last at 11 o'clock this morning."

Mr. Hogan obtained positive evidence in the evening that the Wieboldt girl had left the city last Monday morning.

"I am satisfied that she and her father are together, either in Rock Island or in Paducah, Ky.," said Mr. Hogan. "I was informed during the afternoon that a man had seen Miss Wieboldt on an Illinois Central train, and that she had told substantially the same story concerning her father's probable fate that she made public through Mr. Langworthy on Wednesday, but I placed little credence in it. If that letter threatening suicide was hers she could not have told this improbable story, for it denies guilt, where the letter admitted it."

Says Wieboldt Is Hiding.

Attorney Rosenthal said he had obtained reasonable assurance that the father and daughter were within 200 miles of Chicago together, and that they left the city Monday.

Attorney V. P. Arnold, representing Mrs. Emma Hale of Paducah, Ky., in her part ownership of a chattel mortgage on the Wieboldt personal property, made some efforts to find the Wieboldts through Mr. Langworthy, but was unsuccessful.

NEW BIDS FOR LAND TUNNEL.

Commissioner O'Connell Takes Action on Failure of Surety Company to Accept Hanreddy's Bond.

Commissioner of Public Works O'Connell announced yesterday that he will readvertise for bids for the completion of section 3 of the southwest land tunnel, following the rejection of the bid of Contractor Joseph Hanreddy. The cause was a telegram from John J. Caullet, president of the Metropolitan Surety company of New York, repudiating Hanreddy's bond of $1,500,000, which had been signed by Henry L. Ayres in the name of the company.

Hanreddy visited the mayor, but did not receive any hope. The mayor told him that the telegram from New York stated that Mr. Ayres had acted without authority. Mr. Hanreddy said he would bid again. On the face of the bids, Hanreddy was lowest, the Jackson & Corbett company being a close second.

HELD FOR ALLIGATOR THEFT.

C. Connibear Accused of Taking Two Foot Pet of Saloonkeeper When No One Was Looking.

An enthusiastic lover of reptiles, an irate saloonkeeper, a stuttering porter, and a pet alligator, which was fastened by a silver collar and a gold chain, will appear in the Thirty-fifth street branch of the Municipal court before Judge Girten this morning. C. Connibear, 25 years old, 922 West Thirty-sixth street, is held on a charge of stealing the alligator from the saloon of Lewis Weise, 3462 Auburn avenue, last evening.

Connibear, according to the police, in leaving the place saw the alligator chained to a table and while the attention of those in the place was drawn to another part of the room unfastened the chain and took with him the reptile, which is two feet long.

PRESIDENT'S REQUEST ON JAP TREATY MAY BE IGNORED.

President of the Board of Education and Superintendent of the Public Schools Consult Mayor Schmitz Before Accepting Invitation to Go to Washington for Conference Over Proposed Exclusion Treaty—Reserve the Right to Refuse.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Mayor Schmitz, who is under indictment for felony, may decide to antagonize President Roosevelt's efforts to negotiate a treaty by which Japanese coolies may be excluded from the United States.

When the telegram from Congressmen Kahn and Hayes, asking President Walsh of the board of education and Supt. Roncovieri of the public schools to come to Washington for a consultation, San Francisco naturally expected the two officials would respond willingly.

Consult Schmitz First.

To the surprise of many, however, they announced that they did not know whether they would go to Washington or not. It all depended on the result of a conference with Mayor Schmidt.

The conference with the mayor was held during the day. After the conference it was given out that the two officers would go if it was a question of information, and that all of the members of the board would go if it was a question of decision.

This was the gist of a message sent tonight to Congressmen Kahn and Hayes, but the board reserved the right to refuse the president's request.

Legislature Yields to Request.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 31.—A lively debate was precipitated in the senate today by a message from the governor conveying to the senate a telegram received from the California delegation at Washington. The governor asked that in view of the apparent importance of the matter as indicated by the telegram, the senate take no further action on the Japanese question for the present.

Senator Caminetti made a sharp attack on the California delegation in Washington for its failure to take some action in congress on the Japanese question.

The message from the governor will be acceded to.

FATHER ATTACKS SON'S DEED.

William J. Hiss Says by Transfer of Property He Is Denied Annuity Promised Him.

William J. Hiss, formerly of Baltimore, is seeking the annulment by Judge McEwen of a transfer of property between his son, W. J. Hiss Jr., and Berry Hiss, on the ground that by it he is denied $750 due him annually by virtue of an agreement made by him and one of the sons.

Behind the suit is another revealing the marital difficulties of the complainant and his wife, Anna Ames Hiss, who was a daughter of Bishop Edward Raymond Ames of Baltimore. The latter died in 1879 and the property he bequeathed Mrs. Hiss is valued by the complainant at $100,000. Hiss was made executor and trustee of the estate.

In November, 1905, Mrs. Hiss is said to have filed a suit for divorce, and then, the complainant avers, William Hiss Jr., asked him to waive his rights to his wife's property and turn over certain deeds for real estate to the son, who agreed, if this were done, to pay him $750 annually.

The son, it is asserted, then transferred the property to Berry Hiss, who refused to recognize the agreement.

RAID STRIKES BIG MEN?

Two Prominent Politicians Alleged to Be Connected with Bucket Shop.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, Jan. 31.

Grover Cleveland, former president of the United States, was elected chairman of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents at a meeting of the executive committee today. Mr. Cleveland has accepted the position. The association, which was recently organized, is composed of the executives of the principal life insurance companies of this country. The object of the organization is to cooperate for all kinds of reform which, the members claim, will increase dividends to policy holders.

Cleveland Accepts $25,000 Insurance Position.

Mr. Cleveland also will act as chief counsel for the association. In addition to these duties Mr. Cleveland will act as referee in cases of dispute between the companies. For these services he will receive a salary of $25,000 a year.

It was announced that Mr. Cleveland will remain a trustee of the majority stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society, but for these services he will receive no compensation from any source.

The position of secretary of the association has been tendered to J. V. Barry, at present state superintendent of insurance of Michigan. It is believed that he will accept.

William J. Donahue, a member of the New York state assembly from Brooklyn, committed suicide in a saloon in Brooklyn today by shooting himself. No cause is known.

Chief Rooney of the Jersey City police force today went through a basketful of papers and books he seized in a raid yesterday on the office of the Manhattan Stock and Grain Dealers' company of 77 Montgomery street, which resulted in the arrest of Richard E. Preusser and nine others on the charge of keeping a disorderly house in running an alleged brokerage business. When he got to the bottom of the basket Rooney came upon a document which purported to be a carbon copy of an agreement to organize and capitalize the company before its regular incorporation.

Bucket Shop Raid Catches Big Politicians?

The original organizers of the concern, according to this paper, were well known New York politicians and bookmakers. These were given as follows, with the amount each contributed to the original capital of the concern set opposite his name:

Timothy D. Sullivan, $12,500; Timothy P. Sullivan, $12,500; Eugene D. Wood, $10,000; Samuel Mayer, $10,000; Leo Mayer, $10,000; James Pickens, $10,000.

The name of James Pickens was signed to the copy of the agreement. The police say they have every reason to believe that the two Sullivans referred to are the well known congressman and alderman, respectively, of this city. Wood is an Albany lobbyist, they say, and the two Mayers are bookmakers.

When the steamship Koeningen Luise, from Mediterranean ports, arrived at Hoboken today it was rumored that the elderly woman who was down on its passenger list as Maude Nelson was in reality Emma Calvé. As soon as the customs officer got through with the two trunks she had the woman disappeared. An hour or so later the woman arrived at the Hotel Breslin and registered as Mrs. Brooks. She asked the clerk for the rooms Mrs. Maude Brooks Calvé had written for from Rome, and soon was at home on the sixth floor.

Emma Calve Arrives; Tells Nothing of Plans.

A little later the newspapers learned that Emma Calvé was stopping at the Hotel Breslin, and reporters who inquired for Calvé at the desk had no trouble getting upstairs.

"It is so good of you to come so soon," she said. "So you want to know about my plans. Well, how am I to start? There is so much that I might say to you. Perhaps I will sing at the Metropolitan—I am not yet sure. I wouldn't tell you all this only I know you so well," said Mrs. Brooks to a reporter who never had seen her before. "You won't put anything in the paper about my plans, will you?"

That the path of the Pennsylvania railroad's tunnel across Manhattan island has been found to be honeycombed with quicksand running streams which threaten to undermine the foundations of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel and scores of other big buildings in Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets, from Madison to Seventh avenue, unless the present method of subterranean tunneling is abandoned, was the startling disclosure made this afternoon before the rapid transit board.

Says Railroad Tunnel Imperils Huge Buildings.

It came out when Eugene A. Philbin, representing the contracting firm which is building the tunnel, asked for permission to carry on all future work on the tunnel by cutting four great excavations sixty feet deep the full width of the street, and extending over 2,000 feet in length in Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets. Unless this permit is granted and the contractors are allowed to underpin the big buildings lining the four sides of the two tunnels, the work can only continue at the peril of the buildings overhead, Philbin told the commissioners.

It was stated at the district attorney's office today that as a result of the examination of several aldermen at the police court hearing of Ald. William S. Clifford, who is charged with accepting a bribe of $6,000 with which to try to influence aldermanic votes in favor of Judge Rufus B. Cowing for recorder, a warrant for the arrest of another alderman probably would be issued. The charge, it was said, would be perjury.

Another Alderman Faces Arrest —Perjury Charge.

It was learned that one of the aldermen, in his testimony, had so contradicted the sworn statements of other aldermen at Clifford's hearing that the prosecution felt warranted in asking for his apprehension.

At Clifford's preliminary trial today several aldermen testified that Ald. Henry Clay Peters, the recognized leader of the Municipal Ownership league members of the board, had instructed them prior to the board meeting to vote for Cowing.

Twenty-two persons were arrested in the Orpheum theater in Brooklyn tonight, charged with rioting.

They were in the theater when eggs, small stones, and vegetables were thrown at the Russell Brothers, vaudeville performers, who were doing a sketch known as "The Irish Servant Girls." The Russells have been criticised because of their makeup, which is declared by some Hibernians to be discreditable to the Irish. Several protests have been made.

Irish Sympathizers Attack Actors; Twenty-two Held.

When the Russells appeared tonight a voice from the orchestra cried: "Let 'er go," and the bombardment began.

Percy Williams, manager of the theater, had Police Captain Maude there in readiness and reserves from three stations were called. The prisoners were locked up in the Sixth avenue station. They will be arraigned tomorrow morning.

Car Barns and Many Decrepit Cars Are Destroyed in an Early Morning Fire; In Blaze in the Late Afternoon Children, Made Homeless, Save Their Dolls.

The children were the real "life savers" when fire destroyed the Lanphere flat building at Sixty-seventh street and Monroe avenue yesterday afternoon. More than 150 families were residents of the building, and in the scramble to escape the flames the boys and girls were among the most calm. In numerous instances boys saved their playthings and girls caught up their "dollies" before leaving the burning building.

During the early hours yesterday an explosion of gas set fire to the old "limits" barn of the North Clark street line, which resulted in the destruction of the building and the burning of thirty-five rehabilitated cars and ten old trailers. Others in the barn were taken out before the flames reached them. Passenger service was not seriously impaired, as trolleys from other lines were assigned to take the place of those destroyed.

AUTO DEALERS CEASE DEFENDING VIOLATORS OF LAW.

Plan Started by the Weber Company Whereby Chauffeur Is Compelled to Pay His Own Fine and Lose His Situation When Guilt Is Proved. Results in Compliance with Speed Regulations—Rule Expected to Become Universal.

On the eve of the big automobile show there has been started a movement calculated to stamp out unlawful speeding among the men who are looked upon as the real offenders—professional chauffeurs. The Orlando F. Weber Automobile company, 1822 Michigan avenue, has taken the lead in this reform.

The Weber company hereafter will not defend in court any of its chauffeurs who are arrested for violating the speed limit established in any city, county, or state; the chauffeur must pay his own fine and—last but not least—he will lose his job. This rule was established as an experiment by the officials of the company more than a month ago. Previous to that time arrests among their employés had averaged three a week; since the new rule has been adopted there has not been one.

Find Rule Stops Scorching.

"We adopted the rule first in self-defense," said Mr. Weber. "It has proved of such value, however, that it has been made permanent. It is unnecessary to run machines at breakneck speed to show their power. If they can climb a hill the power is demonstrated. The only method we had of stamping out the evil was to place the responsibility upon the men who violated the law, and we found that it did the work."

Chauffeurs Must Know Law.

A list of speed ordinances in the various places popular among autoists has just been painted in large letters in the rear of the Weber garage, and it must be memorized by every chauffeur before he is permitted to take a machine out.

The list is as follows:

	Maximum.		Maximum.
Chicago	10	Aurora	8
Evanston	12	Joliet	8
Highland Park	12	Danville	12
Oak Park	12	Wisconsin	12
Blue Island	12	Indiana	8
Waukegan	6

As there are many prospective buyers to whom machines must be demonstrated during the coming automobile show, it is expected that these regulations will be adopted by other occupants of the "row." Representatives of the Weber company, who are advocating the adoption of such regulations by all dealers, declare that under them legitimate arrests for auto speeding would become a thing of the past.

Making Ready for Show.

A small army of workmen were kept busy all of yesterday erecting the plaster casts that are to be an important feature of the decorations for the automobile show which will open Saturday at the Coliseum and the First Regiment armory in Michigan avenue. A marked improvement in the decorations will be found this year in the fact that the show committee will pass upon every article, sign, and exhibit to be shown. At previous shows there has been no uniformity of design in the decorations.

By evening, although but a small fraction of the exhibiters had arrived with their cars, nearly every conceivable design of automobile had been placed in the Coliseum Annex awaiting final disposition. Besides these there were many new inventions to be shown for the first time. Among these are accessories the utility of which will be demonstrated for the first time when attached to cars at the show.

Ernest R. Kelly of Philadelphia arrived in the evening, having made the cross country trip in a Thomas Flyer, which he will place on exhibition. The motor of the car was stopped at midnight, the first time since it had left Cleveland Monday morning.

WOMEN SAY BACHELORS ARE BARNACLES ON SOCIETY SHIP.

Massachusetts Legislature Receives Petition from Unmarried Women Demanding Tax on Single Men.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The following petition from the unmarried women of the town of Wakefield was received by the legislature today:

"We, the unmarried women of the town of Wakefield, petition your honorable bodies for a law levying a tax on bachelors, said tax to be graduated as follows: From 20 to 25 years, $5; from 25 to 30 years, $10; from 30 to 35 years, $15; from 35 to 40 years, $20; over 40 years, chloroform in large doses.

"And your petitioners further represent that bachelors are a barnacle growth on the ship of society, impeding its progress and of no earthly use except as pall bearers.

"We are not advocating this law because we are single; that concerns us the least. If you don't believe it, ask us and see."

It has not been decided to what committee to refer the petition.

Women Convict Bucket Shop Man.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 31.—A verdict finding Robert E. Gill, a stock broker, guilty of operating a bucket shop was returned by a jury in the Common Pleas court today. A majority of the witnesses were women, who declared that they had speculated on margins entirely at Gill's place of business.

PANIC AT A FIRE STARTED BY BABY

of the Woodlawn police, rushed up the stairs and ordered many of the tenants out. They kicked in the door of flat 5, occupied by Mrs. Mary Gallagher, and, finding her in a faint, carried her down the fire escape.

Risks Life to Save Canary.

In their terror the tenants seized whatever valuables were closest at hand and made their way out of the building as best they could. Some of the scenes enacted would have been comical in the extreme had it not been for the lurking hint of tragedy. One woman risked her life by reëntering her flat after even the firemen had deserted it to save her canary. Another threw her jewel case out of the window and carefully carried her pet dog downstairs. Once down, the dog ran away, and the woman, overcome by this loss, forgot her jewels and sat down on the doorstep to have a good cry.

Furniture of every description was hurriedly bundled into the street, and women dressed in kimonos and fur coats stood guard. One woman wrapped her baby up in a heavy blanket and deposited it on a snow bank while she rushed back in the house to pull out some article of furniture. The houses in the neighborhood were thrown open to the refugees, and in many of them coffee and sandwiches were quickly made and passed around.

Fortunately, although built for a hotel to accommodate the world's fair traffic, the building was not as flimsy as many others. Fire walls divide it into eight compartments, and the flames were confined to one of these. Nevertheless, the police deemed best to warn all the tenants save those living in the northeast corner and farthest removed from danger, to move with their household goods into the street.

Many Children in Building.

There are fifty-three flats and three store rooms in the building, and of the flats fifty-one were occupied. The number of children in the building was placed at 182 by the janitor, but Cochran & McCluer, agents for the building, declare this number is too high.

The building is owned by John M. Hoffman of River Forest, and is valued by him at $150,000. The damage to it by fire is estimated by the agents at $35,000, and by Chief Horan at $20,000. The loss to the five tenants whose flats were burned out is about $15,000, and none of them carried any insurance. They are:

Peter Cayhil,	William Biehler,
T. J. Anglin,	Mrs. Mary Gallagher.
J. W. Kuder,

The loss of many of the other tenants, especially on the south side of the building, where the fire was confined, will be large, as several floors were flooded.

Complaint was made that it was twenty minutes after the fire broke out before the first engine arrived on the scene. It was said that fully twenty people were trying to turn in an alarm by telephone, but a box call from Sixty-fourth street and Kimbark avenue, turned in by Patrolman Daniel Dunnigan, who lives in the building, was the one to which the apparatus responded.

Fire Hastens Cars to Chicago.

The gas explosion and resulting fire which destroyed part of the North Clark street carbarns will prove a boon to the straphangers of the north side. Not only will a special endeavor be made to secure the early delivery of the 108 new double truck modern cars ordered some time ago, but an order for fifty additional ones will be placed at once.

It is believed the first consignment of the new cars will arrive some time this month, and they will be put into service at once. During the interim there will be cause for continued complaints, but, strangely enough, the service was not seriously impaired, even during the rush hours. Supt. Herzog ordered several cars from each of the other north and west side lines, and these, with the cars saved before the roof of the barn fell in, were sufficient to accommodate the crowds.

The loss, first placed at $200,000, will not, it is now believed, exceed $100,000, and even this is placing a high estimate on the ten old trailers which were among the property destroyed. The greatest loss was in the thirty-five rehabilitated cars which had just been put in service. The damage to the barn cannot run excessively high, as it was built thirty-five years ago and could not be expected to be of service for many years more. In fact, it is said plans already had been prepared for reconstructing it and the fire will in reality facilitate this.

Wreckage Cleared Away Rapidly.

The work of clearing out the wreckage was done with rapidity. Even before the firemen left the ruins at 10 o'clock in the morning the cars were making the loop and using the switchtracks to which they would have been assigned had nothing happened. The burned cars, many of them with nothing but the trucks and a heap of twisted iron to show what they were, were sent to the car shops at Fortieth avenue and Lake street.

The exact cause of the fire, it developed, was not the explosion of a gasoline tank, but of a gas tank, the contents of which was used for lighting some of the trailers. The tank had not been closed carefully and sparks from a trolley wire above it fell into the mouth of the tank and the explosion followed. The machine and repair shops were saved.

MODEL VILLAGE FOR CHILDREN PLANNED AT PHILADELPHIA.

First Institution of Its Kind in World Is Made Possible by the Will of Henry Seybert.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—By plans for the disposal of the $1,500,000 fund left by Henry Seybert in 1883, and which were made known today, a model village for children covering 300 acres, and the first of its kind in the world, is to be built at Meadow Brook farm, thirteen miles north of Philadelphia.

There will be cottages for 1,000 poor children and school training facilities. Other branches of child saving work will be developed in the future as need arises under the institution which was created by Seybert in honor of his father and mother.

The children's bureau, created as a clearing house for a model village, will begin business on Feb. 15 by going to the relief of the Juvenile court offering to "provide for destitute and neglected children and those whose delinquencies, if any, are not sufficiently serious to require commitment to a house of refuge."

The Children's Aid society, now having 1,100 children under its care, is to work side by side in the same office building and all agencies are to be invited to participate in harmonizing and developing the work of child saving and child training, child employment, and child legislation.

Self-government will be practiced and various special departments will be run by boys. Engineers and architects are at work on plans now to create the model child city.

Seybert was a chemist and the son of a distinguished chemist. He led an eccentric life, studied and traveled abroad, left a bequest for the investigation of spiritualism, and gave the city the bell and clock which mark the hours in the belfry of Independence hall.

DEATH OF MRS. ELLEN L. HUNT.

Sister of Chicago's First City Clerk, Last of Her Generation, Succumbs to Bright's Disease.

Mrs. Ellen L. Hunt, 77 years old, last member of her generation of the family to which Thomas Hoyne, Philip A. Hoyne, and Michael A. Hoyne belonged, died on Wednesday at the residence of her nephew, Clifford Williams, 3224 Forest avenue. She had been ill with Bright's disease for nearly a year. Funeral services will be held at the residence at 1 o'clock today.

Miss Ellen Hoyne came to Chicago in 1846. Her brother, Thomas Hoyne, who had preceded her by several years, was the first city clerk. In 1858 she became the wife of Robert H. Hunt and went to Kansas. In 1890 Mrs. Hunt returned to Chicago a widow.

She was a member of the old First Baptist church, which stood at one time on the site of the present Chamber of Commerce building at Washington and La Salle streets. She lived in the early days in the old Hoyne homestead, a two story frame house at 91 Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Hunt is survived by nephews and nieces, among whom are Thomas M. Hoyne, Frank G. Hoyne, Mrs. Clifford Williams, Mrs. Samuel R. Wells, Mrs. James T. Hoyne, and Mrs. Temple S. Hoyne.

OBITUARY.

MRS. AGATHA BIRKHOFF, 82 years old, wife of George Birkhoff Sr., died at her residence, 577 West Adams street, yesterday. Mrs. Birkhoff was born in the Netherlands. She was married in 1851 and came to Chicago in 1869 and had lived on the west side since. She is survived by a husband and six children—George Jr., Dr. David, Nicholas W., Miss Mary, Mrs. Henry Boers, and Mrs. J. P. Scully. Six years ago Mr. and Mrs. Birkhoff celebrated their golden wedding. The funeral will be held Saturday morning from the residence, with interment at Graceland. Henry Bosker, D. D., professor of theology of the Presbyterian Theological institute of Louisville, Ky., will officiate.

GEN. WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE, soldier, editor, lawyer, and banker, died at his residence at Kalamazoo, Mich., yesterday from wounds received in the civil war. Gen. Shakespeare is given credit for the founding of the Michigan Soldiers' home and was department commander of the Michigan G. A. R. in 1896. He was editor of the Kalamazoo Gazette for a number of years, and afterward a lawyer.

S. C. T. DODD, for nearly twenty-five years general solicitor for the Standard Oil company, died at Pinehurst, N. C., on Wednesday. He was nearly 71 years old. He organized the Standard Oil trust in 1882, the first attempt at a combine in proper legal form in this country of a number of industrial concerns.

MRS. THOMAS M. BOWEN, widow of former United States Senator Thomas M. Bowen of Pueblo, Colo., is dead from grief over her husband's death a month ago. Mrs. Bowen had been ill from Bright's disease some time before Mr. Bowen died, and after his death she began to fail rapidly and frequently expressed the wish to die.

FRANK SIDDALL, whose progressive advertising methods gave him wide prominence as a soap manufacturer a quarter of a century ago, died yesterday at his home at Wycombe, Bucks county, aged 70 years.

David S. Geer Is Improved.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 31.—David S. Geer, the Chicago attorney who was taken from a Michigan Central train here several nights ago suffering from a severe attack of uræmic poisoning, was reported today to be in better condition. It will be several days before he can finally be declared out of danger, the physicians say.

POLICY GAME WIPED OUT.

EXTENSIVE GAMBLING SWINDLE STOPPED BY DETECTIVES.

Municipal Judge Eberhardt Establishes Precedent by Fining Eight Men Implicated in Scheme of Defrauding Patrons by Means of Pictures on Which Bets Were Placed—Months of Work Required to Secure Sufficient Evidence to Convict.

A decision given yesterday by Judge Eberhardt in the Harrison street police court wiped out one of the most extensive gambling enterprises ever known in Chicago and established a precedent in the Illinois courts for dealing with offenders who seek by subterfuges to evade the penalties provided in the laws against gaming.

Eight men were fined $200 and costs each for conducting a policy game that was played with letters and picture characters, each representing a figure. This game is known to have been played by 10,000 men, women, and children daily. The men fined are:

James Hass,	John Murray,
E. E. Brinkman,	John Roberts,
Gus Schaeller,	Henry Zeller,
Frank Miller,	Henry Schaefer.

Run Down by Detectives.

Hass gave fictitious addresses.

"These men thought they had a game that would baffle detection," said Assistant State's Attorney Roe, "but the system we used for running them down was sure as fate. Every deception known to man was used to prevent detection in operating the game, and every technicality known to the law was used by the defense to prevent conviction. This decision of Judge Eberhardt will go on record as one of the greatest decisions ever given by a judge in the history of gambling in Chicago."

Detectives Frank Stark, John Hardy, Willie Jones, James Hatcher, and John Hall had been working on the case several months. Stark got the first tangible clew from a man whose name is held secret lest he be assassinated by friends of the men convicted. All the detectives saw the marked policy slips used in playing the game. Detective Frank Stark bet on the game several times a day for a week, and saw a record of the winnings each day.

"Does any one want to see the picture man?" some one would be heard to say in a crowd in a barber shop, saloon, or hotel.

The word "policy" was never used, and the uninitiated attached no especial importance to the expression, "picture man." Those who wished to see the "picture man" saw him in some out of the way place where the game was played.

Attorney Roe and Detective Stark, who have been in private consultation daily over the case for the last two months, expect to find the principals of the game and the printers of the policy slips. One of the "writers," it is said, may turn state's evidence.

Detective Stark caused a policy writer to explain how the drawings were made. He followed this man and saw him turn over slips to another man, who turned them over to a third, and so on, until the last one disappeared in a hotel.

BROTHERS IN CONTEST OVER WILL OF RICH DETROIT MAN.

Frederick K. Stearns Charged with Usurping Larger Share of Control of Father's Estate.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 31.—A petition was filed in the Probate court today asking for the appointment of the Union Trust company as special administrator of the estate of the late Frederick Stearns, whose will recently filed for probate named the two surviving sons, Frederick K. and William I. L. Stearns, as executors and divided the major portion of the estate between them.

William I. L. Stearns, the petitioner, alleges that he has not been given an equal share with his brother, Frederick K., in the control of the estate. He alleges that certain valuable papers were taken from his father's safety deposit vault in the Wayne County Savings bank and that Frederick K. Stearns refused to consider a proposal that these papers should be placed in another deposit box over which the two brothers should share control.

William I. L. Stearns petitions that a special administrator take charge of his father's papers, including $120,575 stock in the chemical manufacturing concern of Frederick Stearns & Co., and notes amounting to $50,000.

CHURCH MEMBERS CARRY GOSPEL TO SALOON COTERIE.

Revivalists from Church of Covenant March Through Streets to Liquor Store at Wrightwood and Lincoln Avenues and Surprise Occupants—Habitues in Turn Gratify Marchers by Joining in Singing and Returning with Throng to Meeting.

Five hundred men, women, and children, including a score of ministers, endeavored to march through the streets of the north side last evening at a saloon at Wrightwood and Lincoln avenues, conducted a rousing outdoor service in front of the place, and surprised its occupants into joining them.

It was after the union meeting at the Church of the Covenant, Belden avenue and North Halsted street, that the march through the muddy streets took place. John A. Earl had addressed the meeting, and, although the church was crowded, he said he felt sure that many persons who should be reached before the close of the series of meetings were not present.

"I suggest that we go out into the streets and go to them if they will not come to us," he said.

Church Members on March.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the church members were marching north in Halsted street to find those who would not go to church. A Salvation army band led the marchers and by the time Lincoln avenue had been reached scores of persons on the way to their residences from places of amusement had joined them.

Then the procession turned in Lincoln avenue watching for a good place for an open air meeting. There was considerable mud and wet snow in the streets, but the men and women didn't mind it. They were carrying out a well defined purpose.

When the saloon, with its flood of light and evident prosperity was noticed, it at once was selected as a fruitful spot for work. The band stopped in front of the door and struck up the tune of "Jesus Is Waiting for You." Then several women, accompanied by as many men, entered the saloon and told the keeper that they expected to talk to his patrons for a time. If he thought of resistance he saw that it would be useless, so he acquiesced.

"Don't you care to join our services? I believe that they would interest you," said Miss Gertrude Marsh, addressing a young man who was seated at a table in the rear of the saloon.

The man was surprised at the invitation, but he followed the speaker and soon was among the miscellany of church members, pastors, and saloon hangers on.

"Song Everybody Knows."

"Let's all join in on a song that everybody knows," suggested Mr. Earl. They selected "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and a few minutes later everybody was singing it, led by the band of musicians furnished by the Salvation army. It had not been expected that many of the men found in the saloon would be familiar with the song, but the ministers were amazed. There was scarcely a male voice in the crowd that was not lifted up while the chorus was sung.

Following this there were several short prayers and the saloon habitues joined in the services. After this the march back to the church was made, and although the lights in the saloon burned as brightly as before and although the fire still distributed its warmth, the patrons did not return. They followed the band back to the church.

A short time later, finding that he could not compete with the church upon his own ground, the saloonkeeper put out the lights.

DRAINS BY SLAVE TRADE.

Atrocities Due to White Man's Thirst for Gold; British Most Culpable.

BY FREDERICK STARR,
(Professor of Anthropology, U. of C.)
[Copyright: 1907: By Tribune Company of Chicago.]

[Prof. Frederick Starr's series of articles in which he is telling the truth about the Congo, based on a year's intimate investigation, began in The Tribune of January 20. This is the thirteenth installment.]

Nor is the apparent depopulation of the Congo a matter of recent date. Quotations might be given from many travelers. We quote three from Bentley, because he was well acquainted with the country and because he was an English missionary. In speaking of the town of Mputu, an hour and a half distant from San Salvador, he describes the chief, Mbumba, a man of energy, feared in all his district. He was strict in his demands regarding conduct. In his presence others were required to sit tailor fashion. "To ease the cramped limbs, by stretching them out before one, is a gross breach of decorum; any one who did so in Mbumba's presence was taken out and was fortunate if he lost only an ear. We have known several great chiefs who would order a man who sat carelessly to be thus mutilated. His own people were much afraid of him on account of his cruel, murderous ways; for a small offense he would kill them relentlessly. He was superstitious and very ready to kill witches. Through his evil temper, pride, and superstition, his town of several hundred people was reduced to eighty or ninety souls."

Massacres by Chiefs.

Again he says, "Our next camp was at Manzi; but as we had so many people the natives preferred that we should camp in a wood at Matamba, twenty minutes' walk beyond the town. The wood marked the site of a town deserted some years before. There were no other towns on the road from there to Isangila, a distance of thirty miles, for the wicked people had killed each other out over their witch palavers. This was what the natives told us themselves. Yet they went on killing their witches, believing that if they did not do so all the people would be exterminated. Two wretched villages of a few huts each were to be found a few miles off the path, but the country was practically depopulated."

In another place he says, in speaking of the caravan days, "All the carriers suffered acutely from fever, and this was the case with all the caravans on the road. This mortality was largely increased by the improvidence of the carriers themselves. Thousands of men were engaged in transport work at the time, but very few troubled to carry enough food with them, or money wherewith to buy it. As a rule the young men staid in their towns as long as they had anything to buy food with; when they failed, they borrowed until their debts became too great. Then they arranged to go with some caravan to carry, and received ration money for the road. This would be partly used up in the town, and the rest go to those from whom they borrowed."

Wealth Brings Death.

On the road they lived largely on palm nuts and raw cassava, and returned to their homes in a terribly exhausted condition. With the influx of cloth gained by transportation came hunger, for wealth made the women lazy, they preferred to buy food rather than produce—the gardens came to an end, then hunger followed, and sickness and death. Women staid at home to mourn, and the mischief became worse. Sleep sickness and smallpox spread—the population of the cataracts district is not more than half of what it was fifteen years ago. The railway is now complete and the country will adapt itself to its new conditions."

Those who are hostile to the state of course will find great comfort in this quotation; for the transport system was an introduction by the Belgians. It will be observed, however, that the author mentions no cruelty on the part of the new masters in this connection; it must also be remembered that the missionaries were as much interested in the caravan system as any, and assisted in its development. My chief object in introducing the quotation is to show how impossible it is to affect native conditions in one way without bringing about a connected series of changes, not always easy to foresee.

Drain of the Slave Trade.

To me the real wonder is that there are any of the Congo peoples left. Think of the constant drain due to the foreign slave trade continued from an early date until after the middle of the last century. Think of the continuous losses due to the barbarism of native chiefs and the demands of native customs—to wars, cannibalism, execution, and ordeal. Think of the destruction caused by punitive expeditions—towns burned, people killed. Think of the drafts made by the caravan system and the public works which the state has been forced to carry out. Think of the multitudes who have died with the diseases of the country and from pestilence introduced by the newcomers. Yet the population really shows signs of great vitality today, and the most discouraged missionary hesitates, today, a real prediction for the future.

There is a most interesting and suggestive map in Morel's new book, "Red Rubber." It bears the legend "Map showing revenue division of the Congo Free State." Upon this map we find marked with little crosses the localities where specific reports of atrocities have been received.

Distribution of Atrocities.

The distribution of these crosses is interesting. We find a concentration of them along the main river, from the Rubi river almost to the mouth of the Kassi, a notable bunch of them in the region of the A. B. I. R., and in an area worked by the Antwerp trust; also in the district of Lake Leopold II. There are few crosses indicative of bad treatment in the Congo above this district and practically none in the lower Congo and the Kassi. It is precisely in the areas where these crosses are so frequent that the early travelers had difficulty with the natives in first traversing the country. In other words the districts where native hostility has in recent years produced the acts of alleged cruelty have always been centers of disturbance and attack against the white man. Districts which were found occupied by peaceful and friendly tribes have been the scenes of few outrages. This seems to me a point worthy serious consideration.

For my own part, I believe that any well behaved white man can today traverse Africa in every direction without danger as long as his journey confines itself to areas of Bantu and true negroes. Livingstone practically had no trouble with native tribes; Schweinfurth, entering from the Nile, penetrated to the heart of Africa with little trouble; Du Chaillu traveled throughout the Ogowe valley without difficulty with natives; Junker, following Schweinfurth's trail, penetrated farther into what is now the Congo Free State, passing through the territory of many warlike and cannibal tribes, but never armed his men and never had a difficulty with any native chief. It is true, however, that the tribes of the Congo differ vastly from each other in disposition. Some are warlike, some are peaceful to cowardice, some are genial, friendly, open; others are surly, hostile, reserved, and treacherous.

Stanley's Trail of Blood.

While I have always felt that Stanley looked for trouble and that he left a trail of blood unnecessarily behind him, I recognize that the Bangala and many of their neighbors are less agreeable, less kindly, more disposed for trouble than many of the other tribes in the Free State. It is precisely with these tribes that the chief difficulties of the state have been.

Another curious point is shown on Morel's map. From what has been said by critics of the state we would be justified in expecting to find those districts where the white man's influence had penetrated most fully, and where he himself existed in greatest number, the worst in the matter of atrocity. But it is precisely in these districts that Morel's map shows no marks of reported atrocities. It is plain, then, that the officials of the Congo Free State are not, as a body, men delighting in cruelty and outrage. Where there are numbers of them, instead of conditions being at their worst they are at their happiest. It is only where there are lonely men, surrounded by depressing influences and in the midst of hostile and surly tribes, that these dreadful things are found. It is natural to expect that with fuller penetration of the white men into these districts conditions will change hopefully.

But why should we pick out the Congo Free State for our assault? Atrocities occur wherever the white man with his thirst for gold comes into contact with "a lower people." He is ever there to exploit; he believes that they were created for exploitation. If we want to find cruelty, atrocities, all kinds of frightful maltreatment, we may find them in almost every part of negro Africa. It exists in the French Congo, in German Africa, in Nigeria, even in Uganda. If we insist on finding it, we may find cruelty, dispossession, destruction of life and property in all these areas. The only ruthless act involving the death of a black native that we really saw was in French territory. If there were any object in doing so, we could write a harrowing story of British iniquity in Africa, but it is unnecessary; every one who stops to think and who reads at all knows the fact.

British Skirts Not Clear

Wherever British trade finds native custom standing in its way we shall find cruelty. Why was King Ja Ja deported? I have heard an interesting incident connected with his case. One who for many years has voyaged up and down the western coast of Africa tells me that while Ja Ja was still at his height of power the natives of his district, paddling near the shoes in their canoes, were always happy and joyous. Ja Ja stood in the way of the British traders gaining so much money as they wanted, and so he was exiled and taken a prisoner to distant lands. From the day of his departure the happiness of life was gone from all the country. Few natives put out in their canoes, and those who did were silent; the song and laughter of former days was hushed. Until the day when he was brought home a corpse for burial somberness and sadness settled down upon his people, before so gay and light hearted.

What was it caused the trouble at Benin but British greed insisting on opening up a territory which its natives desired to keep closed? The Benin massacre that followed was dreadful, but it did not begin to compare in frightful bloodshed with the punitive expedition which followed—a feat scarce worthy of British arms. What was the cause of hut tax wars? What is the matter now in Natal? Do we know all that goes on in Nigeria? Wherein is excellence in the expropriation of lands and products in Uganda for the benefit of concession companies of the same kind exactly as those in Congo? Why is it worse to cut off the hands of dead men for purposes of tally than to cut off the heads of dead chiefs for purposes of identification? But let it pass—we are not undertaking an assault on Britain.

Council Bluffs' Physicians Urge Passage of Law Against Patent Medicines.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Council Bluffs physicians tonight passed resolutions strongly indorsing the proposed law restricting the sale of patent medicines. Wholesale and retail druggists are organizing to fight the measure, declaring that it will kill the proprietary medicine business in this state.

FRENCH CABINET NEAR END

CHURCH AND STATE LAW MAY SMASH MINISTRY.

Premier Clemenceau and Minister of Education Briand Unable to Reconcile Their Differences—Former Insists on Radical Measures Against Parish Priests—Latter Favors a More Moderate Course—Friends of M. Combes Try to Force Crisis.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The existence of the cabinet is believed to be in danger as a result of the clash in the chamber of deputies last night between Premier Clemenceau and Minister of Education Briand.

While the incident was superficially smoothed over, it is learned that it was the result of a radical divergence of views regarding the modus vivendi proposition of the French bishops. M. Briand, like his chief, regards the proposition as being unacceptable in its present form, but the former believes that the war with the church has gone far enough and that if it is possible to reach an adjustment the door of conciliation should not be closed.

M. Briand takes the position that negotiations with the French bishops would not lay the government open to the charge of admitting itself in the wrong and that in any event the government should pause for the purpose of demonstrating to the country whether the church is sincere in its desire to effect a working arrangement.

Premier for Harsh Measures.

M. Clemenceau, on the other hand, as indicated by his remarks last night, flatly rejects even the discussion of the bishops' proposition, and favors the immediate issuance of a circular to the prefects notifying them that the conditions which the parish priests are authorized to propose are entirely unacceptable. He will brook no opposition, and at the cabinet meeting held today apparently carried his point, M. Briand and Finance Minister Caillaux being authorized to determine to whom the gifts and legacies in possession of the church shall ultimately go, in default of the formation of cultural associations under the law to take over the church property.

Nevertheless, M. Briand succeeded in having the issuance of the circular to the prefects postponed until after the next meeting of the cabinet, this giving him in the meantime an opportunity to prepare and present his views on the legality of the mayors signing contracts for eighteen years, as the bishops demand.

Briand May Resign.

The announcement at any moment of the retirement of M. Briand from the cabinet would not cause surprise, and if he goes the whole ministry will almost inevitably follow. The followers of ex-Premier Combes have been actively working to undermine the cabinet, but ex-Premier Sarrien of M. Briand, rather than M. Combes, are considered likely to be offered the premiership.

The radical newspapers are urging M. Clemenceau on, insisting that the pursuance of his policy of not making any further concessions to the vatican is his only salvation. The opposition press regards the cabinet as doomed. The Echo de Paris remarks:

"The habit of manipulating the overthrow of cabinets is so irresistible with M. Clemenceau that he has begun the work of demolishing his own ministry."

CHINA MOVING FOR PROGRESS.

Viceroys and Other Officials Asked to Give Their Views of Proposed Reforms.

PEKING, Jan. 31.—With the view to paving the way for constitutional government the Chinese authorities have issued telegraphic instructions to the various viceroys, governors, and Tartar generals throughout the empire to give expression to their views on the subject. Daily conferences are being held to perfect the measures adopted to carry out the desired organization. Considerable dissatisfaction, however, is felt over the fact that but one viceroy has responded to the request for information and advice, and this came from the viceroy of Turkestan, who protested against the introduction of the reforms on the ground that in his opinion the people of his province are not ready for self-government.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

LONDON—The British steamer Clevering, Capt. Barton, of 3,000 tons gross, outward bound for Japan, was blown ashore by a gale at the mouth of the River Tees. Some of the crew was landed, but forty are still unaccounted for.

LONDON—King Edward and Queen Alexandra are going to spend a week in Paris before the opening of parliament. Their majesties start Feb. 2, returning probably Feb. 9.

WARSAW—A band of terrorists shot and killed Victor Gruss, the chief of the secret police of this city, as he was driving in a cab. The murderers escaped.

BAILEY AS A BULLDOZER.

TEXAS SENATOR USED THREATS AGAINST LEGISLATORS.

Member of the Lower House Who Voted for the Investigation Testifies He Was Called to the Accused Statesman's Room and Told He Would Be Defeated, as Well as Every Other Man Who Favored an Inquiry Into the Charges.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Evidence of Senator Bailey's bulldozing tactics was submitted to the investigating committee today.

Representative S. J. Johnson of Gillespie county, called as a witness, charged that Senator Bailey, while resolutions providing for the investigation were pending and prior to his reelection, had called into consultation members of the legislature and attempted to coerce them into voting for him by threatening to go into the districts of the members who opposed him and defeat them for public office.

"Did you have any conversation with Mr. Bailey?" asked W. A. Cooke, who conducted the examination for the prosecution.

"I was asked by Mr. Blanton, representative for Cooke county, to go to Bailey's room to see him. I had a conversation with Bailey in regard to the investigation. The senator asked me if I was one of the signers of the Duncan investigation resolution. I told him I was. He asked why we desired an investigation. I told him that owing to the charges that had been made against him my people desired an investigation.

People Demanded Inquiry.

"He asked me if the people of my district did not favor his reelection. I told him that nine-tenths of the people of my district favored an investigation. I told him that I was not his enemy and had never said that he was guilty, but I believed it was due to the people and to him that an investigation be held. He said he did not see how I could be a friend of him and sign the resolution. I told him I was carrying out the wishes of my people.

"Mr. Bailey said that he would see that the people who were opposing him in his reelection would never hold another public office in this state. He said that he had a little money left, and thanked God he had the right of free speech."

Bailey Compromised Suit.

Oscar L. Stribling of Waco appeared before the committee today. He and his partner, Congressman Henry, brought suit in 1890 against the Waters-Pierce Oil company to recover $19,000. The first effort to compromise the suit, according to Stribling, was made in May, 1900, through Senator Bailey. Stribling and Henry conferred with Judge Scott and concluded that $10,000 would be a satisfactory compensation for the adjustment of the litigation. In answer to a question Mr. Stribling said:

"I never received a cent from Mr. Bailey. The charge filed which this committee is investigating is a malicious lie."

Ten more witnesses against Bailey were summoned today, making seventy-four in all.

RAILROADS VIOLATE LAW, SAYS MISSOURI OFFICIAL.

Attorney General Hadley Declares Companies Buy Stock of Competitors Illegally.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 31.—Herbert S. Hadley, attorney general of Missouri, in a speech before the State Bar association's annual meeting here, engaged in a general discussion of trusts and condemned the common practice of railroad pooling. He said, in part:

"The Sherman anti-trust law has been construed by the Supreme court of the United States as applicable to combinations of railroads. Men who associate themselves together in the form of a corporation for the purpose of operating a railroad have neither a legal nor a moral right to receive more than a reasonable return on their investment.

"When we see the dominant personality of one of the great trunk lines of the country announce a 10 per cent dividend in a clandestine manner as an incident of a stock jobbing speculation; when we see the same individual use millions of dollars of the capital of one of the roads that he controls to buy stock in a competing line, we find a justification for the claim of some of those principles of our common law which declare such transactions a wrong upon the public.

"Instead of using the money of the road to secure the control of competing lines, contrary to the principles of our common law, such money should be used to improve the roadbed, to strengthen the line, to strengthen the bridges, to increase the number and safety of the cars in order that business may be promptly and properly conducted, in order that human life may be made more secure."

QUIZ WIFE IN POISONING.

Evansville Inquisitors Take Up the Mysterious Death of Pretty 'Hello' Girl—Husband of Suspect Refuses to Talk—Young Man Said to Know Name of Slayer—Nashville Murder Case Shifted to Chicago—Soldiers Acquitted at Pittsburg.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Q. R. Luhring today presented the Saulman poisoning case to the grand jury. One of the witnesses called was a married woman, who has figured in the case from the beginning. She was before the grand jury for several hours. She is known to have been jealous of the Saulman girl, because the latter accepted the attentions of her husband. It is understood that this married woman wrote several letters to the girl, threatening her life.

The husband of this woman also has been summoned. He has refused to talk about the case to newspaper men and police.

Probably the most important witness will be a young man who was a frequent companion of Miss Saulman. He was with her when she died. It is said she told him before she died who gave her the poison that caused her death. This young man is said to have paid several hospital bills for her.

Several handwriting experts are to be examined to pass on the letters received by Miss Saulman.

Although the case seems as mysterious as ever, Deputy Luhring thinks enough evidence will be produced to warrant the grand jury in returning a true bill.

Murder Case Scene Shifts to Chicago.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Attorneys for the defense in the trial of Dr. Herman Feist today asked for an adjournment of the case until Tuesday to allow taking depositions in St. Louis and Chicago. Some of the testimony introduced by the state, it was announced, had been of a surprising nature, and time was required to rebut it. The adjournment was granted.

The testimony to be taken in Chicago, it is understood, will be in refutation of statements made by the porter of the Pullman sleeper on which Mrs. Mangrum was to have left Nashville for Chicago the night she disappeared.

One of the witnesses for the state before closing its testimony was Cashier Howell of the Fourth National bank, who exhibited a ledger to show that Dr. Feist deposited $500 four days after Mrs. Mangrum's disappearance. A bill collector said that about the same time he presented Dr. Feist with a bill for a small sum and was given a hundred dollar bill to change.

Bad Day for Dentist Slayer.

Riverhead, L. I., Jan. 31.—In the trial of Dr. James W. Simpson, charged with the murder of his father-in-law, Hartley T. Horner, Mrs. Horner took the witness stand this afternoon. She told how her husband came down stairs on the night of the shooting, how Simpson followed him to the kitchen, of hearing a shot, and then rushing out and saying to the doctor as she saw her husband's body on the floor:

"I hope God will forgive you for what you have done."

Dr. Simpson's reply was, according to her testimony: "I hope he will."

Wilfred Hartley, a gun expert, was asked to experiment with a gun to show whether or not it could explode while being "broken." The defense contends that Horner was accidentally shot while Simpson was "breaking" his weapon. Hartley declared that it would be necessary to pull the trigger or that the hammer be struck a hard blow for the gun to be discharged.

U. S. Employe Exonerated.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—After only a few minutes' deliberation today a coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. William G. Copley, whose husband was held by the police in connection with the death of his wife and infant from pistol wounds Tuesday night last, rendered a verdict exonerating him from any blame. This leaves the official version of the affair to be that Mrs. Copley killed both her child and herself.

Soldiers Acquitted in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 31.—Lieut. Ralph W. Drury and Private John Dowd of the Ninth United States infantry, who have been on trial all week charged with killing William H. Crowley on Sept. 10, 1903, were acquitted today, the jury having been out all night.

The verdict sets forth the extent to which a citizen may go to prevent the escape of a felon whom he has caught in the act, but does not decide the question of what is the duty of a soldier of the United States under similar circumstances.

This is the question the government wanted to have decided, but Judge O'Connor in his charge made it plain that the regulations of the United States army had nothing to do with the present case.

UNPUBLISHED POEM BY BYRON FOUND IN A BOOK'S FLYLEAF.

Middletown, N. Y., Collector Discovers Verses in English Poet's Own Handwriting.

Middletown, N. Y., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Charles G. Dill of this city, who has one of the largest private libraries in the state and who takes special pride in the works of Lord Byron, has an old volume of that poet's in which is inscribed in Byron's own hand, on one of the front leaves, an unpublished poem. The authenticity of the poem is attested to by an English clergyman, a distant relative of Lord Byron's family. It reads:

Buds, blossoms, breezes, butterflies, and bees
(Alliteration now is all the go).
"Here's goodly stuff toward"—and if to be
And eye of blue, you were a clumsy fellow
If you can't rhyme as well as Miss Costello
Or L. E. L.—for every fool can rhyme
Of love and broken hearts—that ne'er were broken.
Since surgeons cannot find a rent—tis time
To doubt a fact of which there is no token.
But this would play the devil with the chime
Of modern verse and I have treason spoken.
For hearts must break—of ladies who are single
But would be double (how my couplets jingle)—
The single ladies wishing to be double,
The married ones to save the virgins trouble.

The date at which the poem was written is not known, but it is believed years before the poet's death in 1824.

STATE MUST STOP CHILD WORK OR NATION WILL—ROOSEVELT

President, in Letter to Consumers' League, Says Drastic Action Will Result if ... Unenforcement.

New York, Jan. 31.—A ... rom President Roosevelt to Mrs. Maud Nathan, president of the Consumers' league, was read at the annual meeting of the league in this city today. The president wrote that if state authorities did not do their duty in matters of so vital importance as child labor there was no choice but for the national government to interfere. The letter follows:

"Permit me, through you, to express my earnest hope for the success of the Consumers' league. You are doing work that should appeal peculiarly to every good citizen, for those you befriend are greatly in need of friends and are not powerful enough to stand up for themselves. I am particularly interested in your efforts to improve the conditions under which working girls do their work in the great shops, and I have, of course, an especial interest in your effort to combat the evils of child labor.

"There is much outcry, chiefly, I think, from the beneficiaries of abuses, against interference by the national government with work which should be done by the state governments. I would rather have the local authorities themselves attend to any evil, and therefore I would rather have the state authorities work out such reforms when possible, but if the state authorities do not do as they should in matters of such vital importance to the whole nation as this of child labor, then there will be no choice but for the national government to interfere."

GIRL ELOPES; FATHER ANGRY; PRINTS "AD" OF HER DEATH.

Baltimore Man Takes Unique Method of Showing Disapproval of Daughter's Marriage.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Because his daughter, Louise, married Hugh McConville against his wishes her father, John Buyer, put an advertisement in the newspapers formally announcing her death. When asked for an explanation Buyer declared: "To all intents and purposes she is dead to me."

When the couple eloped and married on Tuesday the bride's brothers, suspecting they would take the steamboat for Norfolk, hurried to the wharf, caught them just as they were going aboard, and pommeled them hard, causing a sensation among the passengers. Young McConville has a position at Portsmouth, Va. He is 22 and his bride 18.

The death notice inserted by the father reads as follows:

BUYER—Suddenly, Tuesday, Jan. 29, Louise, aged 18. Chicago papers please copy. Funeral at Portsmouth, Va.

The girl's father mailed a clipping containing the death notice to the young couple, "as a wedding gift," he said. Buyer has relatives in Chicago.

Faith in Furniture

It is a delight to choose the needed pieces from a collection of furniture which has one's unquestioning confidence.

It is doubly agreeable when one has the feeling that no excess is being paid, or asked, for the faith itself.

In other words, people enjoy paying full value for superior things, but they do not like to feel that they are paying an additional sum for the privilege of exerting their own good judgment.

People who buy Cowan hand-made furniture know that not only are they getting the best furniture to be had—but, at the prices, the best values anywhere.

Cowan reproductions of historic or otherwise meritorious pieces are BETTER FURNITURE than the originals. Their charm is difficult even to indicate in print.

STATE UNIVERSITY WANTS BIG SUMS.

Two and a Quarter Millions Is Asked of the Legislature for Improvements.

FEE AUDITING IS SOUGHT.

Bill Introduced Requiring That Such Moneys Be Listed Semi-Annually.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The desire of the University of Illinois to share in the state's prosperity with the rest of the state institutions was given shape in appropriation bills for the university introduced today by Senator Dunlap of Champaign.

The state school has set its mark high. It asks for more than $2,250,000. Half of this amount is wanted for buildings.

One bill provides for $386,000 to give the university its own medical department building, that school now being located in the building of the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Chicago. It is possible that the university, if it secures the funds for which it asks, will purchase this building and equipment, the bill providing that if such purchase be made the price shall be not more than the actual cash value of the tangible property.

Other buildings which it is desired to erect at Urbana, with the appropriation asked in each case, are:

Physics laboratory, $250,000; addition to natural history hall, $150,000; armory, $150,000; addition to university hall, $250,000; addition to library building, $100,000.

Originally the trustees of the university thought they would have to have more than $2,000,000 for new buildings, but they have pruned off several items and reduced the total.

Thousands Wanted for Other Plans.

In addition to these, the appropriation bills make requests for $100,000 for the extension of the engineering college, $35,000 for additions to the library, $28,690 for repairs, $25,000 for the department of political science, $25,000 for the equipment of the law school, $60,000 for the graduate school, $80,000 for the veterinary college, $50,000 for a heating plant, $11,600 for the purchase of farm land, $450,000 for salaries, and $59,000 on various other counts.

Two years ago the university was fairly well treated by the legislature, but the governor was forced to veto some of the items in the bill after it passed, and thus deprived the school of improvements it demanded. This year all these items reappear in company with a number of brand new ones.

The fact that the state treasury has the largest balance this year it ever has had has been accountable for highly optimistic hopes on the part of trustees of most of the state institutions, and appropriation bills correspondingly are swollen.

Bill Provides for Fee Auditing.

With today's session both houses adjourned until Tuesday. In the senate Brown of Chicago introduced two bills prepared by President Brundage of the county board, one providing for a uniform system of accounting in fee offices, requiring semi-annual reports from these officials, and providing for the auditing of their accounts. The other proposes to create the office of county controller, which now is managed by a deputy controller, the title of controller being added to that of county clerk.

Senator Brown also introduced a bill to allow counties to lease any part of county buildings to the state as courtrooms or to cities, towns, or villages for the same purpose.

Senator Berry introduced the local option bill, and Senator Jones presented the tax assessment bills which Representative Agnado introduced in the house yesterday for John R. Thompson, Cook county treasurer.

Strict Pure Food Bill Introduced.

In the house Representative Lindly of Bond county introduced a pure food bill which had been brought to Springfield by Pure Food Commissioner Hanby Jones. The details of this measure have been given in THE TRIBUNE. It covers both food and dairy products, and proposes in some cases even stricter regulation of foodstuffs than is attempted in the national pure food bill, which it proposes to supplement by giving state application.

It provides an annual appropriation of $125,000 for the enforcement of the law. The standard of purity is that adopted by the United States department of agriculture, and it is stipulated that where no standard has been adopted by that department then the standard shall be that given in the last edition of the United States Pharmacopoeia or the last edition of the United States Dispensary.

Definitions of adulteration and misbranding follow closely the requirements of the national act, with explicit restrictions as to the use of drugs in the manufacture of liquors. It is made a misdemeanor to use cocculus indicus, chloride of sodium, copperas, opium, cayenne pepper, picric acid, Indian hemp, strychnine, arsenic, tobacco, darnel seed, extract of logwood, salts of zinc, copper, or lead, alum, methyl alcohol and its derivatives, and any extracts or compounds of the above drugs.

Clean Dairies Are Demanded.

Among the most interesting features of the bill are those governing dairy products, there being provisions to insure cleanliness in the delivery of milk and to prevent adulteration. It is specified that dairy premises, as well as cans, bottles, and utensils, must be kept clean. The sale and manufacture of preservatives are prohibited.

By the provisions of the bill hotels and restaurants using imitation butter products will be required to advertise this fact on their bills of fare or on the walls of their dining rooms.

Representative Levere of Evanston proposes to strengthen the elbow of the authorities in those and other parts in their warfare on blind pigs by providing that when two persons take oath that they have information leading them to believe that liquor is sold illegally on any premises a justice of the peace shall issue a search warrant and search shall be made of the place.

In case less than $50 worth of liquor is found then the proprietor shall be summoned before a justice of the peace. In case more than $50 worth is found he shall be summoned before the Circuit court. The bill also provides that the mayor, aldermen, police, or other officials may make arrests for the illegal sale of liquor without a warrant.

Representative Clark introduced a bill to make the penalty for carrying concealed weapons or carrying them "in a threatening fashion" a penitentiary offense.

Wants Interchangeable Phone Service.

A measure requiring telephone companies to furnish interchangeable service was presented by Representative Gillespie, the bill requiring that such service shall be furnished by one company to a subscriber to another company's lines at a reasonable toll.

Representative Fulton introduced a bill providing an appropriation of $150,000 for cottages at the Old Soldiers' home, Quincy, to provide living quarters for veterans and their wives. The bill stipulates that if a veteran shall have married since Jan. 1, 1900, his wife must be more than 55 years of age if admission to the home is to be granted her.

Another gas regulating bill was introduced, this time by Representative Covey, providing that cities of more than 5,000 inhabitants shall have authority to fix the price of gas and electricity for a term of five years, subject to review by the courts.

The number of these gas regulators has had the effect at last of waking up the down state electric light and gas interests. Former State Senator Shumway of Taylorville, who was head of the down state gas lobby two years ago, when the state bill was killed, appeared on the scene today as an advance scouting party to ascertain the strength of the enemy. He loaded up with an armload of bills and departed to digest them.

Bret Harte's Daughter Finds Friend.

Bret Harte's eldest daughter, Jessamy, beautiful and talented, who was sent to the poorhouse at Portland, Me., has found a friend in Leander Richardson of New York. She has gone to that city, and a benefit performance will be given her.

At the solicitation of many Portland society women, Mrs. Steele, who, as Jessamy Harte in Plainfield, N. J., gave early promise of the talent which her illustrations and sketches afterward proved she possessed, came to Portland to give an evening of character readings from her father's works. The select audience was disappointed. The reading was not artistic. It was crude. The reader had to be prompted repeatedly.

After her fiasco at the reading she lived at various hotels, paying in promises. At the last one the hotelkeeper a few weeks ago felt he could no longer afford to entertain his talented but expensive guest, and she was asked to leave.

Mrs. Steele's husband, an engraver, to whom she was married six weeks ago, is out west somewhere and refuses to communicate with his wife except through his attorney.

WOULD STOP PRICE WARS.

JONES OF CHICAGO INTRODUCES BILL AIMED AT PACKERS.

Measure Provides for Ousting Firm That Persists in Fighting Small Dealer by Underselling—Penalty of from $500 to $5,000, Year in Jail, or Both, for Discrimination Between Localities—Attorney General Directed to Act.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Senator Walter Clyde Jones of Chicago today introduced a bill in the senate which seems aimed squarely at the Standard Oil company and the Chicago packers, although he protests that these two industries have not furnished cause for the proposed legislation. His measure is intended to prevent discrimination between localities in prices of commodities. It provides stiff penalties for violation, one of which is an ouster from the state.

The bill is drawn in imitation of laws in effect in Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, and Iowa. Evidently it would operate to protect small dealers from attacks of large corporations endeavoring to drive out competition by cutting prices.

Packers Use Standard Methods?

The tactics of the Standard Oil company in this kind of commercial warfare have been pretty well uncovered. The same methods are charged against packers in their campaigns against small independent butchers to secure control of markets.

Senator Jones' bill provides "that any person, firm, company, association, or corporation, foreign or domestic, doing business in the state, engaged in the production, manufacture, or distribution of any commodity in general use, that shall intentionally for the purpose of destroying the business of a competitor in any locality discriminate between different sections, communities, or cities of this state by selling such commodity at a lower rate in one section, community, or city than is charged for said commodity by said party in another locality, community, or city, after making due allowance for the difference, if any, in grade or quality and in the actual cost of transportation from the point of production, if a raw product, or from the point of manufacture, if a manufactured product, shall be deemed guilty of unfair discrimination, which is hereby prohibited and declared unlawful."

The first penalty fixed by the bill is a fine of from $500 to $5,000 for each offense, with an alternative of a jail sentence for one year, or both.

Provides for State Prosecution.

It is provided that contracts in violation of the law are void. Further, in providing penalties, the bill provides:

"If complaint be made to the secretary of state that any corporation authorized to do business in the state is guilty of unfair discrimination within the terms of this act it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to refer the matter to the attorney general, who may, if the facts justify it in his judgment, institute proceedings in the courts against such corporation."

It is provided that if a corporation thus attacked in the courts be found guilty the secretary of state shall proceed immediately to revoke its permit to do business, and if thereafter it continues to do business the attorney general shall begin suit to oust it.

Further, it is provided that the act shall not be a repeal of any other acts of the legislature, but that the penalties which it proposes shall be cumulative.

PERQUISITE FIENDS ARE FOILED

Banker Austin Blocks House Raids on Supplies by Spending Little Time in Capital.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Representative Henry Austin, the Oak Park banker, who is chairman of the house contingent expense committee, again has proved himself a Napoleon of finance and a master of tactics. A number of statesmen had designs this morning of making inroads on the supplies and etceteras which come under the general title of perquisites and belong to those who can get them.

These designs really came into being last night, when a search was begun for Banker Austin to secure his approval and his signature to such orders as were necessary. The search was continued this morning, but to no purpose.

Austin, clearly seeing that the more he is in Springfield the more statesmen will be tempted to endeavor to get things from him, has made a practice of coming down on Tuesday and departing Wednesday night. These tactics were discovered this morning.

Much perturbation results. A bright mind has evolved a plan whereby the situation may be saved by the appointment of a "vice chairman of the contingent expense committee," who will be authorized to act when Austin is not on the scene.

APPOINTMENTS NOT APPROVED.

Senate Postpones Consideration of Gov. Deneen's Nominees—May Be a Fight on Eckhart.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Gov. Deneen's recess appointments have gone over until next week for confirmation by the senate. The reason assigned for this delay, and probably the correct one, is that there were but two more than a majority present in the upper house this morning and it was considered wise to delay until a larger number was present.

At the same time it is said that Senator Homer Galpin of Chicago, who has been attacked for holding down this legislative position in addition to his office as chief clerk of the Municipal courts, desires to have things to say regarding B. A. Eckhart, who is appointed to the railroad and warehouse commission, while president of the west park board.

Mr. Galpin and Mr. Eckhart are from the same political division, and it is said the former desires to see what can be done towards securing Mr. Eckhart's retirement from the park board before his appointment to the railroad commission is confirmed.

CORRECT DRAFT OF CHARTER.

Steering Committee of Convention Reported to Have Started Radical Changes in Bill.

The steering committee of the new charter convention is holding nightly sessions for correcting the draft of the charter so far as it has been completed. The arrival in Chicago last night of State Representatives J. M. Kittleman and D. E. Shanahan, both of whom are members of the steering committee, gave rise to a report that some radical changes were being made in the charter. The representatives called at the charter offices, but did not attend the meeting of the subcommittee, although invited. The primary law and the civil service law will be included in the charter, as a matter of course. In all cases where laws or parts of laws have not been changed they will be reenacted and form a part of the charter.

STATE WILL RIGHT INSURANCE EVILS

Twelve Bills to Regulate Business of Risk Firms Are Introduced.

CARRY OUT DENEEN IDEA.

Measures Drawn Up by Man Appointed to Study Best Laws on the Subject.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Insurance bills, covering reforms which Gov. Deneen desires to accomplish in the regulation of state insurance companies, were introduced in the house today. They were drawn by O. B. Ryon, who was appointed by the governor to study the present laws and the laws of other states with a view to preparing remedial bills.

Twelve measures carry the changes proposed. They were introduced by various members of the house to whom they had been given and were sent to the insurance commission. They are as follows:

Bill relating to the transaction of the business of life insurance in the state and regulating the provisions and conditions to be contained in the policies of the life insurance companies organized under the laws of this state or doing business herein. This prescribes standard provisions and standard prohibitions for all life insurance policies issued in this state and is drawn along the lines recommended in a report of the committee of fifteen appointed at the Chicago conference in February, and which finally was reported at a meeting in Chicago in November last.

Forbids Misrepresentation by Agents.

Bill prohibiting misrepresentation by the life insurance companies. This measure provides that no officer, agent, or director of any life insurance company shall issue or circulate a false or misleading statement or circular or promise any special advantage not contained in the contract nor any dividend not provided for in the policy, with a penalty in the shape of a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100.

Bill prohibiting political contributions by the life insurance companies and making officers personally responsible if such contributions are made.

Bill relating to the payment of salaries by life insurance companies, providing that no domestic life insurance company shall pay a salary or compensation to any officer or agent of more than $5,000 a year unless such payment shall first be authorized by a vote of the board of directors, and providing other limitations upon salary and expenses.

Solicitors Agents of Company.

Bill defining the status of persons soliciting life insurance in this state, making a person who solicits an application for insurance, in case of any contest, an agent of the company and not of the assured.

Bill regulating the disbursement of life insurance companies and providing that, for all distributions of $100 or more, a voucher shall be taken, signed by person receiving it.

Bill requiring an annual apportionment, an accounting of the surplus of the life insurance companies, and the maintenance of a contingent reserve by such companies.

Bill creating the office of fire marshal, assistant fire marshal, and two chief deputies. This bill provides that the fire marshal shall select additional deputies and such office force as may be necessary, prescribes his duties in detail, and supports the office by a tax of one-fourth of 1 per cent upon the gross premiums of the fire insurance companies doing business in Illinois.

To Regulate Fraternal Orders.

Bill regulating the business of the fire insurance done in this state by associations, partnerships, firms, or individuals. The purpose of this bill is to regulate Lloyd's and the individual underwriters not now coming under supervision of the state department.

Bill amending the law in relation to fraternal beneficiary societies, providing for a biennial examination of all fraternal societies doing business in Illinois under the direction of the insurance department and the publication of an annual statement of all such societies within thirty days after the examination is made.

Bill regulating the consolidation or reinsurance of fraternal beneficiary societies and prescribing the conditions upon which reinsurance or consolidation may be effected.

Bill amending the act governing the fraternal beneficiary societies and prescribing that every such society doing business in this state on or before Jan. 1, 1908, shall create and thereafter maintain a contingency reserve equal to the average death loss for three months and at least equal to the face of the largest certificate issued by such society. Also providing that the mortuary funds shall not be used for expenses.

PLEADS FOR HARBOR BILL.

BURTON THINKS GOVERNMENT'S POLICY IS NIGGARDLY.

Asserts That $490,000,000 Has Been Appropriated for Navy in Last Five Years, or More than Waterways Have Received in a Century—Committee's Omission of Provision for Illinois Ship Canal Declared Due to Combination of East and South.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—The river and harbor appropriation bill occupied practically all the time of the house today. The debate was inaugurated by Mr. Burton of Ohio, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee. Mr. Burton said that during the last five years the navy had alone received a total of $490,000,000, almost as much in five years as rivers and harbors had received during the entire 118 years of our national life.

"Is that a square deal?" he asked. "I do not think so and I am convinced that this house does not think so.

"The policy of the government in the past," emphatically declared Mr. Burton, "has been niggardly and parsimonious in the extreme." He cited numerous instances to bear out his assertion.

Blow at Illinois Canal.

Representative Bartholdt of Missouri, one of the champions of a fourteen foot channel between St. Louis and Chicago, which the committee refused to include in the bill, charged that the committee under the influence of its chairman, Mr. Burton, had unfairly discriminated against that project in favor of a rival route from the lakes to the Mississippi by way of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie canal and the Ohio. Mr. Bartholdt asserted that there was a combination of the east and south in the committee against the middle west.

Snapp to Offer Amendment.

Mr. Snapp of Illinois gave notice of an amendment he would offer at the proper time providing for an appropriation for an increase of six feet over the Miter sills of the Chicago sanitary ship canal to the mouth of the Illinois river, if full advantage is to be taken of an increased discharge of water from Lake Michigan. He said that scant consideration had been given by the committee to the subject because of its supposed newness, when as a matter of fact it was not a new conception, but, on the contrary, had been uppermost in the minds of many for years, and the necessity for the construction of an improved waterway from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi has for generations been the settled policy of the state of Illinois.

No Reflection on Burton.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Congressman Burton telegraphed to Speaker Shurtleff today to inquire if it were true that the Illinois legislature passed resolutions declaring him to be personally interested in certain schemes which are scheduled for large appropriations in the harbor bill. Thanks to Senator Berry, Mr. Shurtleff was able to reply that no such resolution was passed. It was adopted by the house and sent over to the senate, where Mr. Berry called a halt on that portion reflecting on Mr. Burton's fitness to hold his chairmanship and questioning his motives. In this shape they were adopted by the senate and sent back to the house, which concurred. The resolutions originally came from the Missouri legislature and were adopted hurriedly by the house.

FIRES BULLET INTO BRAIN DURING A CONVERSATION.

John R. Shaw, 1268 West Adams street, an employé of Grommes & Ulrich, liquor dealers, shot himself through the head last night while sitting behind the prescription case in E. E. Foster's drug store at Sacramento avenue and West Madison street. Despondency is believed to have been responsible for his suicide.

Straw, who was 45 years old, entered the store at 9:30, and, going behind the prescription case, chatted with the druggist, with whom he was acquainted. He talked naturally. A customer entered and Mr. Foster went to the front of the store. Then he heard a shot. He ran behind the prescription case and found Straw had committed suicide.

Dr. W. L. Callaway, Sacramento and Warren avenues, was called, but he arrived too late to be of any assistance. He said Straw had died instantly. Search revealed a note addressed to the druggist which read:

Please don't notify my family until morning.

Train Breaks Bridge; One Dead.

Sedalia, Mo., Jan. 31.—In the wreck of a freight train on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad today near Deerfield, Mo., in which thirteen cars went through a bridge, Walter Connelly of Pilot Grove was killed.

THE "Novent" glove-fitting petticoat, with jersey top and elastic waistband, falls smoothly over figure without drawing-strings or gathers. Made without vent, buttons or hooks and eyes. Entirely eliminates disfiguring fullness of overlapping garments and the bunched discomfort of ordinary petticoats. Outer dress measurements are diminished because of its snug fit, and the beauty of contour is accentuated.

Does not pull or work up; therefore, cannot retard freedom of motion, as other petticoats do. Practical, durable, shapely. New York's most fashionable dressmakers will fit over no other.

With lustrous Satine flounce, $1.50; rustling Taffena flounce, $2.50; black Taffeta silk flounce, $5.00. Other prices above and between. At good stores everywhere.

We will not sell anybody an Edison Business Phonograph until that man is convinced that the Edison Commercial System is better than his present one. We are more interested in proving to the business world that the Edison Phonograph is a necessary adjunct to business machinery than we are in selling any particular machine or set of machines. We realize that the Edison Business Phonograph is going to occupy as important a place in the machinery of an office as the typewriter does now and all we ask is an opportunity to show the business man how it works and what it will do. Whether he buys or not is incidental. All we ask now is his interest.

If you wish to find out more about the Edison Phonograph, it is only necessary to telephone or drop a line to the office below, the only place in Chicago from which the Edison Commercial System is installed.

PAPER TRUST NEXT ON FEDERAL GRILL

EFFECT OF THE TARIFF.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Once more the paper combinations of the country are to be placed upon the grill by the federal government. The judiciary committee of the house will report favorably the resolution of Representative Williams directing the commissioner of corporations to make a thorough investigation of these concerns.

The investigation will not only affect newspapers which pay $26,000,000 annually for the paper they consume, but book publishers and boxboard, writing, and other paper manufacturers who consume at least $71,000,000 worth of paper.

The General Paper company of Chicago, which was a selling corporation, organized under the laws of the state of Illinois, and the mills controlled by it, scattered among Illinois and other paper making states of the west, was dissolved some months ago as a result of judicial proceedings instituted in Minnesota. The institution of the suit was followed by a reduction in the price of paper to newspapers by 30 per cent, according to information given to the attorney general. Now the department of justice has been informed the price of paper has gone up again and that a new combination or association has been organized which takes the place of the trust declared unlawful. In this connection the attention of the authorities has been called to the report of the incorporation of the Kimberly-Clark company by the secretary of the state of Wisconsin. The officers of this company were the officers of the old trust.

Combine to Control Prices.

The investigation which the government made into the General Paper company disclosed a working arrangement between it and the International Paper company and the Great Northern Paper company. Complaint was made that all the paper mills of the country precipitated a panic in prices and in the supply four years ago by closing their mills; that the producers of sulphite pulp were in a combination to control the price of that important factor in paper production; that in all other branches of the trade in writing, book paper, and card board similar combinations had been organized.

The allegation has been made that the paper trusts now in existence sell their product at a lower price abroad than they do at home. There is no possible chance of competition because of the methods pursued by the paper combinations and because it is claimed that under conditions prevailing in the United States it would take almost two and one-half years to develop water power and erect pulp mills, sulphite plants, and paper mills combined.

Representations have been made to congress that if the tariff on wood pulp, which amounts to $1.67 per ton, and on paper for newspaper printing, which is $6 per ton, should be removed there would be no difficulty in bringing about the erection of mills in six months which would entirely relieve the situation. The pulp in this case would come from Canada, and it is declared if it were available there would be paper plants operating all along the New England and lake borders of the west, which would destroy the existing combinations.

It appears, however, that the International Paper company has had the Canadian as well as the home situation in mind for some time. It has possession of 1,600 square miles of woodland in the United States and controls 2,000 square miles in Canada. The International Paper company opposed the movement for Canadian reciprocity, which resulted in reprisals from Canada, two provinces either prohibiting the export of any logs cut from crown lands or imposing a high license fee upon all logs cut for American use. The chief of the bureau of forestry of the American department of agriculture declares that the American forests cannot long suffice to supply the increasing demand for spruce timber.

Tariff Must Stay.

But there is not the slightest prospect of the tariff on pulp or paper being removed until 1909. That there will be at least a modification of these duties, if not their removal, is not doubted, but whatever action is taken will be taken when the general subject of tariff revision is considered. The president has determined to leave the tariff alone, and his successor must handle it, perhaps during an extra session to be called immediately after his inauguration.

So far as the paper companies alleged to be in combination are concerned, they deny emphatically they have any agreement whatsoever, or that there exists any territorial division. Indeed, from their claim, it would seem there prevails a most active competition in every branch of the paper business.

The investigation of the paper situation can be conducted by the commissioner of corporations coincidentally with that which he has been directed to make into the lumber situation. The pulp now used for the manufacture of paper is obtained from spruce and poplar, which are the only kinds of wood at present suitable for use by the processes so far perfected for treatment. But manufacturers say the time may come when paper will be made out of cotton wood, which grows along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, and the pine trees of the south.

Inquiry to Be Thorough.

Commissioner Garfield will investigate every phase, of course, of both the lumber and paper situations, and if he should develop that combinations exist in the two industries in violation of the anti-trust law, the facts will be certified to the attorney general for his action. Mr. Garfield will not make any reports to congress at this session on any of the investigations he has been making, although the inquiry into the tobacco trust and the relation of waterways to other methods of transportation are practically completed.

These reports will be presented to congress at the beginning of the next session. At about the same time there will be transmitted a report on the steel industry. A rumor was in circulation in Wall street today that the steel report had been completed and was most favorable to the trust. This rumor had no foundation save in the minds of men who were bulling the market.

been that in many cases they are actually forced to abandon permanent building contemplated and to content themselves only with such improvements as can be paid for with money already raised or actually in sight.

Roads like the Atchison, which is just now authorizing a stock and bond issue, may find they have entered into a race for capital too late. If so, the prosperity of the country will force the railroads to sit down quietly, cancel their arrangements for improvements, and wait until the financial clouds roll by.

Administration Helpless to Aid.

There is apparently nothing the administration can do to better the situation. Chairman Knapp, acting under the personal direction of President Roosevelt, has exerted himself to break the car shortage in the northwest, at least to the exent of securing proper distribution of coal to settlers in that section.

This car shortage, however, will continue, railroad men say, and will surely grow worse, whether there are blizzards or not. The shortage of coal in winter will be followed by a shortage of ice in summer, and present prospects are that it will be next to impossible to move next fall's crop of wheat to the mills or to move flour from the mills to the seaboard with anything like satisfactory promptness. The southern railroads are in worse shape than those of the north.

President to Reassure Foreigners.

President Roosevelt's intended letter to the interstate commerce commission will have the effect it is intended for—that is, to reassure people abroad as to the stability of investments in American railroads. The difficulty is, however, that the high money rate is the result not so much of distrust as of the competition of the railroads themselves for necessary new capital. They must adjust this among themselves in some way, because the demands upon the money centers of the world have become greater than those centers can supply.

Apparently the prosperity in the United States has caused a condition where there is a legitimate field for investment many times in excess of the money which can be obtained for investment. This is not a speculative movement, according to best reports here, but is a new and unexpected pinch as the direct result of the redundant prosperity of the country.

Harder Times Would Be Help.

It is a funny condition, but it is unquestionably true that the railroads would have a better chance if the country were less prosperous for a little while. With smaller crops and a lessened output of manufactured articles the demand for increased railroad facilities would not be so threatening, railroads would not be in such a hurry to make improvements, they would not all be clamoring for money at the same time, interest rates would go down, and new railroad securities within reasonable limits could be readily marketed.

At the present time, however, the railroads find themselves in a condition where they cannot increase their profits except by the use of more capital, and they cannot get that capital on a basis which would be profitable to them. They must, therefore, wait for an easier money market, which, of course, will come when the railroads stop bidding against each other for cash.

Shaw Expected to Keep Hands Off.

There is not as yet any necessity for interference by the secretary of the treasury with the money market. There is a lot of money on deposit with banks which is nominally subject to recall about this time. It is likely the secretary may not ask for it on account of prevailing conditions. He could, if he wished, deposit a little bit more without cramping the treasury in any way.

The surplus of receipts over expenditures since July 1 now amounts to about $32,000,000. It is growing every day, but Uncle Sam cannot deposit money enough in banks even to make a beginning to supply the demands being made by the great trunk lines. They really ask for more money this year than would pay off the bonded indebtedness of the United States, and if they follow the plans outlined by J. J. Hill and others they will keep up that gait for the next five or ten years.

It is no wonder they find it a hard job to get cash enough, because they need almost immediately more than the entire revenue of the United States government for a whole year.

CULLOM GETS HIS CREDENTIALS

B. M. Chiperfield Arrives in Washington with Papers Showing Certificate of U. S. Senator's Election.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Representative Chiperfield, who was designated by the Illinois legislature to bring to Senator Cullom his credentials as its representative in the senate for another term of six years, discharged his duty today. He arrived at Mr. Cullom's office at noon and presented him with a handsomely engrossed copy of his credentials. He delivered other copies to Vice President Fairbanks and to Senator Hopkins. The latter will rise in the senate in the course of a few days and formally present the credentials of his senior colleague.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—As the result of a conference at the department of justice today it was decided to take steps to put an end to the operations of the Honduras National Lottery company in this country. Assistant Attorney General Cooley tonight announced that indictments would at once be returned against agents and employés of the company in Boston, Mass.; Mobile, Ala.; and Wilmington, Del., as a result of recent raids in these cities, in which a large number of the lottery tickets were seized and agents of the company arrested.

GENERAL ALGER'S WILL FILED.

Widow and Five Children Divide All but $20,000 of the Late United States Senator's Fortune.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 31.—The will of the late Senator R. A. Alger, filed this afternoon in the Probate court, leaves all of his estate excepting $20,000 to his widow and five children, R. A. Alger Jr., Capt. F. M. Alger, Mrs. Caroline A. Sheldon of Detroit, Mrs. Fay A. Bailey and Mrs. Frances A. Pike of Chicago.

Three local institutions are left a total of $5,000; the home of the friendless, $2,000; Woman's hospital, $2,000; and Thompson home for aged ladies, $1,000. James C. McCaul, associated for many years with the senator in Alger, Smith & Co., and one of the executors of the will, is left $5,000.

The sum of $10,000 is left to the senator's brother, Charles M. Alger of Hannibal, Mo. Any debts that may be due the estate from Charles M. Alger are canceled.

Mrs. Alger is then given one-third of all the real and personal property and the residue equally divided among the five children. Mrs. Bailey is not to be given her portion of the estate until she is 65 years old, a local trust company to hold it and pay her the income.

SEES A DICTATOR IN THE PRESIDENT

Says People Won't Tolerate Interference with Congress or Criticism of Judges.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Senator Rayner of Maryland, in a speech full of satire and bitterness, in the senate today criticised President Roosevelt as a "dictator" and a usurper. Among other things, he accused the president of were:

Criticism of the judiciary.

Intrusion upon the rights of the states.

Roosevelt's Honest Impression.

Before reviewing the specific actions of the president, which met his criticism, Mr. Rayner remarked "the president is laboring under the honest impression that he is responsible to the country for the legislation of congress."

The first instance of "conflict" between the executive and legislative functions, Mr. Rayner said, was in the Santo Domingo affair, in which he said "the president has evidently made his own treaty." Without discussing whether the treaty was right, he said "the charge that I make is that he has accomplished this in violation of the constitution. The treaty has been practically carried into effect without consulting the senate."

Mr. Rayner turned his attention to the judiciary, announcing his belief that this branch of the government ought to be entirely free from executive interference. "It is therefore my judgment," he added, "the criticism by the president of Judge Humphrey with reference to his decision in the case known as the meat packers' case in the Illinois courts was uncalled for and an invasion of his judicial prerogatives. We cannot tolerate such intrusion on the rights of the courts."

Mr. Rayner then pronounced his disapproval of the president for his "intrusion" upon the states, taking for example the note of the president to Gov. Guild of Massachusetts, in which the course of the governor was commended in refusing to interfere in the carrying out of the death sentence against Charles L. Tucker.

While admitting that no technical violation of any provision of the constitution was involved, Mr. Rayner contended that it was a practical announcement that the acts of state officials were subject to the approval or displeasure of the federal government.

Dictating to Congress.

The turbulent times in the senate attendant on the passage of the railroad rate bill next were alluded to by Mr. Rayner. "The president came into the game early," he began, and then added: "We realize that no fight is thoroughly equipped upon this floor unless the president is in it. He longs for a fight as the hart panteth after the water brooks. It was a match to the finish between the senior senator from Rhode Island (Aldrich) and the president."

The most wonderful exhibition of the president's power in congress Mr. Rayner believed to have been at the time of legislating for the sea level canal. After describing this fight he remarked: "It shows how the dominating spirit of the president can ride the whirlwind when he has made up his mind to legislate, and how in absolute defiance of the laws of nature he can produce a senatorial vacuum beneath the sweep of his mighty genius."

The Schley case was the next topic reviewed by Mr. Rayner. He predicted that it yet would be reopened.

Favors "Unwritten Constitution."

The result of the president's construction of his prerogatives, Mr. Rayner continued, had raised a new school of scribes, who had commenced to edit a revised edition of the constitution called "the unwritten constitution." The president is the prophet of this new creed, the Messiah of this strange hallucination. "But," he added, "one thing he has no right to do, and that is to use the vast public patronage at his disposal to compel obedience to his views.

"Another thing he has no right to do, and that is to make compacts with the speaker of the house of representatives or its committees to accomplish the legislation that he desires, or prevent legislation.

"And still another thing he has no right to do, and that is beyond his messages, in which he is given the right at any time to suggest any measure he may deem proper or necessary, to interfere with legislation and to force congress either to adopt his recommendations, or if it rejects them to bring about a breach between the legislative and executive departments that is detrimental to the best interests of the country; that constitutes an assumption of dictatorial power which the people of this republic, in the course of time, will not submit to."

Lodge Defends Roosevelt.

Senator Lodge immediately took the floor in the senate at the conclusion of Mr. Rayner's speech. He said he did not intend to enter into any defense of the president, nor was one necessary, for he had rarely heard a higher tribute to that official than Mr. Rayner's comments. He said he shared Mr. Rayner's view that the executive should not interfere with the legislative branch of the government. He went a little farther. His view was that the legislative ought not to interfere with the executive. He thought the Santo Domingo illustration of Mr. Rayner unfortunate. A treaty on that subject was pending before the senate, "and senators who incline to mix politics with our foreign relations can, perhaps, explain better than I why that treaty remains unacted upon," he said.

Mr. Heyburn continued his attack upon the president's land policy. He asserted that the creation of forest reserves had raised the price of wood for fuel in his state 75 per cent and the price of lumber generally from $2 to $5 a thousand feet. He said 18,000,000 acres of land in Idaho had been converted into forest reserves. He could make no explanation of the policy being pursued, unless it was "greed of power."

FAMINE IN FREIGHT CARS; RAILROADS SEEK RELIEF.

Chicago Lines Struggle Against Tense Situation with Assistance of Interstate Commerce Commission.

A struggle to relieve the freight car situation is now being carried on by the heads of the operating departments of Chicago railways in connection with assistance rendered by the interstate commerce commission.

Reports from St. Paul, Minneapolis, and other Minnesota transfer points yesterday showed more than 2,500 cars there awaiting delivery to the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and the Soo line, and those lines have notified all connections that they cannot accept any kind of freight except on condition that it be subject to unusual delay. It is reported that there is little prospect of relief, and some of the Chicago roads are holding cars in Chicago to prevent further massing at St. Paul.

The traffic managers of some of the western lines are considering the abolition of the reconsignment privilege on grain in order to make its delivery certain, and so release the car. Others are considering the placing of reconsignment charges on all cars, making the charge so high that it will discourage the custom. The recent reëstablishment of the $2 reconsignment charge on grain by the Santa Fé is taken by many of the grain men to be an effort on the part of the railroad company to force the grain into the elevators on the line of the Santa Fé.

So far none of the western lines have followed the lead of the Santa Fé, but it is known that some of them are seriously considering such action. The action of E. B. Boyd, manager of the transportation department, Chicago board of trade, in filing a protest with the Santa Fé against the reëstablishment of the consignment charge may have the effect of causing the others to withhold action pending the outcome of the Santa Fé case.

The southeastern lines, with the consent of the interstate commerce commission, have agreed to withhold the advance of 25 cents a ton on pig iron to the Ohio river, which was effective today, until March 1, and an effort is being made to get the lines north of the Ohio river to take similar action in reference to the advance of 20 cents a ton to Chicago, which was also to become effective.

THOUSANDS OF BOYS AND GIRLS WILL COME WITH THEM—
THIS WILL BE A GREAT EVENT FOR CHICAGO.
THIS IS DONE TO COMFORT YOU ALL.
THIS WILL INDEED PLEASE "TOM."
This will give that GREATEST of all "shoemakers," HAMILTON BROWN SHOE CO. of St. Louis, a grand start towards selling over FIFTEEN MILLIONS a year in shoes. This is the company that makes those well known "AMERICAN LADY" and "AMERICAN GENTLEMAN" shoes you have seen advertised so much in the "Saturday Evening Post" and such. The shoes that many of you would buy if given an opportunity.
My reasons for buying HAMILTON BROWN SHOE CO.'S line of shoes are—I will not only have shoes to sell at 4.00 and 5.00 as good as can be made, but also the strongest line I know of to sell at 2.50 and 3.00. By selling HAMILTON BROWN SHOE CO.'S shoes I will more than double my sales in men's shoes.
TO THE WOMEN FOLKS OF CHICAGO:—I RESPECT YOU ALL. MY GOOD OLD MOTHER MUST HAVE BEEN A WOMAN. I then can sell you not only your shoes but your children's shoes, I invited them all. They have accepted. I want to meet our Chicago women folks "face to face." If I hurt your feelings by selling you or yours a pair of shoes that hurt your feet bring them back to me. I will not look cross!
Until February 15th I will, to close out my shoe stock on hand, sell 4.00 shoes at 2.95, 3.50 shoes at 2.65, 3.00 shoes at 2.35.

DISPUTES REPORT OF VOTERS' LEAGUE

W. G. Beale Demands Inquiry Into Merits of Attack on Electric Ordinance.

DECLARES ACT UNJUST.

Suggests Names of Four Men to Serve on Proposed Investigating Committee.

Investigation of the recent report of the Municipal Voters' league scoring the gas, oil, and electric light committee of the city council, and criticising the ordinance of the Chicago Edison and Commonwealth Electric companies was demanded yesterday by Attorney William G. Beale in a signed letter addressed to Dr. Henry B. Favill and George C. Sikes, respectively president and secretary of the league. Mr. Beale set forth that the report of the league is unjust and suggested five names for a committee to investigate the merits of the report and of the ordinance.

The men suggested for the committee which Mr. Beale asked for are:

Charles R. Crane, Edgar A. Bancroft,
Walter L. Fisher.

Dr. Favill received Mr. Beale's spirited letter last night and after reading it stated that it will be referred to the executive committee of the Municipal Voters' league, probably today. He appeared to appreciate that Mr. Beale is in earnest in his attempt to force the league to eat its words.

Cites Part Objected To.

The first part of Mr. Beale's letter cites a long extract from the report to which he objects. Some of the quotations follow:

"The ability shown by certain committees, particularly that on local transportation, has been conspicuous, but the work and general efficiency of some of the other important council committees, notably that on gas, oil, and electric light, must be criticised.

"For several years the work of the last named committee has been deteriorating. During the last year its inefficiency was shown by its handling of the electric light ordinance.

"The Commonwealth Electric ordinance is one of the notorious franchise grants put through in the old 'boodle' days. If in an ordinance of this nature the council is to remedy such shortcomings as may be unfavorable to the company, it must also at the same time remedy such defects as are detrimental to the public. The league interprets the vote on the question of passing this ordinance over the mayor's veto as a test of capacity to perceive and protect public rights and public interests."

Comments on Report.

In the body of the letter Mr. Beale comments as follows:

"I assume that the league's executive committee does not mean to convey the impression that it considers an alderman's support of a mayor's veto to be generally a test of capacity to perceive and protect public rights and public interests.'

"If that were so it would be suggestive to think of the committee's future attitude toward the aldermen who will probably vote to override the present mayor's veto of the pending traction ordinances, and it would perhaps go far to justify the belief, which seems to be increasingly prevalent among substantial business men of this community, that the league has become too much 'dominated' by the more radical and possibly more active portion of its membership, and has outlived its usefulness.

"I take it that what the committee meant was merely to criticise the particular electric light ordinance referred to, and the aldermen favoring it, and to justify the mayor's veto on the ground that the ordinance was palpably and notoriously bad and injurious to the public interest. I take it also that the league is interested in removing suspicion of its own radicalism.

Interest on Other Side.

"Let me say that the gentlemen in charge of the affairs of the Chicago Edison company and of the Commonwealth Electric company are just as much interested in the welfare of this city—and possibly just as regardful of it—as the members of the executive committee of the Municipal Voters' league. They have a right to resent, as I have a right to resent, the imputation that we were seeking from the city council an ordinance manifestly bad and improper. There is more at issue than merely the quality of a dead ordinance, which, as a matter of fact, was not sought by the lighting companies at all. Neither the Edison company nor the Commonwealth company sought the passage of any ordinance, or has desired the passage of any, and neither of them wishes or needs any ordinance now. The alleged defects in their existing ordinances are mostly trivial and none are troublesome.

"I know you and some other gentlemen connected with the league's executive committee, as I have already stated publicly, too well to think of questioning the motives of any of you. But I do attack the report. I assert positively that the position taken in it with respect to the ordinance and the action of the council committee, and of the aldermen who voted for the ordinance, is a mistaken one, and is unfair and unjust to those upon whom it reflects.

Asks Public Correction.

"It is just as much founded upon misinformation and misunderstanding as the mayor's veto was. I ask you to afford an opportunity for its appropriate public correction. It is not necessary to claim that the ordinance was beyond all possible criticism. Things human seldom are beyond criticism. Personally I believe that the compromise it embodied was far better for the community than for the companies, but for my present purposes I need not go as far as that.

"If the ordinance was a fairly debatable one, if it was one about which honest, intelligent, and well informed men could reasonably differ, and if it seemed to be the best thing by way of compromise which the city could fairly get without undesirable litigation, then I say that the position and the report of the league's executive committee are unwarranted. That position inevitably implies that there is only one side to the matter. This I deny, and, on the contrary, I insist emphatically that there was another side at least equally or more strong, and that anybody intelligently and industriously investigating below the surface cannot help finding it.

Wants Show for Justice.

"I now respectfully ask that the league's executive committee have the fairness and the moral courage to submit the justice and propriety of its published report, so far as concerns this ordinance and the action of aldermen about it, to an examination and public report by a number of gentlemen in whose judgment the executive committee ought to have entire confidence—namely: Messrs. Victor F. Lawson, Charles R. Crane, Walter L. Fisher, Frank H. Scott, and Edgar A. Bancroft. Several of these gentlemen are former presidents of the league. All of them have the public's confidence, I believe, as they have my own, and none of them, so far as I know, has any interest in the lighting companies.

"It is a part of this request that the lawyers among the gentlemen named shall be asked to examine thoroughly and professionally the merits of the ordinance and of the league's report, hearing me and anybody else who may wish to be heard, and that the gentlemen named, or as many of them as are willing to serve, be asked to make a speedy and public report based upon the facts and legal conclusions ascertained. If any of the gentlemen are unwilling to serve so that their numbers become unreasonably reduced, I will undertake to agree with you upon others equally acceptable to take their places. I further agree to reimburse the executive committee for all expenditures which it may incur in obtaining the investigation and report."

Dr. Favill Withholds Opinion.

"I do not think it would be proper for me to make any personal observations on the letter," said Dr. Favill after reading it. "It is purely a business matter."

QUICK HALT FOR BARTZEN

COUNCIL COMMITTEE STOPS THE WRECKING OF A BUILDING.

Commissioner Sets Men at Work to Destroy Addition to Structure Said to Have Been Made Under Altered Permit, but Aldermen Interfere Because of Consideration of Special Order to Allow Changes—Proposed Elevator Ordinance Not Approved.

The speed and warmth with which Building Commissioner Peter Bartzen sets about to compass a work of destructiveness when an infraction of the building laws have been detected was exemplified again yesterday when he started to take a man's building to pieces with the aid of a wrecking crew from the fire department while the building committee of the city council was considering a measure to permit the building to stand.

At the minute that a subcommittee of aldermen was being appointed to examine the building pickaxes and sledges were demolishing the fourth floor of the establishment of M. Weinberg, 1004 Milwaukee avenue, and Mr. Weinberg was telephoning desperately in an effort to stop the destroyers.

Permit Altered, Bartzen Says.

Weinberg is a tea and coffee merchant. He secured a permit twenty years ago to erect a four story building at the place mentioned, but only three stories were completed. The fourth floor was left as a loft.

A year ago Weinberg asked Architect Robert C. Berlin to prepare plans for changing the loft into flats. Mr. Berlin said the present building ordinances would not permit of such work being done on the fourth floor, but later David Klafter agreed to secure a permit.

Klafter is to be tried before Municipal Judge Beitler this morning on charges of practicing as an architect without a license. It is charged that he secured an alteration permit for the third floor about a year ago and that the permit was changed to read "fourth floor" after he obtained it.

Work of Wreckers Halted.

Commissioner Bartzen first learned of the alterations when Weinberg brought him samples of plaster, etc., for examination. He called on Fire Chief Horan to send out a wrecking crew to tear out the flats, and the crew started post haste. Meanwhile Ald. Schermann had asked the building committee to recommend a council order to permit the work to stand, and to do it speedily. The committee appointed Ald. Hahne, Ald. Smith, and Ald. Reese to visit the place and make a report.

Engineer Cordell of the building department called up Fire Chief Horan to ask him to stop the wreckers, and the chief was reported to have returned a saucy answer, but the wreckers were stopped after a partition had been torn down and much new plaster had fallen.

Elevator Ordinance Is Filed.

The committee voted to place on file an ordinance recommending that plunger elevators and sidewalk lifts be exempted from the requirements of the ordinance regarding safety devices. For technical reasons it had been held that plunger elevators are not suitable for attaching the type of safety devices required by law.

An amendment to the building code was recommended to permit the resumption of building the English Lutheran church at Le Moyne and Hoyne avenues. It had been explained that the Sunday school room and the auditorium would not be used at the same time for seating people.

Two minor amendments to the building ordinances in respect to fire escapes and booths were recommended for passage. One ordinance under consideration simply defines the duties of subordinates in the building commissioner's office.

MAJESTIC THEATER TICKETS SOLD AT EXCESSIVE PRICES.

Peoria Man Is Compelled to Pay 50 Cents Premium to Speculator to Secure Seat on the Main Floor.

An illustration of the theater ticket speculating evil from which the Chicago play going public has suffered so long and which the city council aimed to stamp out through the passage of the ordinance which goes into effect on Feb. 9, was furnished last night by C. A. Nelson of Peoria, a guest at the Grand Pacific hotel.

Mr. Nelson decided to go to the Majestic theater for the evening and when he tried to buy tickets at the theater at 5:30 o'clock p. m. he was told there were no seats to be had in front of the twenty-third row. He went back to the hotel and was told he could get seats at Chapin & Gore's buffet in the Majestic theater block. He went there and 75 cent seats in row M, the thirteenth, were offered to him for $1 each.

Deciding not to take these seats he was told to go to Lederer's ticket office in the Grand Pacific hotel lobby. The girl in charge immediately telephoned to the theater for seats, as she had none in the office. Nelson bought one ticket for $1.25, or at a premium of 50 cents.

"We have to give the theater half for the premium," the girl explained.

A Reasonable Plea For the Stomach

If Your Stomach Is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work—Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try?

Not with drugs but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion, and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

London, 9th Aug., 1905.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets [which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose], manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., Temple Chambers, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adapted for the purpose for which they are intended.

[Signed] John R. Brooke, F. I. C., F. C. S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package or send to us direct for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. F. A. Stuart Co., 64 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

BEGIN NEW TRIAL OF "CZAR" TODAY.

BALL FEARS COLLAPSE.

Aged Jurist Declines to Preside Again; Machinists Make "Slugging" Charges.

Unless serious objections are made by the defense, the second trial of "Czar" Shea probably will begin this morning before Judge Kavanagh. This was decided upon by State's Attorney Healy yesterday afternoon, following a day spent in an effort to get a judge agreeable to the state and to Attorneys Le Bosky and Cruice for the defense.

After several conferences had been held resulting in a deadlock over the question of a judge Judge Ball, who presided over the first trial, told the lawyers that he would not try the Shea case again. The jurist gave advanced age and a fear of breaking down under the strain of a second trial as his reason for declining. He has yet to sentence Albert Young, William Kelly, and Charles Schultz, who turned state's evidence.

Hoped for Judge Ball.

It had been the belief of the lawyers on both sides that in the event of being unable to agree on some other judge, Judge Ball would take the case. The jurist had only intimated that he desired to withdraw from the trial if possible, but he had not stated openly that he wished to be relieved.

State's Attorney Healy then placed the case on Judge Kavanagh's calendar. After an all morning conference Shea's lawyers told State's Attorney Healy and Assistant State's Attorney Miller that they were willing to have the case tried before either Judge Windes, Judge Pinckney, or Municipal Judge Crowe, who is sitting in the Criminal court.

An attempt was made to induce Judge Pinckney to hear the case, but he declined, and Judge Windes was crowded with work. The state declined transferring the case to the Municipal court. Mr. Healy said that to try the case in the Municipal court would lessen the dignity of the trial.

State's Attorney Healy also suggested that each side submit the names of six judges for making a selection, but this was not agreeable to the defense.

"The trial will begin in the morning before Judge Kavanagh unless the other side objects," said Assistant State's Attorney Miller. "We are ready to go ahead with selecting a new jury the moment the defense makes up its mind on a judge."

Allege Slugging Was Employed.

Two affidavits have been obtained by officials of the machinists' union showing that officials of the Metal Trades association are backing "sluggers" hired to slug union pickets at the plant of the Woods Motor Vehicle company, Twenty-fifth street and Calumet avenue.

A strike has been in progress at the plant for some time, and recently several union men have been slugged. The affidavits claim that the alleged sluggers were hired by Matt Kline and D. A. Pecoy, and that the same men were sent to Toledo, O., several weeks ago to slug union pickets at the plant of the Pope Motor Car company. The affidavits are dated Dec. 27. Officials of the union say they will take legal action against the officers of the Metal Trades association.

Want Better Conditions.

Resolutions were adopted by the machinists' union favoring better conditions for the machinists employed in the packing industry in Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City, and other centers. Officials of the union will try to arrange a conference with the packers some time this month, when hours, wages, and the question of overtime will be discussed.

Unionize Town of Gary.

The unionizing of the steel trust's town, Gary, Ind., will be begun this morning by the combined committees of the Building Trades' association of Chicago, and the committee appointed by the association at Hammond, Ind.

The Chicago committee went to Hammond last evening, where a conference was held. There it was decided to advance upon the town of steel mills, and urge every worker to join the union of the trade in which he is employed.

UPHOLDS COLD STORAGE RAID.

Judge Kohlsaat Sustains Ordinance Under Which City Inspectors Confiscated 47 Barrels of Poultry.

"It is clearly within the police power to protect the lives and health of the people by the seizure, condemnation, and destruction of impure and dangerous articles of food."

This declaration was made by federal Judge Kohlsaat in sustaining the city's demurrer to a bill brought by the American Cold Storage company to restrain the city from interfering with the company's business.

The court held that the ordinance is valid under which health department inspectors raided the cold storage warehouse at 109 North Canal street, on Oct. 2, 1906, and confiscated forty-seven barrels of poultry alleged to have been tainted.

"To require a regular judicial hearing, with full opportunity for the owners of the goods to be heard," the court explained, "would often defeat the purposes of the law by tying the hands of the officers intrusted with the duty of guarding the public against the sale of unwholesome food, and would be a serious menace to the lives and health of the people.

"It will be borne in mind that the ordinance calls for the seizure and destruction of only 'putrid, decayed, poisoned, and infected food.' The demurrer is, therefore, sustained and the bill dismissed for want of jurisdiction."

New Village Elects Officers.

Fox Lake, Ill., Jan. 31.—The newly incorporated village of Fox Lake held its first election today. The citizens' ticket was victorious. Harry Duncell was elected clerk. Six aldermen were named, as follows: John Brown, Conference Marble, Otto Muehricke, Cullan Ostrander, D. C. Scott, and George M. Maypole, a son of Ald. Maypole of Chicago. The mayor will be chosen by the aldermen from their number.

The same evening tourists from St. Louis come aboard and the next morning you are in Southland, where you whiz by fields of wild flowers, cotton plantations, with the mammies, uncles and pickaninnies at work and play in the sunlight until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when the train runs out on the Mobile docks and stops at the gangplank of the "Prince George."

By 6 o'clock Tuesday evening you are dropping down Mobile Bay, past the forts, out to sea, and at eight bells, when "all's well," you visit the navigating deck, discuss the course with the world-sailed captain, or talk stars and arctic regions with the mate, who's lived among the Esquimaux. Stories of the arctic make this summerlike evening the more delightful, and, in truth, the sail of Tuesday night, all day Wednesday and Wednesday night is one of the features of the Cuban trip.

Through tropical waters, "where the flying fishes play," you enter Havana harbor at sunrise Thursday. You have in store a vacation in a tropic wonderland, —the winter climate of which is almost like our June. The full pleasure of a trip abroad is yours; the strange sights; the foreign tongue; the funny manners; history, art, and a past and future fascination beyond compare. And all of this at comparatively little cost, which includes meals and berths on the steamer.

Marshall Field & Company

Our Great February Sales beginning today warrant the attention of every family in Chicago. Months of careful planning by our great buying organization, with the determination to excel our own previous efforts in providing special assortments of high-grade merchandise at special prices, have made these sales of more than ordinary significance as to both selection and economy.

Thirteenth Annual Sale of Women's Fine Kid Gloves.

A number of the best makes from other manufacturers have been combined with our high-grade Alexandre Gloves in this remarkable offering. This sale is held as usual and practically the same prices prevail as in all our previous February sales—notwithstanding the extreme scarcity of leathers of the better grades. Especial attention is directed to the remarkably low pricing in Mousquetaire Suede Gloves. First Floor.

Women's Short Gloves—Suede, pair, $1.35 and $1.65; Glace, pair, $1.50, $1.65 and $1.85.

Women's Mousquetaire Suede Gloves, according to length and quality, pair, $2, $2.50, $2.75, $3, $3.25 and upward.

Women's Mousquetaire Glace Gloves, according to length and quality, pair, $2, $2.50, $2.75, $3, $3.25, $3.75 and upward.

February Clearance Sale of Table Linen and Towelings.

After a month of the heaviest sales in the history of this section we place on sale this morning in the Basement Salesroom hundreds of desirable short lengths at reductions considerably below the January special prices. The bargains are unusually inviting in Remnants of Cream and Bleached Damask in lengths from practically 1¼ to 4 yards long—qualities from practically all regular lines.

Fine Soiled Clothes and Napkins from our Main Linen Section, in all lengths from 2 to 4 yards, and Napkins at much below regular.

Soiled Hemstitched Embroidered Scarfs, Centerpieces and Doilies; also a large assortment of Damask Lunch Cloths, mussed in handling, at great reductions from regular prices.

Misses' and Children's Coats Reduced

This morning heavy clearance reductions go into effect throughout our entire lines of Girls' Winter Coats—including many styles and materials in a wide range of colors and mixtures.

Misses' Long Coats, sizes 14, 16, and 18 years—three great collections at $4.95, $6.75, $9.75.

Unique Valentine Favors.

A great variety of the odd little novelties for Valentine favors are now ready in our Favor Section—many of them are entirely new—the best opportunities for selection are afforded. Eighth Floor.

Heart Bonbon Boxes, each, 10c, 15c, 20c & 25c.

Bow and Arrows, each, 15c; dozen, $1.50.

Bisque Cupids, each, 10c and 25c.

Bisque Bow and Arrow, each, 20c; dozen, $2.00.

Bisque Arrow & Heart, each, 15c; dozen, $1.50.

Heart Horner Pie, containing six favors, $4.50.

Special Sale Spring Silks, 38c.

25,000 yards at this price—one of the best bargains we have offered in Silks for some time. The quantities are limited in each line—they should sell quickly—early selections are recommended. Basement.

24-inch Foulards, all pure silk satin twills in colored grounds of navy, brown, cardinal, black and white polka dots, pin dots and coin dots of various sizes—splendid quality, yard, 38c.

Chiffon Poplins, beautiful bright fabric in all the best shades for evening and street wear, yard, 38c.

24-inch Crepe de Chine and heavy quality of crinkle Crepe, reduced to yard, 38c.

February Sale Men's Gloves.

Aside from the price advantages, which are of considerable importance, there is that very desirable point of quality. Only such lines are represented in our Glove Section as will give the best possible service. To this end the materials are all carefully selected. We mention three very strong values:

Parole Gloves, Pair, $1.00. Standard Gloves, Pair, $1.25. Cromwell Gloves, Pair, $1.50.

When it is desired we fit all Men's Gloves, which adds greatly to their wearing qualities.

Women's Long Silk Gloves in 12, 16 and 20 button lengths, black, white and opera shades, plain and fancy effects—range of prices, pair, $1.25 to $3.50.

Basement—Men's Street Gloves, pair, 75c and $1.00.

Infants' Wool Mittens, pair, 5c, 10c, and 15c.

Marseilles Spreads Reduced.

An after-January clearance—many of our fine imported Marseilles Spreads were mussed or soiled in this sale. Some are figured—some plain. We have marked all of them at much below the regular prices. Second Floor.

Hemmed Satin Marseilles Spreads, each, $2.35.

Fringed Satin Marseilles Spreads, $2.75.

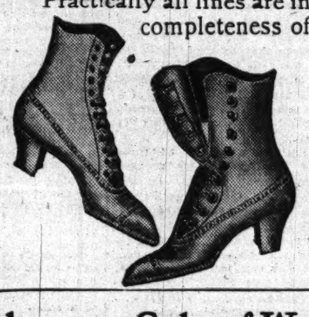

Hemmed Honey Comb Spreads, each, 90c, $1.00, $1.10, $1.25 to $2.00.

Fringed Honey Comb Spreads, each, $1.50. Basement.

Begins This Morning in the Main and Basement Sections.

Practically all lines are included. Sharp reductions have been made from regular prices. Such is the completeness of all these great stocks combined that there is scarcely a need in Shoes which cannot be immediately supplied therefrom.

Important—Owing to the growth of these sales, combined with our purpose to group allied stocks, we have transferred the main sections of the Women's and Children's Shoes to their permanent locations on the Fourth Floor, where they are established in enlarged and comfortable quarters.

February Sale of Women's Walking Skirts in Exclusive New Styles.

This is an event of importance—not alone from a price-making standpoint; great numbers of the newest and most effective plaited models it has ever been possible for us to show at any one time are included. The handsomest designs are in the exclusive stripes and checks. Voiles, Silks, Mohairs and Panamas have also been made up in a wide range of entirely new styles—mostly with straps of silk or self materials. Sixth Floor.

Another exceptional value in Panama Skirts, full plaited, side and box plaited models, $7.50.

Panama Skirts, full plaited, trimmed with straps of self material in black—special, $8.75.

Voile Skirts—four excellent styles—all differently trimmed, some with silk bands—others with bands of self material—special, $10.00.

Women's Panama Skirts, made with tucked panels—between cluster of plaits—black, blue and gray, $13.50.

Short Walking Skirts—a wide variety in the latest imported materials in checks, stripes and plaids, from $12.75 to $20.00.

February Sale of Waists: Laces, Silks and Linens.

These three lines will be strongly featured during the entire month of February. The present displays contain the most comprehensive offering of distinctive new models at special prices we have ever shown in February. A few representative styles are illustrated. Sixth Floor.

Waists of allover embroidered bobbinet, hand-made yoke, finished with lace motifs—see illustration—$8.00.

Black and white striped Taffeta Waists, strictly tailored, finished with piping of black taffeta—see illustration—$8.00.

White Bobbinet Waists, made with panels of embroidered net and rows of fine baby Irish lace trimming in front—$5.00.

White Wash Silk Waists, entire yoke made of rows of lace and fine beading, body trimmed with narrow rows of Cluny insertion—$5.00.

A special display of Tailored Waists is being made in plain tucked linens; the popular Ruffled Waists, one of the distinctive features of the present season—in lawn, $3.25 and linen, $5.00.

The Annual February Boxed Hosiery Sale Begins This Morning.

Special Prices on Boxes of Six Pair Throughout All Burlington Fast Black Hosiery.

These are our regular lines—qualities which have again proved their superior worth to thousands of permanent customers throughout the year. The prices specially made for this sale are from 15% to 30% below the regular prices on single pairs. This is an especially significant fact—considering the heavy advance in the prices of all Black Hosiery. Fourth Floor.

Women's Black Imported Cotton Hose in plain black, black with white soles and feet, ribbed and plain tops, in boxes of six pair, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.25 and $3.75.

Women's Black Lace Lisle Hose, in boot and all-through styles, six pair, $1.75, $2.25 and $3.75.

Women's Pure Thread Silk Hose, all of our standard grades, in boxes of three pair, $3.00, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00 and $6.50.

Women's Black Lisle Hose, in all the different weights and qualities, at $1.35, $1.50, $2.25, $3.75.

Special Sale Men's Fine Cravats, 50c

A purchase of short ends of fine silks from a manufacturer makes it possible to offer values at exactly half what the same styles and qualities are regularly marked. The designs and colors are extremely desirable, and the styles are those especially in demand—on sale in the main section, first floor, at half actual value—50c.

Men's Knit Underwear Reduced.

A number of splendid garments from our own lines have been reduced to about half prices.

Men's Wool Bath Robes Reduced.

Our entire line of Men's figured Blanket Robes in a large assortment of choice patterns in neat figured grays, blue, red, tan and brown—cut long and full, with heavy rope girdle and cord—has been reduced to very low prices. Second Floor.

Wall Papering; Reduced Prices.

During the month of February we will make special low prices for all work in which our Wall Papers are used. Those contemplating repapering will find this a splendid opportunity to have their work done now, thus avoiding the Spring rush.

Contracts may be made during this month and the work done at the convenience of the customer. Requests for estimates will receive prompt attention. On account of our early buying we are pleased to announce the arrival of our new Wall Papers, which comprise the best of both Foreign and Domestic Manufacturers.

We are the sole agents in the United States and Canada for the Shand Kydd Papers and Friezes. Fourth Floor.

Lace Curtains Reduced.

Reductions of one-fifth or more have been made in all dropped patterns—the assortment contains all varieties from the simple Nottingham at $1.00 to the artistic Filet Curtains at $100 a pair. Fourth Floor.

February Sale Office Furniture

We have arranged a number of very special and attractive values in Office Desks, both roll and flat tops, for our first February Sale in our Office Furniture Section. All lines of standard makes, the interior arrangement being convenient and the finish and structural features are high-grade and thoroughly dependable. Third Floor.

Exceptional Values in Pictures During February.

We have greatly reduced a large number of our Oil Paintings, Water Colors, Colored Photogravures, and a varied selection of other styles of pictures. In the Oil Paintings and Water Colors we give herewith a partial list of those included in the collection.

OIL PAINTINGS—C. E. Dameron, A. E. Guillon, E. Portielje, B. Borione, E. Pail, J. Agrasot.

WATER COLORS—D. Barone, J. C. Claghorn, R. Ernst, C. Y. Monteros, A. Battaglia, A. Willett.

Another interesting feature is an exhibition of Unframed Water Colors by many of the most prominent European and American artists. To provide room for our spring line of Made-Up Frames we have re-marked a large number of our patterns to prices far below their original figure. Fourth Floor.

Annual Sale of Dinnerware: Heavy Reductions.

Successful preparations promise to make this great sale one of the most notable this section has ever held. Our entire lines of Dinner Sets are included together with 21 open stock patterns. The reductions range from 10% to 33⅓% from our regular prices. Fourth Floor

107-piece Limoges China Dinner Sets, decorated with conventional green border and coin gold stippled edges, $30.00.

Annual Discount Sale Tumblers and Table Glass.

The values and the desirability of the lines make this the most interesting event of the year in the Glass Section. Included are Plain Blown Tumblers, Needle Etched Tumblers, Cut Glass Tumblers, Bohemian Rhine Wine Glasses, Mint & Champagne Glasses, Finger Bowls, Sherbet Cups, and Plates.

February Clearance Sale Fine Furniture.

The number of pieces are the greatest we have ever included in these sales. Both foreign and domestic makes are represented. Prices have been made with a view to making this the greatest February Sale we have ever planned. Price tickets show the original and reduced prices. A particularly interesting feature is the surpassing character and construction of all the pieces reduced.

LARGEST 2 CENT CIRCULATION IN THE WORLD.

A FORTUNE WELL DEVISED.

By the provisions of the will of William Whiteley, the London merchant, large donations were made for charitable purposes. The sum of $5,000,000 was put aside for the maintenance of almshouses to be known as the Whiteley Homes for the Aged Poor, and smaller amounts were given to a number of hospitals. A significant feature of the will was the clause providing for bequests to the family. Out of the large estate the sum of $250,000 was given to each of the testator's sons. Undoubtedly the merchant argued that with a start of a capital of a quarter of a million any young man should be able to face a frowning world without undue trepidation. Perhaps he reflected that he himself had begun life and worked upward with a much smaller capital, and that too much money is a serious handicap which young men often fail to overcome.

This disposition of the property of the London millionaire contrasts favorably with the usual distribution of great fortunes in America, where men of enormous wealth are inclined to consider their sons to the exclusion of the needs of the state and society at large. The English merchant could not understand, from his point of view, why it is necessary to tie up a tremendous fortune in a family. He believed, and demonstrated the belief, that while duty perhaps demanded that he should provide for the family's comfort, and generously at that, a comprehensive duty exacted that out of his fortune should come wide beneficence and general blessings. He may have argued that his wealth and good fortune had been merely given to him in trust, and that he simply returned to the world and to mankind what they had lent to him. Some men are capable of entertaining this view.

Whatever the reasons, it cannot be denied that the Whiteley method of distributing an estate has its merits. The members of the family, assured of comfort, may have still an impetus to work and achieve something independently of inheritance. Humanity at large will benefit by charitable provisions. If more great fortunes could be distributed with this intelligence and philanthropic impulse there would be more reason for an accession of multi-millionaires.

THE UNDERGROUND MAIL.

In the February number of Pearson's Magazine there is an illustrated article which gives an account of the activities of the United States postoffice in developing machinery for increased speed in the handling of the mails. The particular mechanism described is that connected with the pneumatic tube service, by means of which letters are carried at a speed of more than thirty miles an hour, with less than fifteen seconds between "trains."

This service has been installed in five cities, New York, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, and Philadelphia, the total mileage being about twenty-two. Chicago is third with 4.64 miles. The cost of maintenance is $1,000,000 a year, although that amount will be materially increased within three or four years. Despite the enormous mail business done in the large cities mentioned and the profits which come to the government therefrom the appropriations for the underground service are hard to get, the rural congressmen opposing the outlay consistently, while they welcome aid from any source looking toward the improvement and enlargement of the rural free delivery.

The article mentioned is largely devoted to a description of the mechanical workings of the pneumatic system. Its suggestions as to the possibilities carry with them the thought that only a beginning has been made in the direction of greatly facilitating the work of the city office for city business and indirectly of improving the postal service of the country at large.

An entirely different feature of the underground mail is that connected with the tunnel service in Chicago, against which some complaints have been made. If the tunnel company handles between 700 and 800 trainloads of mail a day and is doing a business 100 per cent in advance of what was formerly done by the wagon route that is a great accomplishment. What is done through pneumatic tubes or through tunnels is practically known to but few. The public was conscious of the presence of the wagons on the streets when large numbers of them were utilized for transportation between the postoffice and the depots.

It may be that the tunnel company does not always handle the mails expeditiously, but the postoffice authorities should not hastily call the experiment a failure and cancel the arrangement. If there are good reasons for thinking the blame perhaps belongs to the railroads, whose trains are often late during the winter months, they should be given due weight. The tendency in congested cities is to put everything possible beneath the surface. Neither the pneumatic tubes nor the tunnel service is without its chance of delay and accident. But the return to a wagon system would be a backward step from the point of view of science when the measure of success attained in recent experiments is considered.

THE JAPANESE SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Nations, like individuals, frequently find a compromise the simplest and easiest way of getting out of a difficulty. If Japan and the United States, with the state of California and the board of education of the city of San Francisco as cooperating parties, can work out an arrangement that "saves the face" of everybody concerned, much will be gained. If no agreement can be reached the suit begun in the United States court to determine the right of California school officials to put Japanese children in separate schools will be pressed. A decision adverse to the school authorities would, if the California papers are to be trusted, make the people of that state hate the federal government. If the decision were to be the other way a situation would exist which, to use the phrase of the Japanese prime minister, would "require diplomatic adjustment." Presumptively, the decision would uphold the school officials. It has been the general belief for over a century that the national government could not regulate the schools of a state. It is more than likely that the Supreme court shares the belief.

It is asserted that Japan will consent to a treaty by which Japanese laborers shall be barred from the United States, and vice versa. There would be nothing derogatory to Japanese pride in such an arrangement. But it is understood there is one point as to which the Japanese government is inflexible. It is that there shall be no such discrimination against Japanese children of school age as that to which those in San Francisco have been subjected. It does not wish to accept separate schools for them unless all alien children are sent to such schools.

If no agreement can be reached, Japanese laborers, of whom there are now a thousand in California for every Japanese child that is there, will continue to pour into the state. Californians say that they are deeply interested in stopping this immigration because of the destructive competition of the Japanese. If they were to keep on coming they might be maltreated occasionally, and then there would be more unpleasant material for "diplomatic adjustment."

If the Californians can put a stop to Japanese immigration they should not be unwilling to admit to their public schools a small and decreasing number of Japanese children. The price would not be a heavy one. It is true that the San Francisco board of education has said, and still says, that it never will consent to the admission of Japanese children to the schools which white children attend, but it may, upon reflection, conclude that it would be better to be sensible than to be consistent.

The perplexities which may arise from the division of powers between the national government and the state governments are illustrated by this Japanese imbroglio. The plan suggested for getting out of it will strike foreigners as cumbersome or comic. The treaty making power is vested in the president and senate, but before concluding a particular treaty the concurrence of a state and a local board of education is sought for. It is unusual to invite to Washington the representatives of a local school board to get them to consent to remove obstacles to the negotiation of a treaty.

It would be better to have a treaty of the character indicated, even if it shall have to be secured in an unusual and complicated way, than to leave the controversy open. It might, perhaps, engender great trouble.

THE AUTOMOBILE FUTURE.

On the eve of another automobile show which the promoters assert will be far in advance of previous ones in Chicago the enthusiastic friends of the motor car may be pardoned for their excess of zeal in proclaiming the early approach of the time when the horse will disappear from the city streets. The experience of the past has been that improvements in means of transportation have not restricted the use of the horse. There have been redistributions of the mechanism of society, but the horse has held his own in spite of the triumphs of science.

It is apparent, however, that the automobile has passed the experimental period and has taken its place as a valuable feature of modern life. The February World Today has an article headed "The Conquering Motor Car," in which, with numerous illustrations, the rapid increase of the varieties of motors is shown. No longer confined to the field of pleasure for the wealthy the motor car is used for heavy trucking purposes and for light delivery business. The city omnibus is disappearing to make room for the motorbus. The electric ambulance, the automobile fire engine, with a speed three times that of the horse drawn engine, the police patrol motor wagon, the motor street sprinkler, the repair wagon, and the inspection car furnish examples of usefulness in municipal work. The latest farming machinery is equipped with horseless motors.

It is stated that 150 factories in this country are employing from 400 to 4,000 workers in a vain attempt to keep up with the rapidly increasing demand for the vehicles, turning out in a year from 1,000 to 4,000 machines of various kinds. That shows that the industry is making wonderful progress. Some of the factories opened the year 1907 with the entire yearly output sold and orders booked for 1908.

These facts explain the enthusiasm of the automobile dealers and give emphasis to the threefold demand made by them, that better roads be built, and that the regulations respecting motors be revised and made less harsh. No doubt the roads should be greatly improved for automobilists and other users. With the rights of other people respected fully the automobile owners will find little to complain of in the reasonable restrictions which are necessary to public safety. All unjust laws and regulations will disappear.

CIVIC INSTRUCTION FOR WOMEN.

When a member of the Chicago Woman's club says that "we should get the Auditorium twice a year to ask of our various officials 'How did you vote and what did you do?'" she institutes a departure in the line of possible municipal reform which is of much general interest and may be of permanent utility.

It is presumed that the mayor, the aldermen, and other officers of local government will gladly repair to the Auditorium twice a year, or oftener if summoned, to answer without embarrassment such pertinent questions relating to municipal progress as the women may put to them. Even if, as is likely, the questions relate to the sins of omission rather than to the virtues of accomplishment, it will be an excellent opportunity to manifest contrition and make clear the difficulties which confront a politician in the performance of his duty. For while the astute politician remembers that he directly represents the voters who are men, he is aware that he also represents indirectly the women who profit or suffer by legislation, and must make his peace with them or invite unpleasant consequences.

And even if a woman may not vote there are many details of civic government which appeal to her. She is interested in the smoke nuisance and in the belching chimneys which destroy her complexion, ruin her wearing apparel, and defile her home. She is vitally concerned in the operations of the board of health and in the activity which may put a check on the spread of contagious diseases. She watches eagerly the workings of the street cleaning bureau, more especially the dust raising branch, and so the list might be continued indefinitely to the enumeration of a hundred greater or minor evils all bearing directly on the peace and happiness of womankind.

These semi-annual meetings at the Auditorium, or the Coliseum, if the demands for space justify, will not only enlarge woman's knowledge of civic affairs but will give the officers of the government a glorious opportunity to make a favorable impression on their feminine constituents. The mayor will be delighted to tell the women what he has done and why he did it, and there is no public official who will not run the risk of embarrassing questions for the pleasure of the possible establishment of himself in the good graces of her who rocks the cradle. An early convention is desired.

If the Hon. Ed Cullerton of the Eleventh ward is prepared to dispute the assertion that he is "a noisy nuisance in the city council" he should sue the Municipal Voters' league for libel.

IN A MINOR KEY.

One Statesman's Opinion.

Constituent—"Senator, I think it's all right to raise the pay of members of congress to $7,500 a year, because it costs a good deal to live in Washington, but what's the sense of raising the president's salary to $100,000?"

Eminent Senator—"Well, there is a kind of feeling that the man who tries to fill Mr. Roosevelt's shoes ought to have at least that amount as a sort of encouragement, you know."

"I've told you half a dozen times it's Solong!"

"Ye dir-rty thafe, I know how to shpell 'so long' as well as you do. If ye'er wantin' throuble——"

At this moment, fortunately, Mrs. Solong came to the door and explained matters to the irate officer.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1907: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

King Edward in the course of the speech which he delivered at the close of the duke of the Abruzzi's modest, concise, and yet vividly interesting address before the Royal Geographical society in London, describing his recent ascent of Mount Ruwenzori (Ptolemy's "Mountains of the Moon") referred to the reigning house of Italy as "good friends and allies of ours." It is pretty generally known that some kind of an understanding exists between England and Italy with regard to certain eventualities in the Mediterranean. But this is the first occasion of there being any mention made of the existence of an actual alliance between Italy and Great Britain.

King Edward is so shrewd and level headed a diplomat that it may safely be taken for granted that his reference to Italy as an ally was made on this occasion with deliberate intent, and that it was not a slip of the tongue or a thoughtless phrase uttered on the impulse of the moment. It speaks volumes for the friendly relations between the various powers of Europe, and especially of those between England and Germany, that Italy can be an ally of Great Britain without interfering in any way with her status as an ally of Germany and Austria and as a member of the triple alliance, England on her side being again bound by something more than a mere entente cordiale to France.

In this connection, it will be interesting to observe whether any foreign naval officers will be permitted to witness the great naval operations which the British admiralty has arranged to take place this month off Lagos. The channel, the Mediterranean, and the Atlantic fleets, as well as the first, second, and third cruiser squadrons, are to take part in the maneuvers under the supreme command of Admiral Sir Arthur Wilson, whose forces will amount to near a hundred ships, including thirty-two first class battleships, all marking the last word in naval construction and representing the flower of the English navy. It is said that Sir Arthur Wilson will undertake some important experiments, concerning the nature of which much secrecy is being observed, and indeed little has been allowed to reach the public concerning the fact that any rendezvous of England's naval forces is about to take place.

I hear that representatives of the United States navy have been invited to be guests on board one of the battleships of Sir Arthur Wilson's command, but I cannot find that any other foreign officers have been asked to attend, not even those of Japan, which is noteworthy, in view of the recent discussions as to what the attitude of Great Britain would be in the event of any trouble between America and Japan.

It is Countess Ladislas Hoyos, who spent so many years at Washington as Austrian ambassadress and whose eldest son was born at Washington, who is now filling the office of grand mistress of the court of Vienna. Her duties in connection with this office are more than ordinarily responsible, owing to the fact that she is playing the rôle of mentor and of duenna to the young Archduchess Maria Annunciata, who has been recently designated by her uncle, the emperor, to take the place of acting empress and of first lady of the land. All presentations have to be made to the archduchess, and she takes precedence of all the other women of the imperial family, receives the ambassadresses, and also the ambassadors, and acts as patron of all sorts of philanthropic institutions, and as grand mistress of the various feminine orders of knighthood. The archduchess, who is likely to retain her rank as first lady of the land for many years to come, owing to the fact that her brother, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir apparent, is morganatically married, is, like a number of other royal ladies, extremely shy and, moreover, lacks that profound and extensive knowledge of the ins and outs of the Austrian great world and of Viennese society which is indispensable to any one fulfilling the duties which she has undertaken.

The assistance and support of Countess Hoyos will be therefore of inestimable value to her. For the countess, who is by birth a member of the ancient house of Herberstein, possesses an unrivaled experience of everything and everybody connected not only with Austrian society but also with that of foreign countries acquired as ambassadress abroad, and will, for instance, be thoroughly qualified to enlighten the archduchess as to the social importance of any American women presented at the court of Vienna. How invaluable the presence of the countess is at the audiences which the young archduchess is compelled to give on three days a week at the Hofburg will be gathered when I point out that the person received in audience is not expected to say anything to the archduchess excepting in response to her questions and remarks, and that if the archduchess suffers from shyness the visitors, especially if presented for the first time, are apt to be nervous and embarrassed. All this would naturally contribute to render audiences a trifle awkward were it not for the supreme tact and savoir-faire of Countess Hoyos.

The Hoyos family is of Spanish origin and came from the Iberian peninsula to Germany in the train of Emperor Charles V. Indeed, the original house of Hoyos still flourishes in Spain, and for a number of years a Marquis Hoyos was Spanish ambassador at Vienna. Count Ladislas, the former ambassador of Austria at Washington, is undoubtedly the most distinguished member of the family of the present generation. He combines much skill in modern diplomacy with an old fashioned courtesy and a sense of honor rare in the present days, his one defect being a deficiency in the sense of humor.

A story is told in this connection which is characteristic of him. One day he was traveling down the Danube to Pesth when his attention was attracted to a couple of young officers who were playing cards with one another. They were playing a stiff game and the stakes were large, until finally one of the young fellows had lost chips to the amount of 10,000 florins. Count Hoyos, knowing full well that young officers, especially when belonging to infantry regiments, are never rich, quietly, and with the utmost discretion, remonstrated with the loser, pointing out to him the folly of his ways. The officer, however, who was entirely ignorant of the identity of his interlocutor, exclaimed reassuringly: "Don't be alarmed, I am only playing the game of Count Hoyos," meaning that the stakes were not serious, that they were merely nominal, and that no money had been really lost or won; the expression "playing the game of Count Hoyos" originating with the fact that a certain count of that name was so famous for the passion with which he played, and for the enormous size of his stakes, that when men of small means started to play for nothing they invariably asserted that they were playing "a Count Hoyos game," just in the same way as one might say here one was playing a Pierpont Morgan or a Rockefeller game. Count Ladislas Hoyos did not relish the name of his family being used in this fashion. "Sir," he exclaimed, "I am Count Hoyos, and I insist that no debt contracted in the name of my family shall remain unpaid. Here is a check for 10,000 florins. Promise me only never to gamble again. I insist on you accepting the money."

The ameer, or king of Afghanistan, as he is now styled, who is at present visiting India for the first time in his life, seems to be enjoying himself thoroughly, and has developed a pronounced taste for motoring and ballooning. The English government has set aside $1,000,000 to be spent in connection with his entertainment, and with his knowledge of English, his geniality, and his dignity of manner, he is creating an excellent impression; so much so that it is difficult to realize that he still retains most appalling methods of punishment, and that shortly before leaving Cabul for India he had several offenders buried alive, others blown from the mouths of cannon, others blinded, while some brigands were fastened in iron cages, slung aloft in the principal street of Cabul, and left there to perish of hunger and thirst. The ameer seems to have been especially struck by Lord Kitchener and to have developed a pronounced liking for him, inviting him to visit him at Cabul.

LITERATURE

"RUNNING THE GANTLET" (D. Appleton & Co.), by Jessie Peabody Frothingham, is a stirring, breathless story of heroism and bravery in the United States army. William Barker Cushing, as a lad, was page in congress, then received an appointment to the naval academy at Annapolis, and when he thought it well nigh impossible to hold himself within the bonds of the school the civil war broke out, affording many opportunities to the volunteer if he knew how to use them. His enthusiasm, almost foolhardiness, made him thoughtless of danger, and his one ambition was to command. His eye was keen, his conclusions quick and to the point, and when at 19 he had attained the rank of lieutenant and a short time after was in command of his own ship, he was ever at some new plan. Foolhardy and risky, born of youthful enthusiasm, his plans were thought by older men; but he never jeopardized the honor of the service and ever drew much praise to himself.

When one finds such a book as "THE RAILWAY CHILDREN" (the Macmillan company), by E. Nesbit, classed as juvenile fiction it is time to warn all good adults to become juvenile again, if only for a few hours; to dismiss the delusive idea that they are above such stories; to compare some of the strained and unnatural romances of grownups with the real and natural ones of childhood—in short, to realize that they have exchanged the spontaneity of truth for casuistry that misleads and sophistry that is worse than idle, if ever for one moment they have imagined that the struggle of a woman against sin pointed a better lesson than the mere picture of a mother loving her family and home.

Incidentally, it is a story of three children whose father, unjustly accused of selling government secrets, is imprisoned, and whose mother supports them by her writings until the real traitor is discovered and the innocent man freed.

Children will appreciate and understand—for, if it is possible for parents to leave them alone, they will, as a rule, exhibit good taste. They instinctively like those literary virtues which it takes no aged critic to detect—clearness, vigor, simplicity—and charm.

William J. Long, the "nature writer," author of "Wilderness Ways," "Following the Deer," "Secrets of the Woods," and several other books of like character, claims the public attention again with an attractive and beautifully illustrated volume bearing the title "BRIER PATCH PHILOSOPHY" (Ginn & Co.), by "Peter Rabbit," Mr. Long being merely the interpreter thereof. It is dedicated to "those who have found their own world to be something of a brier patch," and there is a breezy, out of door charm about it characteristic of this author's works in general. "Peter Rabbit's" book is not an argument, but an invitation, and his philosophy—which, indeed, is worthy of the name—is sufficiently alluring to make the impressionable reader homesick for a brier patch of his own.

It is interesting to recall the comments that greeted the appearance of "OUR OLD HOME," by Nathaniel Hawthorne, when it was first printed in 1863. The London Athenæum called it a "charming," but "unpleasant" book, and resented its "surprisingly bad temper," while the North American Review praised it for its "humor and kindliness." A new edition of these sketches of English life has been printed in an attractive form by Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. which will commend itself to all lovers of Hawthorne.

Books of familiar quotations are plentiful enough, but here is a book of "unfamiliar quotations," compiled by H. B. Metcalf, with the title, "GEMS OF WISDOM FOR EVERY DAY" (A. C. McClurg & Co.), and consisting of brief and pithy selections from the great writers and philosophers of all time, his especial favorites among the ancients appearing to be Seneca, Epictetus, and Marcus Aurelius, while quotations from Emerson, Mazzini, Leigh Hunt, Heine, Charles Kingsley, Archbishop Whately, Sir John Lubbock, and other distinguished moderns are scattered thickly through the pages of the book. There is a sentiment for every day in the year, and it is a safe prediction that not one in the entire collection will ever do the reader any harm.

A little one legged orphan boy, named Christopher, who goes about on crutches and plays a violin, is appropriately called by Ellen Douglas Deland, "A LITTLE SON OF SUNSHINE." (Harpers.) The story contains enough fun and interest to amuse the children for whom it is written, and there is little danger that the lesson in courtesy and kindness will go over their heads.

A reprint of "CAMPAIGNING WITH GRANT," by Gen. Horace Porter, which appeared originally in the Century Magazine in 1897, has just been issued by the Century company. It is needless to dwell upon the literary and historical value of this work. In its permanent form it is a desirable addition to any library.

WANT SMALL PARKS ON THE NEAR NORTH SIDE.

A plan to establish a system of small parks on the north side in the congested districts between Wells street and the north branch of the river has been formulated by citizens interested in the welfare of that section of the city and a bill has been introduced in the state legislature to provide for the desired improvements. If the act is passed the matter will be placed formally before the taxpayers of the district by a referendum vote at the April election.

It is the belief of the committee in charge of the plans that the taxpayers of the north side will be overwhelmingly in favor of giving to the people living in the congested districts an adequate small park system, such as the one which has been established on the south side.

The necessity for relief from the present conditions on the north side is deemed urgent by those who have investigated the status of the matter. Already the movement has been taken up and discussed favorably by the members of many churches and civic organizations of the north side.

Conditions in the congested districts show that some sort of relief from the "parkless" stretch of territory is needed. According to statistics compiled recently juvenile crime ranks abnormally high in certain sections of the north side. The region where most of these conditions exist is almost without grass or trees. Investigation developed the fact that Lincoln park is inaccessible to the women and children of the district. To relieve this situation the agitation for the small parks was started.

The movement is headed by Dr. H. B. Favill, Victor Elting, Mrs. J. Clarence Webster, Mrs. W. S. Monroe, Miss Bertha Poole, and others.

IGNORING THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 25.—Editor of The Tribune.]—I am glad to note your two recent editorials of Jan. 17 and 25, calling attention to the subsidy bill now before the house of representatives. The proposed measure seems to me to be of great importance to the people of the Mississippi valley, and should be scrutinized by them very closely. There is no good reason why a large portion of the trade of the northwest with South America should not go through New Orleans.

If a ship subsidy bill is passed at all for the purpose of promoting South American trade, part of the subsidy should go to support one or more lines from New Orleans to various South American ports. The present measure will simply promote trade by way of the Atlantic seaboard to South America, and the northwest must send its products a thousand miles east for shipment. The conferring of subsidies upon the Atlantic seaboard lines alone will make it more difficult in the future to develop South American trade through the Mississippi valley, and will be another obstacle in the way of the success of our proposed deep waterway.

South America imports, largely, agricultural machinery, some iron and steel products, and other articles, which come from the various states of the Mississippi valley and the northwest. These products should follow as direct a route as possible if our section of the country is to reap the full benefit of the trade.

The proposed subsidy bill is really a discrimination against the central states, and particularly against Illinois. The difficulties of building up a direct trade with the east coast of South America, and after the opening of the Panama canal, with the west coast, are great enough without having to overcome what will be the vested interests created by the proposed subsidies. The people of this part of the country should urge their representatives to oppose the bill.

SAID TO BE ALL LOSING MONEY.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Permit me to correct an error appearing in your editorial today on the new mail steamship line bill. You state that one of the lines from Pacific ports to eastern Asia is owned by the Hill railroad system. The line of five American ships connected with his railroad line is owned by eastern people, by the Boston Steamship company. They are all too slow to take any advantage of the provisions of the pending bill. Mr. Hill does own two steamships, or rather his railroad does—the Dakota and Minnesota—and they also run in connection with his railroad line from Puget sound to Asia. None of these seven ships is earning any money. They are all being operated at a loss. The loss on the five steamships of the Boston Steamship company falls on its stockholders. I believe they have never received a dollar's return upon their investment. The Pacific Mail line, a majority of whose stock is owned by the Southern Pacific railroad, has not paid its stockholders a dollar for seven years, and I believe the line is now being operated at a loss. A line of three Japanese steamships competes with the Pacific Mail, and receives $800,000 a year from its government. Two 13,000 ton turbine steamships are now being built in Japan for this line, and they will probably make still more unprofitable the Pacific Mail line ships, which receive from $60,000 to $80,000 a year from our government. Two subsidized lines compete with the American ships out of Puget sound—viz: a Japanese line of three ships, receiving $330,000 a year from Japan, and a line of three British ships running from Vancouver, which receives $300,000 a year mail subsidy.

The third American transpacific line, that owned by the Spreckelses, according to published statements by Mr. John D. Spreckels, is losing $371,000 a year. It defaulted on its bonds last July, and has doubtless failed to pay the January interest. I am told that the line owes $2,000,000, and is likely to be placed in the hands of a receiver.

SOME EXPERIENCES THAT HAVE MYSTIFIED.

Readers of The Tribune Relate Incidents in Their Lives Which Have Seemed to Them to Border on the Supernatural.

These experiences, which are being printed from day to day in The Tribune, as the opportunity presents, are weird and in many cases apparently unexplainable. Doubtless, in most instances, the solution of the problem would be found simple if all the facts were known. All contributions used will be paid for. Those not used will be sent to the Society for Psychical Research.

Weird Tale That Was "Made in Germany."

Grandma is a German, and in Germany in her time was a personage called "the good man." Now it seems that my grandmother had a brother named John, who, as the old people in Germany called it, "was possessed of the devil," as he would fall in a sort of fit, and when in them would talk to an unseen person, and become so heavy that five men could not raise him from the ground.

One time grandma and her sister and mother and father were sitting at the fireplace, when there appeared at the window an animal for which people paid a high price for the fur. It reared upon its hind legs at the window, and my great-grandfather removed his slipper, with the intention of throwing it, but just then he turned, and there stood John in his night robe, and said: "Do not touch him," and walked to the window and said: "So you have come; as you came, so shall you go."

Previously the boy, childlike, had threatened his sister "that the black devil would come," and I suppose this was the fulfillment of his threat; at least, so they thought, and became much alarmed and again took him to specialists, but they could not learn what malady he had.

The people of the village at last said the boy should be taken to "the good man" as a last resource. This old man seemed to have a sort of second sight, and would not aid people unless they were thoroughly good and honest. On the steps of the house the boy was seized with another spell, and several men carried him to the house. As soon as he entered the living room he ran to an open fireplace and hid. The old man then entered the room, and, staring hard at the boy, said: "Come here." He obeyed immediately, and the old man blessed him and said to the mother: "Go home; he is cured."

As the boy went out of the house there was a glass of water standing on a table, and he turned to his mother and said: "Mother, if that glass had weighed a ton it would represent the weight that has been lifted from my heart."

The child never had another spell, and grew to be an old man, and not till he was in middle life would any of his family tell him of the awful curse that seemed to have been on him as a child.

Buried Alive; Appeared to Her Parents.

When I was 14 years old, in 1872, a terrible epidemic of cholera prevailed in northern Europe. In the portion of Poland snatched by Germany called Oberschlesien (Slonsk), in my native city, Ujest, nearly one-half of the population fell victims to the plague. The hysterical fear of contagion created a municipal order to bury the victims immediately after they ceased to groan and move. I had a cousin, Catherine, an 18 year old girl, who after a visit to a friend, who succumbed to the plague in her presence, on return home became sick and after a few hours apparently died, and was buried in the churchyard cemetery. Next day, when her parents, Andrew and Hegewich Golny, were sitting motionless in the despair of their grief in the dining room, Catherine suddenly entered the room and wringing her hands repeated desperately several times: "Father!" "Father!"

It took nearly half an hour for the old couple to regain their faculties and hasten to the parish priest, Father Anthony Meiser, with the request that he open Catherine's grave. When near the church they met on a run the churchyard gravedigger, Joseph Czech, who told them in excitement that several minutes before, while digging a new grave next to that of Catherine's, he heard her crying and calling, "Father! Father!" and hurried to report the accident to the priest.

When they all reached Catherine's grave and by digging opened it she was still warm, her face and fingers terribly bruised and cut—but this time, really dead.

Forewarned of Danger, Life Is Saved.

Early in the summer of 1894 I was visiting the home of relatives in the town of H. It was proposed, one afternoon, that we visit Sulphur Springs, possibly twelve miles distant. The party consisted of four and an easy riding surrey was used. Nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the trip to the springs, and a delightful time was spent at the famous resort. However, before the time arrived to start on the return trip I became nervous, and I had a clear presentiment that something fatal was about to happen. I communicated my fears to the others—only to be met with laughter. Finally, I decided to return on the trolley line. I told them it was unnecessary to meet me at the nearest point on the trolley line, for I would walk home the last half mile.

Imagine, if you can, the news that reached me as I neared home. The surrey, with the three occupants in a joyful mood, was crossing the railway tracks. A freight train had just passed, going north, and they started to cross, not seeing the express rushing towards them on the south bound track. In a twinkling it was all over, and I too would surely have been numbered with the dead had I occupied a seat in the surrey.

Late in the summer of 1906 I wrote a short story and sent it to a magazine which sometimes used amateurish stuff like mine. Weeks went on; arrived neither rejection slip nor check; then, in the stress of busy times, the whole matter quite slipped my mind. On the night of Oct. 4, 1906, I dreamed of getting letters and opened one, not seeing whom it was from; out of it fell a yellow slip which I saw to be a check for $6.

The next morning, while preparing breakfast, I told of my vivid dream, but was laughed at and asked why I didn't dream of a "twenty." Soon after letters came—quite a bunch for me.

"Now for the check," my brother teased. The first letter I took up bore a typewritten address and I did not notice where it came from. As I opened it a slip of yellow paper fluttered to the floor; my fingers shook as I opened it and saw that it was a check for $6! The story which I had forgotten was accepted and this was the payment.

Finds Familiar Things in Odd Places.

Years ago I traveled much and lectured. Being fond of the country I often walked for miles away from the towns where I lectured. On one of these rambles I found myself about ten miles from Exeter, N. H. The striking peculiarity of the land, trees, large stones, and even old buildings greatly interested me; there they seemed to impress me as being familiar, as if I had seen them before. So sure was I that this was an old familiar ground that I climbed a wall to go and examine the farther side of a large charred tree stump standing in a partly cleared pasture, for I felt I would find an old lead bullet buried therein.

I went. The bullet was there, and I dug it out with my jackknife. I had no trouble in locating it, in fact, put my eye directly on the spot as soon as I walked to the rear of the stump.

I have never been able to explain this mystery, for I had never been through that part of the state before, never had read of the incident or heard any mention made of it. But I have had many other similar experiences, especially in old country houses. When passing such I have been impressed with a view of the interior.

One old house in Sharon, Vt., was so impressed on me that I was convinced I would find an old warming pan in a certain room upstairs. I went into the old house, up the familiar stairs, turned, and found the room just as I expected, even to the striped paper on the wall, and took the warming pan—the first one I ever had at that time seen, and sent it to my home in Newfane, Vt., by express.

So frequent have been these experiences I cease almost to wonder at them. Now, what is it?

Gets Advance Information in His Sleep.

In 1893 I was employed by the Wabash railroad as telegraph operator; at this particular time I was on the extra list and working as night operator at Antwerp, O. About 2 o'clock one morning, while awaiting the arrival of an east bound freight, I became exceedingly drowsy, and leaning over on the desk immediately fell into a deep sleep, which lasted not more than a minute or two.

While in this condition I dreamed—don't know what else to call it—that it was about 8 a. m., that I had returned to the office and was endeavoring to take a telegram, but for some reason or other was unable to read the dots and dashes, so the day operator sat down to the instrument and copied the message, which was addressed to me and stated that I was to return to Okolona (my home station) at once, until needed elsewhere.

This dream was so real, so vivid, that I awoke with a start and for the rest of the night I was positively nervous and much disturbed over the affair, not that there was anything out of the ordinary about the telegram, but by reason of the weird, unexplainable, peculiar nature of the dream.

At 9 a. m. I went to bed and before noon that same morning a messenger came to my room and handed me the following telegram:

Peru, Ind., Oct. 28, 1893. Filed 10:25 a. m.
To H. H. B.:
Mr. Marcombe will relieve you at Antwerp tonight. You may return to Okolona until needed elsewhere. Pass on No. 46. J. J. S.

The above message, while not written or filed until 10:25 a. m., or eight hours after my dream, was identically the same as the one I saw in the "vision."

Sees a Ghost in Flat Above; Had to Move.

There were three of us sisters living in San Francisco, and in a flat on Bush street two of us saw a ghost, or thought we did. It was a two story flat, the upper rooms being unfurnished, and it was there the shade walked. One night at midnight the rumbling and rattling and banging in the empty rooms above roused everybody. I ran from the room I occupied with one sister to my sister at the front of the flat, looking up as I raced along, through the doorless arch leading to the upper story, and I distinctly saw the figure of a woman in white sharply outlined against a window, and so vivid was the impression that I noted her hair hung loosely.

My sister followed me, the rumbling and rattling still continuing, but finally ceasing. Returning I again looked for the ghostly woman, but she was gone. I said nothing to any one, but at breakfast my sister exactly described the woman with flowing hair. She also had seen it. Well, we thought it was a ghost, for always our search showed rooms thick with undisturbed dust and empty.

I don't know if the ghost continued nightly to walk. We never looked, but the terrifying rumbling still keeping up, it got on our nerves, and we moved. Later we heard that a murder had been committed at that number, and six months after a morning paper reported a suicide at the place. But the ghost can no longer walk—it was burnt out—the earthquake utterly destroying our uncanny flat.

Thinks of Man; Sees Him Unexpectedly.

In a small village I frequently went into a church to hear a certain old clergyman whose personality was pleasing to strangers. I did not live in the little town, but passed a number of months there, so dropped into this church frequently. The old clergyman's sermons were not grandly eloquent nor spiritually sublime, but he dwelt much upon thought of life hereafter, and, knowing he had lost an only child, I think my sympathies were appealed to and the image of the old man imprinted strongly upon my mind.

After an interval of about eight years, when the remembrance of a sojourn in that town was quite obliterated, as I walked through the busy market streets of a city, not meeting many people at the time, there suddenly sprang into my mind the vivid picture of this old man. Passing on about two blocks, I met him.

I did not speak to him—he did not see me. Nor would it be likely that he might recall me if he really ever knew me. Why, after such a period, should a person long forgotten suddenly come to mind, then the actual person arrive on the spot?

THIRD WHITE HOUSE RECEPTION

President and Mrs. Roosevelt Entertain in Honor of Congress—Receiving Line Small.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The president and Mrs. Roosevelt held their third evening reception tonight. The affair was in honor of the congress of the United States.

The receiving line was smaller than it has been for many years, owing to the absence of Mrs. Fairbanks, wife of the vice president; Mrs. Root, wife of the secretary of state; Mrs. Cortelyou, wife of the postmaster general; Mrs. Hitchcock, wife of the secretary of the interior, and Miss Wilson, daughter of the secretary of agriculture. This left five women only in line in addition to Mrs. Roosevelt. Mrs. Shaw, wife of the secretary of the treasury, stood immediately next to Mrs. Roosevelt, and Mrs. Taft, wife of the secretary of war; Mrs. Bonaparte, wife of the attorney general; Mrs. Metcalf, wife of the secretary of the navy, and Mrs. Straus, wife of the secretary of commerce and labor, stood in their order of precedence.

Among the guests invited specially to the blue room were the vice president, secretary of state, secretary of war, attorney general, secretary of the navy, secretary of the interior, secretary of agriculture, secretary of commerce and labor, Mrs. Schafer of New York, Senators Frye, Allison, and Elkins, Mrs. Elkins, Miss Katherine H. Elkins, Senator Knox, Mrs. Knox, Senator Lodge, Mrs. Lodge, the speaker of the house, Miss Cannon, Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. Longworth, Mrs. Longworth Sr., William Sulzer, C. E. Townsend, Mrs. Townsend, the chief justice and associate justices of the Supreme court and their wives, Maj. Gen. J. Franklin Bell and Mrs. Bell, the admiral of the navy and Mrs. Dewey, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, Monsignor Falconio, Douglas Robinson, Mrs. Robinson, Paul Dana and wife, William N. Wilmer, Joseph Wilmer, Augustus J. Albert and wife, Count and Countess von Hatzfeldt-Trachenberg, G. R. Fortesque, Prof. Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peters and Miss Peters, and Mrs. H. S. B. Beale.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Shonts were hosts at a dinner tonight complimentary to Russian Ambassador and Baroness Rosen. Invited to meet them were Norwegian Minister and Mme. Hanga, Naval Attaché of the French Embassy and Mme. de Blanpre, Senator and Miss Kean, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glover, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cumming, Mrs. Nicholas Fish, Miss Boardman, Gen. Crozier, and Col. Biddle.

Miss Cannon, daughter of the speaker, was hostess at luncheon today for her guest, Miss Nugent of St. Louis.

Miss Louise Maxwell, daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Barker, was hostess at a small tea this afternoon complimentary to Miss Gladys Newberry of Detroit, niece of Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Newberry, who is their guest for a time.

UNITE TO FIGHT OPEN SUNDAY.

Englewood Churches to Hold Three Massmeetings Sunday—Adventists to Take Up Cudgel Against Liquor.

Three separate massmeetings will be held in Englewood next Sunday evening to protest against the Sunday saloon. All of the churches of the district will unite in the services, which will be held at the Englewood Baptist, Normal Park Presbyterian, and Thoburn Methodist churches.

The people of Englewood have been aroused to action by the efforts of the so-called "United Societies" to secure an open Sunday law.

An all day service will be held tomorrow at the South Side Adventist church, Forty-sixth street, near Michigan avenue. Temperance work will be the general subject of discussion. In the afternoon it is expected that Elder Luther Warren, who was in Kingston at the time of the earthquake, will tell of his experiences. The services will open at 10:45 a. m.

PRINCIPALS WANT A CHANCE.

Ask School Management Committee of Board to Consult Them Regarding Changes in Educational System.

Chicago's public school principals will ask the school management committee of the school board today to give them a voice in the "democratic government" proposed in the report of the De Bey committee providing for the organization of an advisory council of school teachers.

The demand of the school principals is in the form of a petition in which the members of the Chicago Principals' club ask that they "be consulted, through the executive committee of the club, in regard to contemplated changes in the educational system."

The petition is signed by Edward C. Rossiter, president of the club; Mary E. Tobin, secretary; and John T. Ray, Dudley G. Hays, and Florence U. Colt for the executive committee.

INDORSE PLEA FOR FUNDS.

Commercial Association Writes Governor Expressing Its Appreciation of His Attitude Toward Institutions.

The executive committee of the Chicago Commercial association, in a letter to Gov. Deneen yesterday, expressed its appreciation of his attitude toward state institutions in requesting increased appropriations for them.

The association also forwarded to the governor the resolutions recently adopted by it favoring the expenditure of $25,000 a year for the extension of the business course in the state university and $10,000 annually for a night school in Chicago.

The annual election of officers of the association will be held next Tuesday. For president, D. R. Forgan heads the regular ticket.

THE

WAS USED BY

RUDOLPH GANZ

AS SOLOIST WITH THE

Boston Symphony Orchestra

(DR. KARL MUCK, Conductor)

At the Auditorium Wednesday Evening

Direction F. WIGHT NEUMANN

"The soloist of the evening was Rudolph Ganz, who in the Tschaikowsky Concerto placed to his credit one of the most brilliant performances, both technically and musically, that has been heard from any pianist in Chicago in years. The great, splendid work was played with just the right bigness and sweep, and yet with the sentiment and fine emotional quality which it demands. Never has Mr. Ganz loomed larger artistically than he did last night, when both he and the orchestra gave a performance which was virtually faultless in every respect."—W. L. Hubbard in Tribune.

"Rudolph Ganz, pianist, appeared as soloist in the Tschaikowsky Concerto, No. 1, opus 23, and he demonstrated that he was fitted for the company in which he found himself. He began under high pressure, with uncommon volume of tone, and went through the first movement in the same spirit. In the second portion of the concerto he played as if he were a member of the orchestra, the blending of the piano with the other instruments being admirable. The finale was taken with life and energy. The player's uncommon technical abilities and the bigness of his tone are familiar to Chicago auditors, but they have seldom been more prominently brought out."—Frederick Griswold in Record-Herald.

"The soloist of the evening was Mr. Rudolph Ganz, who scored one of the sensational successes of the season in the Tschaikowsky Concerto. This work has added to the fame of many an artist, for it invites the attention of the technical specialist. Herr A. plays it to show off his octaves in the first movement. Mme. B. displays her brilliant finger technic in the finale. Mr. Ganz is not a technical specialist. Nevertheless he possesses a truly colossal command of the keyboard. Therefore, he not only showed off his octaves in the first movement and his scales in the last but he gave a musically complete interpretation of the work which revealed in fuller measure than it has ever been my pleasure to hear the poetic temperamental and dramatic content of this rarely grateful concerto. Even the confusing second movement became a perfectly clear and comprehensible tone-poem of exquisite beauty, while the tempestuous finale carried the audience by storm."—Glenn D. Gunn in Inter Ocean.

In all the great climaxes, as well as in the delicate solo passages of the Tschaikowsky Concerto, every tone was distinctly clear and beautiful in all parts of the vast audience room.

Mr. Ganz says: "No other piano so completely satisfies me."

WEST SIDE BALL PARK INVOLVED.

M'LAUGHLIN IS SPONSOR.

An innocent looking bill, ostensibly designed solely to assure the comfort and quiet of patients in the public hospitals of the state of Illinois, but obviously aimed at the Chicago National League Baseball park, was introduced in the house at Springfield yesterday by Representative John J. McLaughlin, democrat, of the Nineteenth district.

The bill prohibits "the erection or maintenance of any park, building, grounds, or inclosure for purposes of amusement within 800 feet of any public hospital." A fine of from $200 to $1,000 a day is provided.

Considerable excitement was created in local political and baseball circles by the telegraphic announcement of this action, and an immediate inquiry as to the origin or cause of the bill was started. No one was found, however, who knew anything about either. County and city officials were said to have denied knowledge of the bill and this was borne out by the fact the west side park has been on its present site for thirteen years without record of protest from public or private property owners in the neighborhood.

Representative McLaughlin's residence is given as 1551 West Monroe street in the legislative roster, which removes him a couple of miles from the ball park, and it was not figured out that he could have any personal objection to its location.

President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals, who is most directly interested in the bill, said: "I don't know anything at all about it."

He declined to speculate as to the causes of its introduction, but did not appear to be agitated or worried over the possible loss of his baseball plant, which would result from the ultimate passage of the bill.

Other baseball men and politicians were taken by surprise and dodged giving an opinion for publication, but the consensus of belief was expressed by President Comiskey of the White Sox, who was willing to be quoted. He said: "I am sorry to hear it. I don't think the bill will go through."

President Murphy said he had heard Jimmy Sebring was playing baseball in Florida with an independent team this winter. As the club is not in any organized league, Sebring is not violating the decision of the national commission consigning him to the Tri-state league.

JORDAN REDUCES HIS FIGURES.

New York, Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The Brooklyn National league club's first baseman, Jordan, had a long argument over the salary question with President C. H. Ebbets today.

Jordan said he would not sign a contract for the coming season unless he received a salary of $5,000. Ebbets informed him such a proposition would not be considered by the Brooklyn club for a moment. Jordan then intimated he was ready to compromise by cutting about a thousand off the request, but again Ebbets declared unless Jordan accepted the original terms offered he could remain idle.

Ebbets said after the interview he wanted to be fair with Jordan, but he would be treated with the same liberality in proportion to that accorded other members of the Brooklyn team. Jordan got twice as much money from Brooklyn last year as he received from the Baltimore club in 1905, or about $2,500. He made twelve home runs, but his batting average was only .262, while he stood next to last among the first basemen in fielding.

Arndt Signs St. Louis Contract.

Baseball Bill Killed in Kansas.

DIXIE AGAIN IS THE FEATURE.

Schroeder's Craft Prominent in the Racing at Lake Worth Motor Boat Regatta.

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 31.—Five events were run off today in the Lake Worth regatta. The feature again was the spectacular driving of E. J. Schroeder's Dixie.

The five mile event for boats with a speed of eighteen miles an hour and under was won by Planet, a Florida boat, in 34:54. The second event, a five mile race for boats with a speed of eighteen miles an hour and above, was won by Dixie, in 11:16.

The third event, a five mile race for boats of all speeds was again won by Planet, the limit boat, in 34:59. Dixie, starting from scratch, finished second, twelve seconds behind the winning boat. The fourth event, five miles for boats with a speed of less than eighteen miles an hour, was won by Lieut. Willoughby's Possum. The fifth event, a five mile race for faster boats, proved a walkover for Dixie.

The fifteen mile event for all boats was won by Meteor. Swallow, which finished first, having exceeded its handicap allowance and being barred.

The western skaters, Anderson, Karlsen, and Thomsen, who have competed at Saranac Lake, will continue their journey to Montreal for the Canadian championships, to be skated there tomorrow, as they originally intended, despite the protest of President Kilpatrick of the Western Skating association, who has ordered the three skaters to abide by the ruling of the A. A. U. against the Montreal tournament.

Allen I. Blanchard, honorary president of the Western Skating association, who took charge of the party of skaters which left Chicago on Sunday for New York state and Montreal, wired yesterday as follows:

"Charles Kilpatrick, president of the Western Skating association, ordered me by wire not to allow western skaters to compete at Montreal. I have power from the association, and therefore ignore telegram and western skaters will compete."

OVERWHELMINGLY DEFEATS ILLINOIS BASKETBALL FIVE.

Gophers Have Walkaway from Start to Finish in Contest, Which Is Played at Minneapolis—Result a Disappointment to Big Crowd, Which Had Expected to See Close Battle—Deering and Woodrick Star Players for Victorious Team.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—In the second basketball game of the season Minnesota tonight overwhelmed Illinois, running up a score of 42 to 3. The form shown by the visitors was a great disappointment to the 2,000 spectators, who had counted on seeing a close and exciting contest.

From start to finish the game was a walkaway for the Minnesota team. The visitors showed no team work whatever and played a careless and listless game. Of their twelve chances to shoot baskets from the foul line they succeeded only once. Noerenberg is credited with throwing the one field goal for Illinois.

Minnesota started the game with a rush, and by quick and accurate passing soon threw five baskets. It then became evident the game was to be a onesided affair. The home team threw baskets at will and played the men from Champaign off their feet. The team work of Minnesota showed some slight improvement over that displayed in the Wisconsin game, but victory came too easy for the men to exert themselves.

Deering and Woodrick were the particular stars for Minnesota, the former getting six baskets and the latter four. Of the nine chances from the foul line Muir secured four points. Lineup:

Muir	Right forward	Stuart
Deering	Left forward	Noerenberg-Ryan
Woodrick	Center	Raiscag-Wes.pnal
Larson [Capt.]	Right guard	Cermant-Dadant

CRESCENTS LOSE BY ONE POINT

University of Colorado Five Defeats Evanston Basketball Team in Close Contest, 28 to 27.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The Crescent Five basketball team of Chicago broke its winning streak at Boulder last night, losing to the University of Colorado by a score of 28 to 27. The Chicago players led up to the last minute, when Capt. Ormond shot a goal which proved the winner. Last night's contest was the second between the two teams, the Crescents winning the first game by a good margin. A banquet and rousing sendoff was given to the Crescents by the students after the game. Lineup:

Crescents [27].		Colorado [28].
Orr	Left forward	A. Reed
Hussey	Center	Snyder
Osborne	Right guard	Stocken
Lee	Left guard	M. Reed

Field goals—Young [3], Orr [7], Hussey [2], Osborne [4], Lee, Ormond [4], Reed [5], Snyder [2], M. Reed [3]. Free throws—Orr [3]. Officials—Flynn and Curtman.

WANDERERS SCORE A VICTORY.

In the annual match for the Robert Clark medal played last night at Parkside the Wanderers defeated the Chicago Curling club by 21 points. Sixteen heads were played. Skip Campbell and his men scored eleven straight heads from Pritchard, the veteran counting only twice. Kelso and Holthoefer had the best contest, the Chicago skip, with a four and a single, winning out on the last two heads. Scores:

Wanderers [52].	Chicago [31].
W. A. Campbell,	J. McLean,
H. J. Taylor,	R. Dalrymple,

The Milwaukee Curling club will play the Chicago club at Washington park on Saturday afternoon.

SOLDIERS TO MEET Y. M. C. A.

First Regiment Athletes and Evanston Association to Clash in Indoor Track Contests Tonight.

The First Regiment Athletic association team and Evanston Y. M. C. A. will clash on the indoor track at Evanston tonight. One of the most closely contested meets of the season is expected. Roy Albertson, formerly star performer for the suburban Y. M. C. A., now is in charge of the guardsmen, and judging from the work the soldiers have been doing in their tryouts thy will do good work in the spring competitions.

Bixby is handling the Y. M. C. A. men, and with several Northwestern freshmen athletes enrolled on his team he also has the material to win points.

The following is the list of events to be contested: Twenty yards, 100 yards, 440 yards, 880 yards, one mile, shot put, high jump, pole vault, and four man half mile relay, each man to run 220 yards.

LASKER CAPTURES THIRD GAME.

New York, Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Dr. Lasker in forty-two moves won the third game of his chess match for the championship of the world against Frank J. Marshall. The champion now leads his adversary by three games to nothing. The game was played at the Everett house in this city this afternoon and evening.

Marshall began play with a queen's gambit, an opening which the Brooklyn player is supposed to be able to handle better than any other expert.

By ingenious play he succeeded in keeping Lasker on the defensive during the afternoon, but a sensation was caused shortly after resumption of play, when Lasker gave up a pawn exchange, thereby getting a brilliant attack on the king's side, and as Marshall's best moves were all out of play the champion soon was in a winning position.

ED CUSTER IS SOLD FOR $6,200.

New York, Jan. 31.—Ed Custer, the champion 2 year old of 1905 and one of the best and most consistent 3 year olds last year, was the star of the midwinter sale of light harness horses by the Fasig-Tipton company in Madison Square garden today. He was purchased by A. G. Danforth of Washington, Ill., for $6,200. Mr. Danforth expects to race him through the grand circuit this year.

Next to Ed Custer, Rudy Kip, 2:04¼, a son of McEwen, attracted the attention of the buyers. He was sold to A. C. Jones of this city for $5,100. Rudy Kip is a 9 year old brown pacer. The Friend, which also is looked on as a coming 2:00 pacer, was in such demand that E. B. Rice of Boston had to go to $4,800 to secure him, while the good trotting mare Kinstress, 2:09¾, brought $4,100. George A. Coleman was the buyer.

John H. Shults of Port Chester, N. Y., bought a number of horses, among them Owaissa, a daughter of Bingen, for which he paid $2,500. Axtellay was purchased by Charles Coyne of Albany for $2,150, while Who Know went to T. B. Leahy of this city for $1,350; George M. to A. S. Deysher of Reading, Pa., for $1,525; and Kelly to D. E. Bellew of Philadelphia for $1,150.

SCAMP AND BONNER WINNERS.

Land First Prizes in Pace and Trot Events on the Grand Boulevard Speedway.

Scamp and Bonner were the winners in the two races held on the Grand Boulevard speedway yesterday. The sport was watched by one of the largest crowds of the snow racing season, and the finishes in most of the dashes were close. The first race, the free for all pace, for a sealskin coat, was paced in tiers. Bub O'Rell, with Dick McMahon driving, winning from Gold Hill and Don Oso in two straight dashes. In the second tier Scamp, driven by George Fennimore, beat Dean Patchen and Dr. Tyler in straight heats, which brought Scamp and Bub O'Rell together in the finals. In this dash Scamp came home in front easily, O'Rell making a break. The free for all trot was decided in two straight dashes, only three horses starting. Bonner was the winner. Summaries:

Bub O'Rell	1	1
Gold Hill	2	2
Don Oso	3	3

Second tier:

Scamp	1	1
Dean Patchen	2	2
Dr. Tyler	3	3

Bonner	1	1
The Orphan	2	2
The Grand	3	3

MOLLIE MONTROSE SCORES A VICTORY.

Furnishes Feature of Card at New Orleans by Winning 2 Year Old Event.

CLEVER WORK BY SWAIN.

Dew of Dawn Second After Good Race; "Bookies" Hit When Marvin Neal Is First.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The bright feature of the sport at the Fair grounds today was the victory of Mollie Montrose in the 2 year old event. In going decidedly distasteful to her she staggered home ahead of Dew of Dawn and Bitterly, thanks to the masterly handling of Jockey George Swain. Swain got the clever daughter of Cesarion away in front and her ability to open an early gap was responsible for her victory.

This makes the third straight victory for Mollie Montrose, and also places her on the racing calendar as a formidable opponent of the practically unbeaten Whisk Broom. In the opinion of experts these two daughters of Cesarion are the simon pures introduced since the 2 year old season began, and it will take a battle royal under favorable conditions to decide which really is the better sprinter.

Good Race by Dew of Dawn.

Dew of Dawn was not without honor in the juvenile scramble. Ridden by M. Wood and in going which was no more to her liking than to the winner, she ran a splendid race and had no trouble in disposing of J. C. Cahn's Bitterly in the run down the stretch. The latter ran an improved race.

The decrease in the percentage of winning favorites did not work to the profit of the bookmakers to any great extent. The outsiders that caught the eye of the judges were all heavily played. One of the hardest races of the day for the bookmakers was the concluding event, which went to Marvin Neal, 3 to 1. The long price was due to a heavy plunge on Flavigny, always the short priced favorite, and Dele Strome. The layers figured Marvin Neal at 7 to 5 in the opening betting, but the heavy plunge on the three "good things" sent his price soaring, and those who stuck to past performances profited.

The victory of Dapple Gold in the opening event had the effect of putting Riley Grannon, the well known turf plunger, on his feet. Grannon thought he had landed in a soft spot, and partial to the odds of 12 to 1 laid against the son of Golden Garter, spread his money all over the ring. It is estimated he pulled down something like $4,000 on the race.

Two Swimming Meets Tonight.

Two swimming meets will be held at Bartlett gymnasium tonight. The varsity men will meet the freshman team and Oak Park High school will face the University High boys. The university swimmers are in good form and expect to trounce the members of the strong first year squad. The meets will begin at 8 o'clock and will be run off simultaneously.

ON THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

COLUMBIAN KNIGHTS TWICE BEAT STRONG PANDORA FIVE.

E. Peifer Leads Winners with an Average of 221 1-3, Harry Steers Getting 211 2-3—Pinsons Take Odd Game from the Pandoras—Buss Leads Peptomalts to Victory in the Monroe Tourney—Champion Centurys Are Shut Out—Other Scores.

Led by E. Peifer, with an average of 231⅓, the Columbian Knights team averaged 947 net in the Coöperative Handicap league and took two games from the strong Pandora five, which notched 921.

Harry Steers followed his big performance of the previous night with 211⅔, giving him 218 for his last twelve games. The Pinzons took the odd from the Columbias and the Coöperatives blanked the Brunswicks.

Buss averaged 222⅓ for the Peptomalts in the Monroe league, his side shutting out the champion Centurys. The winners notched 964⅓. In the other series the Tosettis blanked the Tuxedos. H. Ruther and F. Croft each averaged 216 in the Southwest league. Scores:

Bowler Secures Perfect Score.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—A. H. Edwards of this city in a match contest tonight rolled 300, the first perfect score ever made in Grand Rapids.

NOT TO ARREST BOOKMAKERS.

Hot Springs, Ark., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Judge Sumpter announced tonight that he would not carry out his original intention of causing the arrest of bookmakers and refusing a bar license for Oaklawn on the grounds of being a public nuisance. Matters have been amicably adjusted and the magistrate has bowed to public sentiment. The official had a grievance, but he was shown where a local fight at this time would be harmful to Hot Springs, so he decided not to make any move detrimental to the track managers.

Judge Sumpter was under the impression that Oaklawn interests closed a poolroom, just outside of the city limits which was operated by friends of his. Sumpter has learned since that the track men were innocent in the matter.

John Condon of Chicago, Louis A. Cella of St. Louis, and Presiding Judge Frank J. Bryan will arrive here on Saturday. The Amis bill will come up for hearing in the senate on Monday afternoon, the opening day of the Oaklawn meeting.

LOS ANGELES RACE RESULTS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 31.—There was no special feature at Ascot Park today. The card was an ordinary one, composed of four selling and two purse events. The track was slow and the weather threatening. Results:

First race, 1 1-16 miles—Niblick, 111 pounds [McDaniel], even, won; Lucrece, 104 [Brussell], 7 to 2, second; Mountebank, 111 [Sutton], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:51¾. Expedient, Jack Little, Gold Spot, and Woggle Bug ran.

Second race, ¾ mile—Confessor, 110 pounds [McDaniel], 14 to 5, won; Wood Thorpe, 110 [Preston], 2½ to 1, second; Reservation, 107 [Ross], 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:29. Bill Curtis, Merlingo, Sir Caruthers, and Azora ran.

Third race, ¾ mile, selling—Cigarlighter, 107 pounds [Preston], 1 to 2, won; Canopian, 100 [W. Fischer], 40 to 1, second; Lord of the Forest, 104 [McDaniel], 9 to 2, third. Time, 1:14½. Jack Kercheville and Lafitte ran.

Fourth race, one mile, selling—Foncasta, 107 pounds [Preston], 11 to 5, won; Belvoir, 110 [Boland], 2 to 1, second; Stoessel, 107 [D. Riley], 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:44. Taylor, George, Netting, Col. Bronston, Cardinal Sarto, and Dingdong II. ran.

Fifth race, ½ mile—Martha Jane, 115 pounds [J. Bullman], 8 to 5, won; Bendaga, 101 [Preston], 15 to 1, second; Orna, 103 [Koerner], 6 to 5, third. Time, :49½. Raimondo, Decorator, Kismet, Slater, and Gladys C. ran.

Sixth race, one mile, selling—Treasure Seeker, 112 pounds [Lawrence], even, won; Happy Rice, 109 [Koerner], 2 to 1, second; St. Albans, 109 [McDaniel], 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:44½. Josie S., Lord Rossington, Miss Martha, Irish Maid, and Little Minister ran.

Nicol Returns to New Orleans.

Jockey Dave Nicol, who has been visiting in Chicago for several days, left for New Orleans last night. Nicol will ride Minnie Adams, Fred Cook's racer, in the stake at the Fair Grounds on Saturday. Nicol believes his mount will land in front in the event if the track is good.

BURNS MATCHES WITH SCHRECK.

Champion Signs Articles, but Demands Purse of $20,000 for Fight.

Tommy Ryan Leaves for Hot Springs for Battle with Dave Barry on Tuesday.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

Tommy Burns and Mike Schreck are matched. Burns, who at present is playing a theatrical engagement at Buffalo, signed the articles forwarded to him by Schreck's manager, Billy Hogan, and they reached here yesterday. He demands, however, the purse be at least $20,000, and that he shall receive 75 per cent of it, win, lose, or draw. He also demands that the forfeit to guarantee appearance be $2,000 and that the club securing the fight post $5,000 forfeit to insure its being pulled off.

The articles, although all in favor of the champion, met with Schreck's approval, and now it is up to some club to hang up the required purse. It is reported M. M. Riley of Tonopah and "Tex" Rickard of Goldfield are willing to chance a $10,000 purse on the battle, but if the $20,000 offer is not forthcoming by March 7 the articles will be void. Purses such as demanded by Burns are not growing on every bush, and from the present outlook Nevada is the only state that can furnish bidders.

Tommy Ryan left for Hot Springs yesterday, where on Feb. 5 he is slated to fight twenty rounds with Dave Barry. Tommy looked in fine fettle, and although he has been out of the game a long time still believes he has it in him to put up a winning fight.

Charles Neary and Dave Deshler of Boston will box the ten round windup at the Badger club's show at Milwaukee tonight. The pair met on New Year's day and after ten rounds of hard milling the referee could not pick a winner. Deshler, it is said, had the better of that fight and he is the favorite for tonight's contest.

Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of America, and Charles Hackenschmidt will have it out on the mat at catch as catch can style at Brooke's Casino tonight. Charles went down to defeat before "Farmer" Burns at Omaha Wednesday night in a mixed bout. John Wille, the heavyweight pugilist, and Luccicke, the Bohemian champion, will meet in the semi-final.

O'BRIEN WOULD MEET 3 MEN.

Philadelphian Agrees to Stop Tremble, Brown, and the "Terrible Turk" Each Inside of Six Rounds.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—When "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien signed with Tommy Burns to fight for the championship and a purse of $30,000 next May the foxy John had inserted in the articles a clause that would allow him one fight before the big battle.

For weeks O'Brien has tried to arrange a match with some easy fighter that he knows he can put away, but has not as yet succeeded. Today O'Brien announced to Manager McCarey that he would agree to stop Jim Tremble, a light heavyweight, George Brown and the "Terrible Turk," middleweights, in six rounds each, the evening of Feb. 26 before the Pacific Athletic club.

A few months ago O'Brien attempted and was successful in stopping Tremble and Fred Cooley in nine and two rounds respectively. McCarey probably will stage the event. When seen today Tremble said he was willing, and was of the opinion O'Brien could not stop him in six rounds. Brown was of the same opinion, and the Turk is only too glad to let O'Brien use him for a punching bag.

WRESTLING BOUTS FOR C. A. A.

Instructor Butler Secures Gotch and Pons for Feature Event of Program Tomorrow Night.

Physical Instructor Mike Butler of the Chicago Athletic association has arranged an excellent card of wrestling bouts for tomorrow night with Champion Frank Gotch and Carl Pons, the champion of France, as the star attraction. The pair will furnish the windup and take holds catch as catch can style, best two in three falls. The preliminary bouts should be interesting with bouts between Paul Geidel of the club and Dick Sorenson at 145 pounds, and Johnny Nellegar, one of the junior members, and Chris Vargis, the "Greek Cyclone."

I. A. C. Disowns Boxing Team.

According to President William Hale Thompson of the New Illinois Athletic club, Frank Hoelle, Frank Van, and Ben Lindstedt, three boxers who competed under the I. A. C. colors at the Missouri Athletic club on Saturday night, not only were not sent to St. Louis by the local club but are not even members of the organization they were billed to represent. "We knew nothing at all about the matter," said Mr. Thompson, "until we saw the accounts of the bouts."

At the Billiard Halls.

At Clarke's—Lang [100] defeated Rouleau [100] by 100 to 82. Tonight, Lowe and Helm.

At Foley's—Jackson [250] won from Buell [170] by a score of 250 to 138. Meyers and Roney tonight.

At Sutton's—Church [38] won triangular tie for fourth place in the three cushion tournament. Henkel [42] scored 39 and Corbitt [35] made 32.

At Bensinger's—Bennett [37] defeated Huey [50] by 37 to 45 and won third place in the three cushion tournament. Tonight Fuller and White play off for first money. Embleton has challenged the winner for a purse of $50.

HARRIMAN'S AIM TO BUY MONOPOLY

Interstate Commerce Witness Says Plan Was to Stifle Competition.

TELLS OF COAST DEALS.

Claim Oregon Line Was Forced Out of Business by Magnate's Tactics.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 31.—Evidence tending to show that the operations of E. H. Harriman on the coast constitutes a violation of the interstate commerce law was brought out before Commissioner Franklin K. Lane today. C. A. Severance, attorney for the commission, introduced evidence to prove his contention that Harriman paid a price out of proportion to the value of the Coos Bay properties in order to put competition out of the way. Harriman, Attorney Severance maintained, was not buying coal mines. Primarily he was buying a monopoly.

E. A. Graham, who supplied this testimony, created another sensation before he left the stand. He told how, when Harriman acquired the Oregon Railway and Navigation company in 1901, his agents circulated literature throughout the orient warning merchants and others not to ship freight over the Graham line, the Oregon and Oriental, as it had no transportation facilities on this side of the world. The circulars were dated at Portland. As a result of these methods, said the witness, Graham's line went out of business.

Forced Company Out of Business.

Graham was called to the stand for a continuation of the story he related yesterday showing how Harriman forced his company, the Oregon and Oriental, out of business. He stated that the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, owned by Harriman, routed his inward freights and that he was required by contract to give the Oregon Railway and Navigation bills of lading over that road and its connections.

So stringent were the conditions of this contract that when Graham desired to give some of his freight to the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road the officials, particularly Campbell of the Oregon Railway and Navigation, would not permit him, but compelled him to ship over the Chicago and Northwestern and the Illinois Central.

Terms of Contract Shown.

Attorney Severance, for the commission, went carefully into the terms of this contract, drawing attention, among other things, to the fact that there was a proviso showing careful regard for the interstate commerce commission.

When the Coos Bay, Roseberg and Eastern railway was built, Graham testified, he, in his capacity of railroad contractor, was asked to take the work.

Meeting John D. Spreckels at Coronado, he induced him to come into the enterprise. The investment looked promising to Spreckels, so he agreed to buy thirty miles of rails, payment to be made to him after the bonds were sold and the subsidy paid. It was shown that the entire property in Coos Bay cost Spreckels considerably less than $1,000,000. When Harriman came along and bought the property he was willing to pay $1,300,000 for it.

Big Rebates Due Shippers.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 31.—That shippers of grain over the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad since Jan. 1, 1905, are entitled to rebates amounting to thousands of dollars, collected by the railroad under an arbitrary 5 cent charge per hundredweight on freight in foreign cars turned over at junction points, was the chief development during the first day's hearing before Judge C. A. Prouty, interstate commerce commissioner. Judge Prouty, to facilitate matters, combined the cases of the Ponca City Milling company and the Blackwell Milling company, as they both involve the same question. The railroad company made no fight against the petitions for damages.

Another interesting feature brought out in the testimony is that it is cheaper to ship grain 800 miles to Chicago than it is to Gainesville, Tex., a distance of 140 miles.

SOPHS ARE FROZEN TO TREES.

De Pauw Freshmen May Be Severely Disciplined for Night of Chilly Sport.

Greencastle, Ind., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The under classmen of De Pauw university violated the spirit of their agreement with President Hughes last night by trying to force a scrap with the sophomores. The freshmen learned that the sophomores were painting their class numerals on the water works stand pipe, captured several sophomores, and then tied them to trees in the campus. A heavy rain and sleet fell during the night, from which the guarding freshmen protected themselves, but which soaked the prisoners, then freezing on their clothing into a solid cake of ice. Early this morning the guards left their posts and the cries of the chilled sophomores soon brought assistance. It is probable that the offenders will be severely disciplined.

SAYS COURTS ARE UNJUST

WASHWOMAN SUES TO SET ASIDE SUPERIOR BENCH RULES.

Mrs. Minerva Barnes, Through Attorneys, Asserts Poor Woman Has No Rights Before County Magistrates—Brings Action to Force Change in Stand of Judge—Declares Allusion to "Pauper" Is Affront as Well as Illegal.

The judges of the Superior court of Cook county have been called upon to defend their action in adopting rules of practice which, according to the attorneys who are prosecuting the case in the Supreme court of Illinois, practically prevent a poor person from bringing suit in this court no matter how meritorious the case may be.

Mrs. Minerva Barnes, a poor washwoman, who has been deprived of her means of livelihood by an accident due, she declares, to the negligence of the Chicago City Railway company, is the complainant who has asked the State Supreme court to grant a writ of mandamus compelling Judge Chytraus to set aside these rules and permit her to sue the street railroad company as a poor person.

Another peculiar phase of the situation is that it has been left to two women attorneys—Mrs. Mary E. Miller and Mrs. Antoinette Funk—to take legal action to have rules set aside with which all of the other members of the Chicago Bar association have been compelled to comply.

Trouble Begins with Suit.

The trouble began when Mrs. Miller endeavored to file suit in Judge Chytraus' court against the Chicago City railway because of the injuries sustained by Mrs. Barnes. Before the suit could be filed, she says, she was handed a copy of the rules adopted by the judges which, if complied with, would not only make the attorney for the person prosecuting the case as a poor person liable for the court costs, but would give the corporation defendant undue advantage in the trial of the case.

"The rules are such that no self-respecting attorney can comply with them," said Mrs. Miller. "At present scores of attorneys are paying court costs in advance in order to obtain a fair trial for their client such as is contemplated by the law for everybody regardless of wealth."

Rules of Court Objected To.

The objectionable provisions, which are not in any of the laws of the state, but have been drawn up and enforced by the judges, as set forth by the attorneys, are as follows:

That before an attorney may ask that his client sue as a "pauper" he must make a petition, subscribe and swear to it, setting forth every detail of the grounds for action.

That the attorney must add to this petition an agreement that he will see that all court costs are paid out of the first money received upon such judgment as may be received in the case.

That unless the attorney has known the "pauper" for a year or more an affidavit must accompany such application made by some reputable citizen who has known such "pauper" for a year or more. Presumably, this person is made liable for the costs.

"These rules could not more benefit corporations which usually are defendants in personal injury cases, if they had been drawn by one of their attorneys," said Mrs. Miller. "As is well known, the first bill of particulars should not contain the evidence in the case, such as might easily be used to advantage by the defendant. But the poor person is compelled to recite his entire story, which then falls into the hands of the defendant, who may study it at his leisure and take such advantage of this ammunition as he sees fit."

Say "Pauper" Is Affront.

The attorneys also object to the word "pauper" which appears in the set of rules twelve times, although it does not appear in the statutes of the state at all. The word is used as an affront, says Mrs. Miller, and the entire set of rules is drawn up with a view to discouraging the filing of such suits by poor persons.

"The laws of Illinois provide that any "poor person" who has not the money to pay court costs may prosecute a suit without payment of such costs. As there are no such provisions made as have been placed in the rules of the judges of the Superior court of Cook county, Mrs. Barnes' attorneys declare that they are illegal and should be set aside.

The application for the writ of mandamus against Judge Chytraus will be taken up when the Supreme court convenes next Tuesday.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Miss May Douglas of Winona, Minn., a Wisconsin university student, who fell from the third story of the Gamma Beta Phi sorority house while attempting to descend a "knotty rope" fire escape, died today.

Coroner M. H. Lynch, at the inquest, stated that, although no one was legally responsible, the man who installed the fire escape was the cause of Miss Douglas' death.

"It would take a professional rope climber to descend that escape safely," he said. "It is absolutely impossible for a woman to use it."

The "knotty rope escapes" were installed a week ago for additional protection as a result of the Chi Psi fire at Cornell.

Services were held tonight at the Gamma Beta Phi chapter house and the remains were taken to Winona for burial.

NEW MONEY PLAN TOO WEAK: SHAW.

HAS SCHEME OF HIS OWN.

Would Allow Banks to Issue Notes, Lightly Taxed, in Excess of Bonds.

New York, Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Secretary Shaw of the treasury department, speaking tonight before the Missouri society of New York, on "Pending Financial Legislation," gave it as his opinion that the elastic currency bill pending in the house is utterly inadequate to provide bankers with relief in times of general stress. The secretary gave several reasons for his stand in his address, which was devoted almost entirely to discussing remedies for financial stringencies. Secretary Shaw said:

"Credit currency is the only elastic currency known to man. If we were creating a new system I am inclined to think it would be the one adopted.

System Must Be Safeguarded.

"There are several reasons why the system must not be adopted in its entirety in this country, and every reason for safeguarding in several ways whatever issue may be authorized.

"The bill recently reported from the committee on banking and currency of the house authorizes a maximum issue of a fraction over $200,000,000. If every national bank in the United States should avail itself of this new privilege there would be an annual contraction of about $50,000,000 in bank note currency between the maximum issue in the fall and the minimum issue of midsummer, and a corresponding $50,000,000 increase when the crop moving period arrived. I believe this amount entirely inadequate.

"The bill provides that there shall be kept against this new issue the same reserve as is kept against deposits. I believe a much smaller reserve than is required against deposits, renewable only with the consent of the depositor, would be sufficient.

Would Swell Banknote Circulation.

"I am strongly in favor of the issuance of a volume of banknote circulation in excess of the par value of the bonds deposited. In my judgment this additional circulation should be guaranteed by the government.

"The smallest thinkable tax on this additional circulation would afford abundant protection to the government. The tax should be treated as a premium and the government should be the underwriter. The banks should be required to retire at least once per annum any excess above the par value of the bonds deposited. Assuming then that all national banks would take advantage of the provision and issue once per annum the maximum allowed by law, we would have an annual compulsory contraction of $200,000,000.

"In addition to this there should be authorized an issue equally large, taxed at not less than 5 per cent, with no requirement as to reserve. The high rate of tax would compel its retirement when not needed.

"No plan should be devised primarily to enable the banks to make greater profits. The banks of the country are doing fairly well now and business is prosperous."

385 DEATHS PROBED IN MONTH.

Coroner Hoffman in Report for January Shows Increase in Number of Investigations.

The report for January of Coroner Hoffman shows a total of 385 cases, this being a greater number than shown in the report of any previous month. In the last year there were 187 deaths by violence and in the remaining cases natural causes were found for death. Railroads were the causes of 36 deaths. Twenty-four persons died by their own hand and 21 died by asphyxiation. It is shown that the number of persons to die by gas has increased since a year ago. Poison was the cause of the greatest number of suicides and shooting next. There were 10 murders in the month and 2 accidental homicides. Ninety-eight cases of deaths were women.

WOMAN TOO SLEEPY TO HEED SUMMONS ISSUED BY COURT.

Mrs. Violet Bachman Says Maid Did Not Awaken Her in Time for Examination in Bankruptcy.

Mrs. Violet Bachman, 127 Twenty-second street, explained to Judge Landis yesterday that she failed to respond to a subpœna calling her to appear before Referee in Bankruptcy Wean on Jan. 30 because her maid failed to awaken her in time.

It was charged in court that her former attorney, Samuel Ettleson, redeemed from pawn $500 worth of diamonds belonging to Mrs. Bachman and sold them to satisfy a claim against the woman while her creditors were seeking an injunction to prevent the disposal of the jewelry.

Questions asked by Judge Landis disclosed the fact that the examination had not been held, and F. W. Balcomb, attorney for the trustee, told the court he had been unable to obtain the presence of the woman before Referee Wean.

C. W. Weinfeld, the woman's attorney, said he was unable to tell why she had ignored the summons.

Judge Landis declined to enter into the merits of the transaction, but obtained promises from Mrs. Bachman and the attorneys to appear before Referee Wean for examination at hearings to disclose assets owned by her.

COPPERS

NOW FOR THE BOOM

Ten days ago the prettiest business situation ever in the incubation process was suddenly and violently disturbed—I had forewarned on it.

The cause was petty jealousy and a grab-everything-in-sight fever.

The result was an amateur slaughter of the uninitiated. While the flurry was on a certain agile Wall street gentleman mistook it for a cyclone and started to help it along with the aid of an old-fashioned bellows. He put afloat one of the old-time Wall street bugaboos.

In my first warning of this tempest in a teapot I said that it could work no real danger because the situation in "Coppers" was perfect, with the price of the metal at its highest and going higher. The soundness of my advice is about to be demonstrated. The tempest is a thing of the past. At a pleasant but firm—no doubt—meaning powwow between "the powers" and all legitimately interested parties it was shown to everyone just how perfect the situation in "Coppers" was, and how desirable and advantageous it was for all to get together, including those who couldn't get together.

Everything in the copper world is now harmonious. Those consolidators who could consolidate have done so, and those who, because of insurmountable obstacles, could not, are to proceed in directions which should be as satisfactory and profitable to their stockholders as a merger.

I believe that from now on the world is to see things copper-wise which will cause it to sit up and take notice. All good coppers from now on should be very good, and the bad ones—well, they always were and always will be bad.

While this blizzard has been raging and many innocent investors have been getting frost-bitten, as I said it would, has proceeded on the even tenor of its way, so that after the blowing over of all the steam and smoke it stands $5 a share higher than before the upset—$5 or 15 per cent, while the other good coppers are $10, $20, and $30 per share lower than when the tempest began.

Now that coppers have straightened out again, I repeat: As president of the Trinity Copper Company, and as an individual, I advise, unqualifiedly, the purchase of Trinity stock at any price under $65 per share. I said "Buy Butte at 2." Butte went to 130 (now 112). I said "Buy Trinity Mountain at 10." Tri-Mountain went to 125 (now 93). I said "Buy Copper Range at 10." Copper Range went to 105 (now 93).

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Stocks closed at the best prices of the day after the trading had lapsed into dullness. Business was unsteady in the early part of the session.

Published expressions from foreign bankers regarding the American situation were calculated to allay the effect of a view that has become current that foreign capitalists were concerted in discrimination against American enterprises. These influences were allowed increasing effect after the turn in the market was secured. It was manifest, however, that support by main force was the principal element in checking the further fall in prices this morning. The buying with this object showed no disposition to follow advances after it had achieved its purpose.

The Feb. 1 settlements were viewed with some apprehension at the beginning of the day, but the 3½ per cent call loan rate held only momentarily, and there was no other symptom of tightness in money.

An impression got abroad that a redemption of part of the government 4s of 1907 is in contemplation by the treasury department as use for the government deposits with the national banks which are recalled for repayment tomorrow and on the 15th of February. Foreign exchange continued to recede today, and New York exchange at Chicago advanced to a premium.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,936,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call easy, 2@3½ per cent; ruling rate 3¼, closing bid 2, offered at 2¼. Time loans strong and dull; 60 days, 5@5¼ per cent; 90 days, 5¼@5½; six months, 5¾ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5¾@6¼; sterling exchange weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.84.65@484.70 for demand and at 4.80.50@4.80.55 for 60 day bills. Posted rates, 482@482½ and 486@486½. Commercial bills, 480¼. Bar silver, 68¼. Mexican dollars, 52¾. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds irregular.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE QUOTATIONS.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—After an irregular opening the stock market turned strong and prices advanced on buying for both accounts until the close. Quincy was the feature, rising 123 to 133. Other notable gains were Allouez 6, Isle Royal 4¼, Copper Range 3¾, Centennial 3½, Tamarack 6. Trinity was only moderately active and the only copper stock which failed to advance. It closed at 37¾, a loss of ¼ for the day, after ruling strong fractionally above 38 all day. Call loans, 5@8 per cent; time loans, collateral, 5½@6 per cent; time loans, mercantile paper, 5¾@6 per cent; clearing house loans, 5 per cent.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Money was scarce and rates were firm and the demand increased today for month end requirements. Discounts were a shade easier in spite of the fact that there was no reduction in the Bank of England's rate of discount. On the stock exchange the settlement was concluded with only one small failure, which did not affect the market. The volume of business did not increase, but the tone remained satisfactory, with a hardening of the prices of first class securities as a result of the better bank statement and moderate investment purchases.

Americans continued depressed, owing to prospective issues and the liquidation in Wall street causing operators here to hold off pending more settled conditions. Prices went below parity at about noon and recovered in the afternoon. New York supported Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and Union Pacific, and after erratic fluctuations the market closed unsettled. Foreigners and Kaffirs were firm on Paris support. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 closed at 102¾.

Total reserve increased	£ 635,000
Circulation increased	12,000
Bullion increased	647,071
Other securities increased	1,313,000
Other deposits increased	1,567,000
Public deposits increased	1,859,000
Notes reserve increased	472,000
Government securities	Unchanged

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 48.81 per cent, as compared with 48.91 per cent last week.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—Prices on the boerse today were firmer upon the New York advices.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—On the bourse today the private loan rate was 4½ per cent. Prices were heavy, with the exception of Russians. Russian imperial 4s closed at 77 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 4.91. The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes:

Notes in circulation increased	193,375,000 francs
Treasury deposits decreased	33,500,000 francs
General deposits increased	44,525,000 francs
Gold in hand decreased	5,850,000 francs
Silver in hand decreased	2,050,000 francs
Bills discounts increased	262,625,000 francs
Advances decreased	11,250,000 francs

LESLIE CARTER RETIRES FROM PRESIDENCY OF ROAD.

After Ten Years in Office He Resigns Post and Is Elected Chairman of the Board of Directors—Marcellus Hopkins Chosen to Succeed Him—Work of Extension and Development of Property in Last Decade Is Reviewed.

Leslie Carter, who for ten years has been president of the South Side Elevated railroad company, yesterday resigned and was subsequently elected chairman of the board of directors. He was succeeded as president by Marcellus Hopkins, as announced in the financial columns of this issue.

In announcing his resignation Mr. Carter said:

"It is with regret that I find myself unable longer to discharge the continuous active duties of this office, which I have occupied with so much pleasure for ten years. My pleasure I have found in the harmony of the board of directors and in the increase in patronage of the public."

In the last ten years, Mr. Carter said, the road had carried 265,285,604 paying passengers and no passenger on its cars had lost his life; only one passenger lost a limb.

Residents of the south side will be interested in that part of Mr. Carter's report in which he referred to the work of new construction. He said the third track intended for express service between Forty-third and Twelfth streets had been completed with the exception of straightening out the curve at Twelfth street, and this he thought would be completed in about six weeks. The Englewood, main, or westerly line has been completed and work on the south branch, Englewood, he thought would be finished by July 1. The Chicago Junction railroad, he said, was progressing rapidly with its elevation in Fortieth street, and it was hoped to turn over the east line to Lake Michigan ready for operation in the early summer. The stockyards line, he thought, would be open next fall.

The new lines when completed, he said, would have eight stations on the main line toward Englewood; three stations on the south branch, Englewood; five stations (two of these double) on the line east to the lake; and seven stations on the stockyards line.

LIVE STOCK RAISERS AT URBANA

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The twelfth annual meeting of the Illinois Live Stock Breeding association opened today. W. C. Coffey, instructor in sheep husbandry at the university, made an address on "Lamb Feeding," and Eugene Funk of Shirley spoke on "Some Points of Importance in Live Stock Farming" at the morning session.

In the afternoon M. F. Honne, statistician of the Union stockyards, Chicago, spoke on "The Magnitude and Importance of the Live Stock Industry." Prof. R. S. Shaw of the Michigan Agricultural college gave a lecture on "A Plan for Live Stock Improvement" at the evening session; De Witt C. Wing, associate editor of the Breeders' Gazette, Chicago, spoke on "Education and Opportunity"; and O. E. Bradfute of Cedarville, O., gave an address on "The Live Stock Farmer."

Before the convention of Corn Growers and Stockmen, Samuel H. Smith, grain inspector of Chicago, spoke on "Grain Inspection." The examinations for expert corn judgers will be held tomorrow and for live stock judges on Saturday.

PROBE PEORIA GRAFT CHARGES

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Following allegations that City Clerk Robert Joos wrongfully has retained license money belonging to the city, and that Police Magistrate Frank Fox kept more than his rightful fees, the grand jury today decided to investigate the graft charges against several city officials. Nearly a score of subpoenas were issued, and it is expected the investigation will begin the first of next week. An audit of the books of several officials was made some months ago. It is admitted that Police Magistrate Fox and City Clerk Joos were found to be short in their accounts. Instead of reporting this fact the auditors are said to have told the officials of their shortage, and the amounts were made good. The auditors then reported to the city council that the books were O.K.

Clerk of Ohio Court Resigns.

Columbus, O., Jan. 31.—Supreme Court Clerk Lawson Emerson today tendered his resignation. The first deputy, Joseph E. Obermeyer, was appointed to his place. Emerson has been absent from the city for some time, and has had considerable domestic trouble. His wife applied for a divorce, and then withdrew the application.

Boy Hangs Himself in Play.

Princeton, Mo., Jan. 31.—Fred Brooks, aged 14, hanged himself from a barn rafter with a dog chain for the amusement of his playmates, but his feet slipped from a support and he strangled to death. His frightened playmates ran for assistance, but before any one arrived young Brooks was dead.

The subscription list will be opened at 10 a. m. on Tuesday, February 5, 1907, and will be closed at or before 3 p. m. the same day.

The undersigned reserve to themselves the right to close the subscription list at any time without notice and to reject any subscriptions and to allot smaller amounts than applied for.

All subscriptions should be made on the form, which can be obtained from the undersigned, and must be accompanied by a deposit of $50 per $1,000 Bond.

If no allotment be made, the deposit will be returned in full, and if only a portion of the amount applied for be allotted, the balance of the deposit will be appropriated towards the amount due on allotment. If any further balance remains, such balance will be returned. Failure to pay any installments at due dates will render all previous payments liable to forfeiture.

The Bonds will be delivered by the undersigned upon payment in full therefor.

Application will be made to list the above Bonds on the New York, Boston, and London Stock Exchanges.

Under date of January 26, 1907, F. P. Fish, Esq., President of the Company, writes us in part, as follows:

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company is the successor of the American Bell Telephone Company, having acquired early in 1900 all the property and business of that Company. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company owns directly long distance telephone lines and is the owner of shares of the capital stock in about forty companies operating throughout the United States and Canada, holding, except in a few instances, a controlling interest.

In addition to the issue of convertible bonds, the funded debt of the Company consists of $78,000,000 collateral Trust 4 per cent Bonds due July 1, 1929, of which $53,000,000 are outstanding in the hands of the public, $25,000,000 being deposited as security for the issue of the above-mentioned $20,000,000 5 per cent Notes which mature on May 1, 1907, and which $25,000,000 of Bonds—upon the retirement of the notes—will be released and will become a free asset of the Company. There are also outstanding $25,000,000 5 per cent notes, due January 1, 1910, and $10,000,000 4 per cent Debentures of the American Bell Telephone Company which mature on July 1, 1908. There are no mortgages of any kind upon and no pledges of the property of the Company, except that certain securities of the associated companies have been deposited to secure the collateral trust bonds, and except one mortgage for $10,000 on one parcel of real estate.

The Company's present authorized capital stock is $250,000,000, which may be increased. Of this amount $131,551,400 is at present outstanding in the hands of the public.

On December 31, 1906, the net surplus and reserves of the Company amounted to approximately $14,000,000.

The number of telephone subscribers' stations operated in the United States by this Company and by the companies to which its telephones are leased has been as follows:

1902	1903	1904	1905	1906 (Dec., Est.)
1,399,941	1,683,087	2,003,213	2,528,715	3,054,000

The number of miles of wire owned by this Company and its associated companies is approximately: Exchange, 6,100,000; toll, 1,400,000; making a total of 7,500,000, of which 3,300,000 miles of exchange wire are in the underground conduits.

10,802	15,743	16,892	17,533	18,194

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company paid dividends each year from April, 1900, to July, 1906, at the rate of seven and one-half per cent, per year, and its predecessor, the American Bell Telephone Company, paid dividends at an equivalent or greater rate each year from 1884 to 1900. Since July, 1906, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company has paid dividends at the rate of eight per cent, per annum.

The gross revenue of this Company and its associated telephone companies for the year 1906, excluding duplications, was approximately $117,000,000.

Gross Earnings of this Company (including dividends from associated companies) were	$24,428,434.71
Operating Expenses, Interest and Taxes	$11,644,968.98
Leaving balance of	$12,783,465.73

Out of which dividends amounting to $10,195,233.50 have been paid.

The book-keeping and accounting are on conservative lines, and in my opinion the position and the prospects of the Company have improved from year to year and will continue to do so.

For further details regarding the above Bonds, reference is made to the Trust Indenture under which they are issued, and to the letter from F. P. Fish, Esq., President of the Company, copies of which may be obtained at the offices of the undersigned.

Preference on allotment under subscription will be accorded to shareholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to the extent of 1-5, or 20 per cent of the par value of their holdings of stock in the Company.

A simultaneous public issue of the above Bonds is being made by Messrs. Baring Brothers & Co., Ltd., and Messrs. J. S. Morgan & Co., in London, and by Messrs. Hope & Co., in Amsterdam.

Further soundness was developed in the wheat market yesterday, although opposition to the upward movement was sufficient to shade the day's best gains in the long run. Trading as a whole was broad and active, commission houses executing outside orders freely and professionals operating more generally. The dispensation of news was largely favorable to the price supporters, a good part of the general tonic being provided via the cable. Liverpool more than met the previous day's moderate advances on this side of the water, developing strength as its session progressed.

Early in the day advances of ⅝@¾c for May and ½@⅝c for the deferred months were shown, but reaction resulted from sharp selling by scattered professionals. The final bell showed net gains of ¼@⅜c for May, ¼c for July, and ¼@⅜c for September. The day's lowest prices were a shade above the previous final quotations.

Sharp Advance at Liverpool.

The opening gong was the signal for snappy general buying, the firmness abroad and the continued light movement in the northwest being foremost among the factors that stirred shorts to covering. Liverpool wound up ⅝@¾d higher, attributing its strength largely to a better demand for cargoes, to the soundness here the day before, and to a report that France probably soon would import freely of foreign wheat. Duluth and Minneapolis reported only 129 cars received, compared to 222 cars the corresponding day last year. Total primary arrivals were 307,000 bu, or 124,000 bu less than those of a year ago. There were advices from Minneapolis that but little improvement in the movement from the spring wheat states could be expected before spring, because of the heavy snows and the inability of the railroads to get the grain to market. Winter wheat sections generally reported higher temperatures, with rains in some parts. Bulls argued that the plant in water soaked fields at this time would be poorly equipped to withstand a severe drop of the mercury. According to the Price Current, the growing plant thus far has not been impaired by the cold weather.

The decrease of only 50,000 bu in the Minneapolis wheat stocks for five days lent additional color to the reports of a smaller demand for spring wheat flour. The inquiry for good grain at the northwestern sample tables, however, continued strong at the stiff prices. It was wired by one house in the big flour town that the scarcity of cars and the high prices for the milling grain were largely responsible for the letup in the mill activity. Grinders of winter wheat at Kansas City and St. Louis, on the other hand, were reported active, with large orders in hand for shipments to continental Europe. Locally there was not much doing at the sample tables, as compared to pit activity, although there was no desire to press the market with offerings. Bears laid considerable stress on the fact that January wheat was offered at 4½c under the May price, with an actual sale of a fair lot at 4c under the spring month. Nebraska wired that interior mills were bidding higher for wheat to arrive.

Larger Argentine Exports Estimated.

Northwesterners were reported buyers of September wheat here early, indulging in considerable selling of the nearer futures. At times several of the big locals checked the upturn with liberal offerings, pressing hardest on the softest spots. Offerings were well absorbed, however, and suggestions of a firming tendency found the smaller shorts eager to reach cover. Late in the day prices eased off somewhat on selling, prompted by the estimated larger shipments from Argentina for the week—2,000,000 bu, against actual exports of 1,072,000 bu last week, and 2,568,000 bu the corresponding time in 1906. Throughout scattered floor longs displayed disposition to take profits around 79c for the May. There also was considerable selling against upward indemnities in the early operations. The day's clearances, wheat and flour, were light at 149,000 bu. Final prices were 78⅞c for May, 78⅝c for July, and 78½c for September.

Weather Bull Factor in Corn.

Bulls had the better of the argument in the corn market, which was influenced chiefly by a substantial upturn at Liverpool, continued unfavorable advices from Argentina, and mild and wet weather in important parts of the belt. The rains and moderating temperatures were figured upon to prevent much enlargement of the movement from farms and to preclude better conditioning of the grain in the country. Liverpool wound up ⅝@¾d higher, this upturn, with the strength in wheat, creating considerable covering by shorts. Much of the grain taken in by the shorts was said to have come from the supplies of a leading long. Local receipts were 431 cars, of which only one car reached the contract standard, or 10 cars more than expected. Local arrivals for today were estimated at 497 cars. Total primary receipts were 946,000 bu, against 699,000 bu last year. At the sample tables cash corn was a little firmer early, but prices weakened later in the session. Seaboard clearances were 301,000 bu. Shipments from Argentina for the week were estimated at only 80,000 bu, against actual exports of 292,000 bu last year. It was reported that the sales of corn at Baltimore for February shipment thus far had aggregated more than 5,000,000 bu. Bids from the east at the local tables were few. Final prices were 46⅝c for May, ⅛@¼c firmer; 46⅝c for July, 1-16c stronger, and 46¾c for September, 1-16c better. Early in the session May and September touched 47c.

Oats Values Work Higher.

There was a mild scramble to buy oats in the first half hour, and prices were lifted to a new high level on the bulge, touching ⅛c over the previous close. Throughout there was good support from bulls and new investors on all suggestions of weakness, and shorts plainly were more uneasy. Offerings came chiefly from scattered longs who were satisfied with the profits to be had. Notwithstanding the firmer undertone, the east was said to have more buying orders in the market, conditions strengthening the belief of many that the east's holdings of the grain had worked so low that it was forced to buy at prevailing prices. The offerings of May oats were tight, and that month, at 39⅛c, closed at the day's top. Final quotations showed gains of ½c for May and ⅛@⅜c for July and September. Local receipts were 116 cars, of which 21 graded standard, the estimate, the cars expected today being 138. Clearances were light at 2,000 bu.

Provision Prices Are Bulled.

Hog products continued their upward flight, everything on the active list closing materially higher. Lighter hog receipts here and at the leading western packing points and the weekly statistics, with a stronger market at the yards, served as leading stimulants. Throughout the session offerings were slim, with the general demand brisk. Shorts covered freely and there was good support from new investors, as well as from stockyards interests that recently have been leaders on the buying side. Selling was largely of a realizing character. Considerable support was given to lard on the expectation that the monthly showing on stocks will be bullish. Receipts of hogs west for the day were 77,500 head, against 83,000 head the similar day last year, those for the week showing 30,000 head lighter than last year's. Final prices showed gains of 17½c for pork, 10@12½c for lard, and 10c for the active rib futures. Estimated local hog receipts for today were 26,000 head.

Rye Dull and Firm.

Rye ruled dull and firm. Receipts were 1 car. No. 2 free on board sold 69@70c; No. 3, 59@65c. January was nominally 63c. May sold at 66½c.

A firm market for barley was reported, with small offerings. Current prices are the highest of the crop. Feed was quoted 45@48c; malting, 48@58c; screenings, 37@45c. Receipts were 50 cars.

Flaxseed prices gained ½c, but the market was devoid of interest. No. 1 northwestern was quoted $1.24; No. 1, $1.17. Receipts were 11 cars at Minneapolis and 9 cars at Duluth.

Timothy seed was firm. Contract spot was quoted $4.50 and March sold at $4.60. Country lots ranged $3.25@4.35.

Clover seed was unchanged at $9.00@13.85 for cash seed and $14.10 for March.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Hog prices took another upward jump yesterday. The better grade of swine sold late in the session at $7.00 and an extreme top figure of $7.05 was reached in one instance. Keen interest on the part of the packers toward the close and light receipts helped make the tone of the market strong. Cattle showed some improvement yesterday, the prices being slightly higher than on the day previous. The trade was fairly strong. The sheep market was unchanged in tone. The receipts: Cattle, 6,000; hogs, 26,000; sheep, 12,000.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

January cash wheat sold in the pit yesterday at 4c under May. The wheat was in a special location and part No. 2 hard or the sale would not have been made at this price. January was offered at the time the sale was made at 4¼c under May. The price paid was equivalent to 4c under May in store for No. 2 red and 6c under for No. 2 hard. This is the largest discount under May at which cash wheat has sold in a number of years, and cash men argue that this shows the fundamental weakness of the market, as usually cash wheat is either at a premium at this time of year or else at a moderate discount. No. 3 hard sold at 69c. Trade in car lots was limited, with prices about steady for the small offerings. The reverse of the local poor demand was reported at Minneapolis, where the small receipts and urgent needs of the milling interests have caused a strong cash market, No. 1 northern selling yesterday at 3c over May price. A year ago Minneapolis stocks were about double what they are now. Advices from different points in the northwest were that there will be no free movement of wheat until next summer. Receivers and millers in Kansas City and St. Louis, as well as in Minneapolis, claim that the smaller country mills are absorbing an unusually large proportion of the available wheat and paying larger prices than the larger mills at terminal centers. Southwestern markets yesterday were steady and bidding stiff premiums for wheat to arrive. New York wired that there was a poor response to the offers of cash wheat made abroad the previous night, but said that Russia was buying rye there. Cash corn was unchanged to ¼c off, with less demand from the east. Oats were strong and sold at the best prices of the crop—¼@½c higher than the previous close. Local sales were 50,000 bu wheat, 50,000 bu corn, and 150,000 bu oats. The seaboard reported 40,000 bu wheat and 144,000 bu corn.

The car situation, instead of showing any improvement, is growing more acute, according to cash men, and complaints were general regarding the dearth of rolling stock on the railroads entering and leaving this city. One prominent cash dealer yesterday declared that if he could get out even on the stuff he now has on hand he would withdraw from business for the rest of the year, as he could see no chance of doing business. A local receiver with a large line of country elevators through Illinois said that practically every one of them was filled with corn, and that he could not get cars to move it out. Neither the country dealers nor the local shippers dare to contract corn for forward shipment in any large amounts, as the delays in getting cars, with the added storage and insurance charges, eat up all the profits. One dealer estimates that about half the corn usually available for market should have been moved by this time, while the movement has, in fact, just begun.

The announced intention of the Postal Telegraph and Western Union to raise telegraph tolls on board of trade messages was the subject of discussion at a well attended meeting of members yesterday. James J. Pettit was chairman of the meeting, and will appoint a committee to protest to the officials of the telegraph companies, on the grounds that the present state of business on the board of trade does not warrant any increase in rates. The rate for a ten word message to New York, which has been 25 cents, will be raised to 40 cents, and other rates in proportion. Telegraph company officials claim that it is an injustice to their other patrons to allow the board almost exclusive use of important wires during market hours at lower rates, while outside business is forced to wait. It was also hinted that to discriminate in favor of the board might be considered a violation of the interstate commerce law.

Heavy sales of flour were reported at Kansas City and St. Louis for Antwerp, Hamburg, and Rotterdam yesterday. The largest mill at Kansas City is said to be buying wheat daily from the elevator companies to cover these export sales, because it cannot get good wheat on the floor. Mills southwest of Kansas City are buying wheat there daily in fair volume, and the local mills there were compelled to bid 76c to arrive Kansas City yesterday for No. 2 red.

Love was the best early buyer of wheat, buying steadily around 79c. Bartlett-Frazier, Lake, Harris-Winthrop, Brosseau, and Hulburd-Warren-Chandler were also moderate buyers. Rankin, Skillen, Barrell, Ware-Leland, Peavey, Daggett, and Gifford were on the selling side. There was also considerable selling against the ups bought the night before. Updike bought corn early, but was a late seller. Ware-Leland and Schwarz were about the best buyers. Bartlett-Frazier were heavy sellers of July all day, and there was good selling by Greeley and Schifflin. Patten and commission houses bought oats. Roberts, A. S. White, and Buckley were the best sellers. In provisions there was liberal buying by brokers supposed to be acting for the big packers and some buying of pork by investors. Congdon-Steever and Roloson were the leading sellers.

Cash corn men were of the opinion that there was a decided lull in the domestic and export inquiry for corn yesterday. Most of the houses reported that the export demand which has been following the market for several days was at a standstill yesterday and the east was not an active bidder. Two of the big local houses were not buying any corn yesterday. Baltimore was out of the market, but New York and Philadelphia were bidding, although the bids were generally about ½c out of line.

"The growing winter wheat has been unimpaired by the recent cold weather, while the corn condition has been bettered," said the Cincinnati Price Current. "The interior offerings of grain have increased under better road conditions and more acceptable prices. Packing of hogs at the leading western centers for the week was 605,000, compared with 625,000 last week and 635,000 last year. Aggregate packing from Nov. 1 to date 7,070,000, against 8,030,000 last year, indicating a decrease of 960,000 hogs."

"Eastern jobbers have light stocks of oats and claim that in many instances the country dealers have practically no oats," said J. K. Hooper, president of the Hooper Grain company, who has just returned from a two weeks' trip in the east. "It is believed that country dealers are working from hand to mouth, and they are evidently waiting for a soft spot to buy oats, and the moment they decide prices are not high they are likely to make large purchases."

Sales on the call were: Corn—No. 3 yellow, January shipment, 5,000 bu at 42¼c billed through; No. 3, February shipment, 8,000 bu at 42⅞c track Chicago; No. 3 yellow, February shipment, 5,000 bu at 43c track Chicago, 5,000 bu at 42¼c billed through; No. 3, March shipment, 5,000 bu at 42⅜c track Chicago; No. 3 yellow, March shipment, 15,000 bu at 43c billed through.

Total receipts of all kinds of grain at Chicago during January were 17,301 cars, against 15,040 cars in January, 1906, and 12,653 cars in the same month in 1905. Wheat receipts were 1,189 cars, against 595 cars in 1906; corn, 10,485 cars, against 8,363 cars a year ago; and oats, 4,462 cars, compared to 4,868 cars last year.

Several oats traders were haled before the directors at a special meeting yesterday, charged with violating the rule relating to trading on split quotations. The directors merely called the attention of the members to the rule and warned them of the penalties for violation thereof.

Lively times are predicted for Minneapolis May wheat in the next few weeks. Conservative Minneapolis people believe that there will not be 1,000,000 bu contract wheat in their stocks on May 1. Washburn-Crosby, it is said, have been picking up May wheat quietly for the last sixty days.

Closing prices for wheat in foreign markets were: Liverpool, ⅝@¾d higher; Paris, unchanged to 1¾c up; Antwerp, unchanged; Berlin and Budapest, ¼c and ⅛c higher, respectively.

The Consolidated Milling company of Minneapolis shut down one mill recently, and will probably shut down another today, owing to the inability to get milling wheat.

Argentine shipments for the week were estimated at 2,000,000 bu wheat and 80,000 bu corn. A year ago actual shipments were 2,568,000 bu wheat and 292,000 bu corn.

Broomhall cabled that Argentina still had no rain, and that the corn situation was dangerous, locusts threatening further damage.

It is said that one large Chicago house, which a year ago had 9,000,000 bu oats at this time in all positions, now has but 1,000,000 bu.

Deliveries on January contracts yesterday were 5,000 bu corn, 250 brls mess pork, 500 tcs lard, and 650,000 lbs short ribs.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 12 cars; corn, 497 cars; oats, 138 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 29 cars; hogs, 26,000.

January shipments of corn from here were 5,528,000 bu, while the receipts were 11,888,000 bu.

IN THE FINANCIAL WORLD.

SOUTH SIDE ELEVATED SHOWS DECREASE OF NET EARNINGS.

Competition of Surface Lines and Cost of Construction of Branches Are Two of the Causes Assigned—Increase in the Daily Average Traffic—Clearings of Chicago Banks for January Exceed Those of Any Previous Month.

Net earnings of the South Side elevated for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1906, were equal to 5.30 per cent on the stock. This compares with 6.07 per cent the previous year and 5.53 per cent in 1904. The decrease in net earnings was 11.9 per cent or $78,678. The decreases were ascribed to increase in taxes, in wages, and in the price of materials and supplies, increased competition of the surface lines on the short distances, cost of operation during construction, and the cost of operating short portions of new lines. The company expects to have its extensions all completed this year.

The operating ratio for the year was 67.5 per cent, but in August, September, October, and November it was much higher, being 72.8 per cent in September. The increase in daily average traffic was 4.44 per cent. The financial statements follow:

Election of Officers.

At the meeting of the stockholders yesterday afternoon, Marcellus Hopkins was elected a director to succeed George E. Adams. The board organized by the election of Mr. Hopkins as president; E. C. Nichols, vice president; the other officers remaining unchanged. The executive committee was named in the following order: T. J. Lefens, C. H. Wacker, and Marcellus Hopkins.

Clearings Break All Records.

Clearings of Chicago banks for the month of January broke all monthly records, being $1,040,404,771. The highest previous record was for the month of December, when the total was $1,007,457,646. The only other billion dollar month in the record of the clearing house was last October.

Rubber Goods Manufacturing.

Because of the absence from the city of several of the directors of the Rubber Goods Manufacturing company a special meeting of the board which had been called for yesterday in New York to consider definitely the matter of liquidating the company was postponed until tomorrow.

Dividend Declared.

The Milwaukee and Chicago Breweries, limited, has declared a dividend of 3½ per cent, payable Feb. 28. This dividend, together with the one declared last August, makes the rate for the year 6 per cent.

General Financial News.

At a meeting of the Little Miami railroad stockholders an increase of $2,000,000 in the capital stock was voted, making the total authorized $10,000,000.

The Republic Iron and Steel company has recently added three properties to its holdings in the Mesaba district.

American Telephone Bonds.

Subscription lists for $40,000,000 American Telephone and Telegraph company's convertible 4 per cent gold bonds, due March 1, 1936, will be opened on Feb. 5, at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York, and Kidder, Peabody & Co. of Boston. A simultaneous issue of the bonds will be made by Baring Brothers & Co., Ltd., and J. S. Morgan & Co., in London, and Hope & Co., in Amsterdam. The subscription price is 92½ and accrued interest. A payment of $50 on each $1,000 bond is to be made on application, $50 on allotment, and the balance and accrued interest on or before March 28. The subscription lists will close at or before 3 p. m. on the day they are opened. These bonds are part of an issue of $150,000,000, all or part of which are redeemable at the option of the company at 105 and accrued interest on or before March 1, 1914, upon twelve weeks' notice.

CHICAGO LAWN SEWER PLAN TO BE ADOPTED AT MEETING.

Residents of Suburb Prepare to Put in Improvements to Obviate Further Trouble During Wet Weather.

The citizens of Chicago Lawn will hold a massmeeting at the hall, Sixty-third street and St. Louis avenue, on the evening of Feb. 9, to plan for a sewer and other improvements for the suburb. At present residents are suffering inconvenience on account of the lack of a sewer system, but they expect to have the improvement in before the summer of 1907 is over. The call for the meeting was issued by the Chicago Lawn Improvement club.

The suburb is now without a sewer and water drains off the streets too slowly after rainy and wet weather. The recent heavy rainfall was particularly annoying. Now it is proposed to obviate further trouble by putting in the improvement at the earliest possible moment. The residents of Chicago Lawn claim to have the most promising location for homes on the west side because of its altitude. According to the city statistics it is twenty-six feet above the level of the lake, while the city hall is only fourteen.

Preparatory work on the new sewer already has been done and further details will be worked out at the massmeeting.

"Our suburb is all right," said John F. Eberhart yesterday. "With a new sewer we will have no further trouble with high water."

PLAN SOUTH SIDE GARAGE

PROMOTERS INVADE MICHIGAN AVENUE RESIDENCE SECTION.

Unknown Persons Purchase Lot South of Twenty-sixth Street, and Five Story Building to Be Used for Auto Business Will Follow—Bloomington, Ill., Woman Buys South Side Flat for $100,000—Real Estate News of City.

The automobile business is about to invade the residence district in Michigan avenue, south of Twenty-sixth street, Richard T. Crane having sold his large vacant holding in this block to purchasers who plan to erect upon it a five story building for the purpose indicated.

The property is 350 feet south of Twenty-sixth street, 112.9x175 feet, and is adjacent to the residence of Thies J. Lefens at 2620. The name of the purchasers and the consideration are withheld.

Mr. Crane bought the property about ten years ago from Mr. Lefens with the purpose of building a handsome home upon it.

The proposed building will cover the entire lot and will cost about $100,000. Burt J. Fitzgerald and D. B. Hutchinson negotiated the deal.

Buys Flat for $100,000.

A non-resident investor, Mrs. Bertha Ziemens of Bloomington, Ill., appears as the purchaser in a $100,000 south side flat deal filed for record yesterday. Miss Katherine E. Smith is the seller and the property is in South Park avenue, 232 feet south of Sixtieth street. The lot is 114x178 feet, east front, and the building is a four story and basement structure. The property bears an incumbrance of $50,000, which is assumed by the grantee.

What is said to be the largest sale made in the Logan Square district for several years has just been closed by Regelin, Jenson & Co., who have sold the Belden apartments at Belden and Sawyer avenues for Otto A. Becker and Alfred P. Jenson to Jacob M. Horn for $47,500. The lot is 50x140 feet and the building is a modern 3 story and basement structure. The purchaser assumed an incumbrance of $23,000 and gave in part exchange 100x118 feet at Milwaukee avenue and Humboldt street and three other lots.

The same firm has also sold the property at Grand and Ashland avenues for Thomas J. Leonard to Henry A. Noelke for $27,500. The lot is 72x100 feet and is improved with a double four story and basement brick building and two frame buildings, in all three stores and fourteen flats. The purchaser assumes an incumbrance of $16,000.

Church Memorial to Wife.

A a memorial to his late wife, Margaret A. Morris, who died about two years ago, Charles Morris has bought the property at 3560-3564 Cottage Grove avenue and given it to St. Mark's Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Morris was a member, which adjoins the property just bought on the north. It fronts 64 feet with an average depth of 136 feet, and was bought by Mr. Morris from James O'Donnell of Montpelier, Ind., and John Denton of Chicago, for $13,000. The purchase was made by Edgar M. Snow & Co. The church will improve the property with a substantial building to cost about $20,000 to be used in connection with the present church building.

Emily Gross and husband, Samuel E., and Hattie Moore and husband, William J., have conveyed to Frederick C. Smalley the store and flat property at 695-699 West Lake street, 99x124 feet, for $32,500, with incumbrance of $15,000.

Rudolph J. Busch has sold to Clifford G. Wells the flat property in St. Lawrence avenue, 247 feet south of Forty-seventh street, 65x125 feet, east front, for $34,000, with incumbrance of $18,000.

Charles A. Chapin has bought from Auguste Brosseau the vacant property at Goethe and Stone streets, 65x131 feet. The property has been in the market at $35,000.

Elks Lodge Buys Property.

Great Lakes Lodge No. 43, Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, has bought from Merwyn R. Bibb the property in State street, 150 feet south of Thirty-fifth street, 25x147 feet, west front, for $10,000.

January transfer figures show an increase of $1,749,833 in the total consideration, as compared with January of last year. The figures are 2,234 in number and $13,198,606 in amount, as against 2,354 and $11,448,774 for a year ago.

SENDS BOOKS TO SOLDIERS.

Mrs. H. C. Chadbourne Collects Shipment of Literature for Enlisted Men in Philippines.

Mrs. H. C. Chadbourne, 5045 Grand boulevard, is planning to send a number of boxes of books and periodicals to the American soldiers in the Philippines, in Cuba, and Alaska and the marines at Panama and at foreign ports. Mrs. Chadbourne says the soldiers everywhere are clamoring for something interesting to read, and she asks her friends to coöperate with her in collecting magazines and books to send away. Already several thousand pieces of literature have been gathered for distribution, and the boxes will be forwarded to the soldiers next week. Mrs. Chadbourne has sent books to the soldiers annually for several years.

ZION CITY GETS NEW INDUSTRY.

Outside Capital Announces Plan to Erect Pickle Factory and Utilize Cucumber Crop.

A new industry, backed by outside capital, is promised for Zion City. Announcement was made yesterday that a large pickle factory is to be built on one of the unused manufacturing sites of the town.

The project is so far under way that contracts for ground and material probably will be signed today. The industry will be of such magnitude that the citizens of Zion City will be asked to raise peppers, cucumber pickles, beans, and other material for canning.

At present there is available acreage in all parts of the city, and it is believed that about 6,600 acres may be used for growing stuff during the summer.

"GUN" MEN UNDER HEAVY BONDS

Frank Heillman and Frank Karwoski Sent to Jail Under $10,000 Bail by Municipal Judge.

Frank Heillman, 697 Milwaukee avenue, and Frank Karwoski, 102 Augusta street, were held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 by Judge Beitler of the Logan square court yesterday upon their hearing for being implicated in a shooting affray in the saloon of Martin Kowoski, 2 McHenry street. In the shooting Mary Kowoski, daughter of the saloonkeeper, was wounded. In holding the men Judge Beitler told them they were liable to life imprisonment for committing a robbery with a revolver.

Our Sixteenth Annual Silk Sale Establishes a High Record in Value Giving

WE confidently announce this February Sale as the largest and most interesting in the history of the Silk Section. With one-third more floor space our facilities for better service are increased, the character of the merchandise is bettered, and the assortments are of a greater variety, while the low prices quoted and the attractive daylight section in which the goods are displayed combine to make this great Annual Silk Sale a power of almost unlimited force in the distribution of silk fabrics. Every yard of merchandise is based on the old price of silk and the prices quoted are an actual reduction of from 15% to 35% from the regular prices—on many lines they are as low as the manufacturers' present cost and hence we make the suggestion of immediate action in the selection of your spring and summer silk fabrics.
